Family of Five Wiped Out in 2-Car Crash

Holiday Weekend
Accidents Take
21 Lives in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six persons, including five members of one family, died in a two-car crash in Barron County Sunday, bringing Wisconsin's Mother's Day weekend toll to 21.

The deaths raised the state's 1969 count to 283, compared with 359 on this date in record 1968.

The accident that claimed six lives occurred Sunday about five miles west of Chetek in Barron County.

Killed were Donald Bakken, 23, of rural Chetek, and the entire family of James Huset, 28, also of rural Chetek. Killed along with Huset were his wife, June, 24, and two of their three children, Linda, 4, and Debbie, 3. Their other child, Sheila, 2, died at a Rice Lake hospital early today.

Bakken, who ran a milk-hauling business with his father, was alone in his auto at the time of the crash. The Huset family was returning home from a visit with Mrs. Huset's mother in Poskin.

Sheriff Wally Larson, who called the accident the worst in Barron County records, said Bakken was heading west and Huset east and the cars met head-on at the crest of a hill on a town road in the town of Prairie Lake.

Two persons were fatally injured in a two-car crash on Swamp Lake Road in Oneida County about 15 miles northwest of Rhinelander Sunday morning. They were Mrs. Violet Ward, 62, of Merrill and David Duskey, 28, of Wausau. Mrs. Ward's grandson, nine-year-old Allan Ward, was listed in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital at Marshfield.

Kathleen Ann Loomis, 20, of Merrill was injured fatally Sunday night in a collision on the edge of that Jackson County community.

Miss Della Russell, 19, of Racine, was killed Saturday in a two-car collision at the intersection of State 32 and a

'Information' Passed on To Warren

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell acknowledged today that he passed on "certain information" to Chief Justice Earl Warren last week concerning the controversy surrounding Justice Abe Fortas.

Earlier, Newsweek magazine reported that Mitchell had asked Warren to urge that Fortas resign from the court.

In a terse statement in response to inquiries, Mitchell said:

"At my request, the chief justice was kind enough to see me in his chambers last Wednesday, May 7, 1969, at 11:30 a.m.

"As a courtesy to the chief justice, I felt it incumbent upon me to inform him of certain information known by me which might be of aid to him."

No More Comment

After Mitchell issued his statement, a Justice Department spokesman said there would be no further comment.

Newsweek said that Mitchell visited Warren on orders of President Nixon but the White House press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said today:

"The President did not direct the attorney general to discuss this matter with Chief Justice Warren."

Shelling By Reds Stiffens

Heaviest Since Tet

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops raked 150 allied military positions and towns with rockets and mortars during the night and into today in the largest number of attacks in a 24-hour period since the Tet offensive of February 1968.

Several attacks were followed by infantry strikes, with the heaviest fighting centered northwest of Saigon, near the Cambodian border, and south of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city.

First reports, still incomplete, listed more than 300 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers killed in ground fighting. U.S. casualties were put at 17 killed and 136 wounded in the ground fighting alone.

Casualties Light

The U.S. Command did not disclose casualties from the rocket and mortar attacks, but headquarters said over-all casualties and damage to the American side were light.

Far from complete South Vietnamese reports listed 11 government soldiers killed and 73 wounded.

The North Vietnamese 1st Division mounted the heaviest attacks of the night against the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division in War Zone C bordering Cambodia northwest of Saigon.

North Vietnamese troops from the 1st Division slammed more than 500 rounds of rockets and mortars into three U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division bases blocking the northwesterly approaches into Saigon.

Assaults Follow

In each case, they followed up the heavy shelling with infantry assaults, touching off night-long fighting. In these three battles alone, ranging from 50 to 60 miles northwest of Saigon, at least 46 North Vietnamese and 16 Americans were counted dead. Another 99 U.S. cavalrymen were wounded.

Six persons were wounded to night in two more terrorist grenade incidents in Saigon, military authorities reported.

One South Vietnamese soldier, two popular force members and a civilian were the victims of a grenade thrown at a South Vietnamese army jeep on Saigon's northern outskirts.

Two children were wounded in another grenade explosion in the city's 4th precinct, a crowded residential area south of the main downtown area. In that incident, two suspected terrorists were captured, military sources said.

Sudden Increase

The incidents marked a continuing campaign of terrorist bombings that began last Wednesday and apparently are connected with a sudden increase in enemy shelling and other military actions across the country in the last 48 hours.

Despite the upsurge in enemy activity, military spokesmen declined to say if it was the start of the summer offensive which captured documents said the Communist command has ordered.

"We feel he has not kicked off his main summer offensive yet," said one military analyst. He said captured documents in-

Secretary Plans
Talks With Thieu
On Peace Prospects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers, departing on a 17-day trip to Asia, said today he is anxious to talk with South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu both about developments in the war and the Paris peace negotiations.

He told newsmen he hopes to have "constructive meetings at Bangkok of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and the seven nations with troops in South Vietnam."

He also hopes for a constructive session of the Central Treaty Organization meeting in Tehran.

Rogers, accompanied by his wife plus a full staff of advisers and experts, left Andrews Air Force Base at 9:20 a.m. EDT for Honolulu on the first leg of his flight to Saigon.

It is his first undertaking at individual diplomacy since becoming secretary but he accompanied President Nixon last March on the presidential seven-nation European trip.

Extra security precautions will be in effect for Rogers and his party in Saigon.

Nationwide Address Set Wednesday

President Confers With Abrams

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon conferred today with the U.S. military commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton Abrams, and will address the nation Wednesday night on prospects of peace as he sees them.

There was no indication of any major breakthrough in this direction.

Abrams flew in from Vietnam Sunday and is returning this afternoon.

This morning he met with Nixon, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the President's national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said this first meeting between the President and the top U.S. military man in Vietnam was a review of the situation there, with three factors uppermost.

Nixon sought Abrams' views on enemy military activity, including the possibility of new offensive actions.

He wanted information on the state of training of the South Vietnam army.

Three Criteria

On the latter point, Ziegler said he wanted to emphasize that any decision on force levels will be made on the basis of the three criteria he said Nixon has mentioned on numerous occasions:

1. "The ability of the South Vietnamese to defend themselves in the areas we now are defending them."

2. "Progress of the Paris talks."

3. "The level of enemy activity."

Abrams will report on these and other matters again after his return to Saigon.

Officials underscored repeatedly that the purpose of the Abrams-Nixon conference was to review the Vietnamese situation generally and not for a discussion of troop withdrawal in itself.

There has been widespread speculation that troop pullouts will be coming along shortly, and considerable sentiment for them is in evidence among the more dovish members of Congress.

Persons with an insight into the talks at the White House said that reaching a decision on troop withdrawals was not the objective of the Abrams-Nixon meeting.

The Wednesday night address Nixon scheduled, with the time still uncertain, was in the category of more than ordinary importance by White House standards.

"The address," Ziegler said, "will be a major address which can be characterized as a report to the American people on the President's views as to prospects of peace in Vietnam."

While there was no hint whatever from any source that Nixon would be able to announce a major step toward peace, the address nevertheless took on added importance in view of the departure today of Secretary of State William P. Rogers on a world tour.

Nor was there any sign that Nixon would definitely touch on troop withdrawals one way or another.

Dollar Shows Biggest Gains As Pressure on Mark Eases

LONDON (AP) — Speculators began deserting the West German mark for dollars in Europe today but they apparently were hedging on the British pound and French franc.

The so-called hot money that went after marks last week on an expectation that the West German government would revalue upward was flowing into the Eurodollar market. Dealers reported the money was returned to the British, French and other reserves only in dribbles. There had been talk last week of possible devaluation of the pound and franc.

This showed, dealers said, that speculators were moving their money into what they felt to be a safe parking place while awaiting further developments and looking for signs of West Germany's determination to defend its present value of the mark at 25 cents.

The mark was back to its old rate of four to a dollar in Frankfurt and in Zurich, Switzerland. It was at a rate of 3.92 for a dollar—or 25½ cents each—late last week on the free market in Frankfurt.

The British pound strengthened to $2.38 and the French franc went from its rate of 127.50 for 100 marks last week to 124.35.

Interest Rates Drop

But the trend among speculators seemed now to be toward Eurodollars—American dollars held in banks in Europe and elsewhere outside the United States.

Eurodollar interest rates declined nearly a full percentage point from the crisis rate of 10 per cent.

Investors and speculators appeared to be waiting to see the effect of the measures taken by the central bankers to "recycle" speculative money back to its countries of origin. This would enable the central banks to withstand the drain on their resources.

Skeptics noted that interest rates for Eurodollars remained at last week's level of just under 10 per cent for 30 days, showing people were still trying to borrow already scarce dollars. A large proportion of the dollars used to buy marks last week were Eurodollars borrowed in the hope of a quick profit.

Dealers said the West German government's refusal to revalue the mark and the action of the central bankers did nothing to change the basic problem resulting from the undervaluation of the mark, the Japanese yen and to a lesser extent the Italian lira and Dutch guilder.

Eurodollars are dollars on deposit in Europe and other financial centers of the world outside the United States. About 25 billion of them exist, but only on bank ledgers. Most of them are owned by non-Americans. There is no Eurodollar currency or coinage.

The chiefs of the non-Communist world's 11 leading central banks spent most of their monthly meeting in Basel trying to figure out how best to return to circulation an estimated $5 billion which speculators poured into West Germany in anticipation that the mark would be revalued.

In a three-paragraph statement at the end of the meetings early today, the bankers said they have been working on the "recycling" plan for months. Part of it includes short-term loans to such countries as

Three Hundred Residents of Madison's Mifflin Street turned up Saturday night for a party in the yard of Madison Fire Department Capt. Edward Durkin.

A Good Time, Without Violence

MADISON (AP) — Holding a party at his place was a very sensible thing to do, says Fire Capt. Edward Durkin.

About 300 student-residents of the Mifflin Street community showed up to roast hot dogs, dance, play ball, swing on a swing and generally have a good time Saturday night.

A week earlier, a party planned for Mifflin Street erupted into three nights of violence.

"They still wanted a party, just like other people," Durkin said. The city council had denied permission for a party on Mifflin Street.

"I was in a perfect position to talk to them—to cool them down. They knew me, since many of them had helped us (firemen) during our strike for pay raises last month," Durkin said.

"I knew there was the possibility of people getting hurt if they staged another block party. It was just common sense to make the offer."

The Mifflin Street residents hopped on buses provided by Mayor William Dyke for the five-mile ride to Durkin's home.

The four-acre site was ideal for a picnic, but the weatherman didn't cooperate. It rained, and there was occasional hail, forcing the band to move into the barn.

Countdown to Begin For Apollo 10 Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 10 countdown starts at midnight tonight. If all goes well, three astronauts will be launched on a trail-blazing moon orbit next Sunday.

The mission is to take man within 50,000 feet of the moon. That will pave the way for the Apollo 11 team to attempt a lunar landing in July.

Flying Apollo 10 will be an all-veteran crew: Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan. Stafford and Young have made two space trips each and Cernan one.

Movie Director Harvey Enjoys His New Fame

Film Editor for Years, His Work on 'Lion in Winter' Wins Guild Award

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — He is sandy haired and quiet spoken, and you'd never suspect that he could tame such strong spirits as Katharine Hepburn and Peter O'Toole. But he did and now he's reaping the rewards.

Anthony Harvey's telephone rang so often as he tried taking his ease beside the Beverly Hills Hotel pool that he finally told the operator to hold the calls. The gist of the messages, most of them from total strangers: "Tony, baby, I've got a great script for ya..."

Harvey answered each call politely, vowing to read the scripts when they were sent to him.

Has to Get Away
"I've got to take a house at the beach to get away from the telephone and try to do some reading," said the English-born director. "It's the only way I'll be able to make a decision about the next picture."

Harvey's last picture—the second he ever directed—was "The Lion in Winter," and that's the reason he has been inundated by more than a hundred scripts. His accomplishment was signaled by his winning of the Directors Guild award for best picture of 1968. Since the Guild winner has coincided with the Academy Award for best director during the past 15 years, he qualifies as front-runner for the Oscar.

Like Lewis Milestone, Robert Wise and many other noted directors, Harvey was a film editor, the man who puts together the finished movie. Like most of his predecessors, he had difficulty making the transition to director.

Longtime Film Editor
"I was an editor for 15 years and I was always looking for an opportunity to direct," he recalled. "But nobody was willing to take a chance on me." Harvey solved his problem by acquiring rights to LeRoy Jones' play "The Dutchman." Said Harvey: "I was fascinated by the language in it, and also by the fact that it took place in a New York subway, which to me is the most frightening of places."

Against all odds, Harvey filmed "The Dutchman" at an English studio, completing it in six days on a $62,000 budget. The movie was not a hit, but Harvey's work impressed Peter O'Toole.

"The whole deal for 'Lion in Winter' would not have happened if 'Ski Bum' had not been

'Anderson' Has Quiet, Clean Mirth

BY TV SCOUT

7-7:30 — Channel 5 — Anderson and Company is a high-quality pilot production that never quite made it. Anderson is played by Fred Gwynne, the father of a "Life With Father" type household that includes his wife (Abby Dalton) and eight youngsters aged 5 to 15 years. The name of the game here is quiet clean comedy that quickly turns to the maddening type of frenzy that eight fast-moving and thinking kids can produce.

6:30-7 — Channel 5 — I Dream of Jeannie has twice before scheduled this episode which was preempted both times. It has the usual plot-line: what appears to be the imminent discovery of Jeannie's presence in Tony's life. The catalyst here is a hot-shot reporter who has vowed to get an exclusive on some pertinent point in the personal life of an astronaut.

6:30-7:30 — Channel 2 — "Hide-Cutters" are rustlers who ride the rim of a herd, picking up strays to slaughter and strip their hides in minutes. Movie Director Harvey Enjoys His New Fame

Film Editor for Years, His Work on 'Lion in Winter' Wins Guild Award

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — He is sandy haired and quiet spoken, and you'd never suspect that he could tame such strong spirits as Katharine Hepburn and Peter O'Toole. But he did and now he's reaping the rewards.

Anthony Harvey's telephone rang so often as he tried taking his ease beside the Beverly Hills Hotel pool that he finally told the operator to hold the calls. The gist of the messages, most of them from total strangers: "Tony, baby, I've got a great script for ya . . ."

Harvey answered each call politely, vowing to read the scripts when they were sent to him.

Has to Get Away
"I've got to take a house at the beach to get away from the telephone and try to do some reading," said the English-born director. "It's the only way I'll be able to make a decision about the next picture."

Harvey's last picture—the second he ever directed—was "The Lion in Winter," and that's the reason he has been undated by more than a hundred scripts. His accomplishment was signaled by his winning of the Directors Guild award for best picture of 1968. Since the Guild winner has coincided with the Academy Award for best director during the past 15 years, he qualifies as front-runner for the Oscar.

Like Lewis Milestone, Robert Wise and many other noted directors, Harvey was a film editor, the man who puts together the finished movie. Like most of his predecessors, he had difficulty making the transition to director.

Longtime Film Editor
"I was an editor for 15 years and I was always looking for an opportunity to direct," he recalled. "But nobody was willing to take a chance on me." Harvey solved his problem by acquiring rights to LeRo'i Jones' play "The Dutchman." Said Harvey: "I was fascinated by the language in it, and also by the fact that it took place in New York subway, which to me is the most frightening of places."

Against all odds, Harvey filmed "The Dutchman" at an English studio, completing it in six days on a $62,000 budget. The movie was not a hit, but Harvey's work impressed Peter O'Toole.

"The whole deal for 'Lion in Winter' would not have happened if 'Ski Bum' had not been canceled," the director remarked. "O'Toole was supposed to do the picture, then he was free. 'Lion in Winter' was available, and he went to Hollywood to sell Katharine Hepburn on it and me, taking a print of 'The Dutchman' under his arm."

Made in 14 Weeks
Hepburn was sold, but she was committed to begin "Madame de Maitland" at a certain time. "The Lion in Winter" was prepared in an astonishing eight weeks. Harvey rehearsed for two weeks—"that was extremely helpful, especially for the younger actors who were in awe of Kate; she quickly put them at ease."

Harvey completed the costume drama in 14 weeks at a cost of $3 million. He admitted that Hepburn and O'Toole clashed both off camera and on, adding: "But they always made up immediately afterward. Fortunately both have great sense of humor."

What's next for the 38-year-old director?
"I'd like to do a musical, perhaps in Hollywood. Not a big Broadway production, because most of those often end up neither fish nor fowl. The best of the musicals have been originals: 'Meet Me in St. Louis,' 'An American in Paris,' 'Singing in the Rain,' 'Seven Brides for Seven Brothers.'"

"It seems to me an exciting new musical could be made, using contemporary composers like Jim Webb or Burt Bacharach. That's the sort of thing I would like to do, so I won't get typed in historical dramas."

'Anderson' Has Quiet, Clean Mirth

BY TV SCOUT

7-7:30 — Channel 5 — Anderson and Company is a high-quality pilot production that never quite made it. Anderson is played by Fred Gwynne, the father of a "Life With Father" type household that includes his wife (Abby Dalton) and eight youngsters aged 5 to 15 years. The name of the game here is quiet clean comedy that quickly turns to the maddening type of frenzy that eight fast-moving and thinking kids can produce.

6:30-7 — Channel 5 — I Dream of Jeannie has twice before scheduled this episode which was preempted both times. It has the usual plot-line: what appears to be the imminent discovery of Jeannie's presence in Tony's life. The catalyst here is a hot-shot reporter who has vowed to get an exclusive on some pertinent point in the personal life of an astronaut.

6:30-7:30 — Channel 2 — "Hide-Cutters" are rustlers who ride the rim of a herd, picking up strays to slaughter and strip their hides in minutes. In Gun-smoke, a group of four of the raunchy gypsies circle a herd led by 20 drovers. If the two groups meet (and they do), not just bloodshed but some soul-burning tortures are prepared with only Marshal Dillon to prevent them.

9-10 — Channel 2 — No one can every accuse Vince Edwards of being a great actor, but he does well spoofing bad acting on The Carol Burnett Show. They do a takeoff on ancient cinema epics with Edwards as Holden Heartbreak, doing just that to Carol. A feature of the show is Chita Rivera in a sparkling song and dance routine titled "I Can Cook Too." Of the show's skits, the funniest has Carol as a shy botanist being interviewed on TV by Korman. When she sees herself on the monitor, she falls in love . . . with herself. (R)

9-10 — Channel 11 — Cosmo-hopped, will be the answer to Japan's shrinking space. George Ter Masons are being invited to urban problems which doesn't live up to its subject, the narrate.

School Boards Back Appeal of Hair Cut Ruling

Association to File Brief Supporting Decision Reversal

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The Wisconsin Association of School Boards says it will ask for leave to file a brief in support of the State of Wisconsin in its appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to set aside a ruling of the U.S. District Court for western Wisconsin that recently held invalid a school dress code that contained a hair cut rule for male high school students.

The decision of District Judge James Doyle of Madison invalidating the expulsion of two Williams Bay High School students was appealed by State Atty. Gen. Robert Warren on behalf of the State Department of Public Instruction and the local board of education in Williams Bay.

Earlier a state trial court and the Wisconsin Supreme Court had sustained the decision of the school board on the expulsion of two male students who wore long hair that was held to be contrary to the hair cut rule contained in the local board's regulations on dress.

Judge Doyle held, in summary, that rights held by adults cannot be denied to young people. Such rules must "be shown to have some relation to health, physical danger, obscenity or distraction of others in their pursuits, he ruled.

Meanwhile, the school boards association advised local school officials that pending the outcome of the litigation, they should be careful that they can meet the "substantial burden of a justification" test suggested by Judge Doyle. School administrators should observe and carefully document what they believe is the distraction or disruption of the student body, the Association advised.

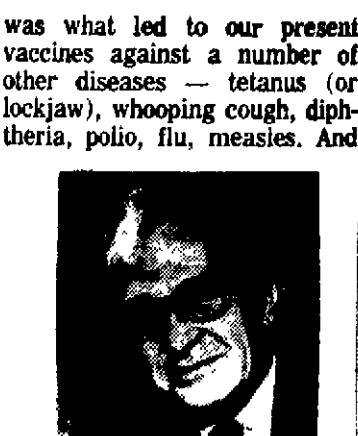

"As a result of the Federal District Court decision, public school boards and administrators are expressing great concern and uncertainty over the statute of school board rules and policies governing student conduct, particularly as to school student dress and attire," the association commented.

To Your Good Health Vaccines Help Keep Healthy Boys Healthy

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I'd like to inquire why a healthy youngster has to be vaccinated in order to attend school. And the first time it didn't take. Is this serious? The doctor got some fresh vaccine, thinking that was the cause, but that didn't take either.

Is there any special reason for this? Can this boy get along without a vaccination? — E.R.M.

Dr. Thosteson

The reason for requiring that a healthy boy be vaccinated is to keep him healthy. I presume that you are talking about smallpox vaccination, but there are vaccines to protect against other diseases.

But it goes a bit farther than keeping just the boy healthy. If he is not vaccinated, and gets the disease, he then becomes dangerous to others around him — folks who may not have been vaccinated, or who were vaccinated so long ago that they don't have enough immunity left to protect them.

That's why we vaccinate. But a boy does not have to have the vaccination "take" in order to go to school. A "take" indicates that his body is developing resistance against the disease in question.

If it does not "take," it means that in some fashion he has already acquired such resistance, perhaps from some prior exposure which was sufficient to make his body develop the antibodies to fight the disease yet not sufficient to make him actively sick.

In the case of smallpox, as you may or may not know, before the vaccination was developed, people used to get protection anyway, by fondling a cow sick with cowpox.

Cowpox is similar to smallpox, in a way. A very similar, but not identical disease. By picking up the cowpox germ from a sick cow, people did not become dangerously sick, as they would from real smallpox. But just the same they would develop immunity to smallpox because the germs of the two diseases are so similar.

That experience with cowpox was what led to our present, generally frequently are not top pills do not contain male hormones. They are, of course, some may have blood pressure problems and generally poor health.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. 9,000 Pennies Won't Pay Fines

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — William Hiestler, 20, was jailed Friday when a court clerk refused to accept his 9,000 pennies for a traffic fine.

Hiestler, a soldier, brought the coins in a bowling bag to pay five tickets ranging from reckless driving to displaying his registration ahead of time. He claimed he was being harassed by a policeman who issued all five tickets.

Traffic Court Judge Salvatore De Meo found him guilty on one charge of reckless driving.

Hiestler, stationed at Frankford Arsenal, was held by court officials for arrival of military police.

Sets Passenger,
Freight Records

Passenger and air freight marks were set by Air Wisconsin for the month of April, according to Preston Wilbourne, vice president and general manager.

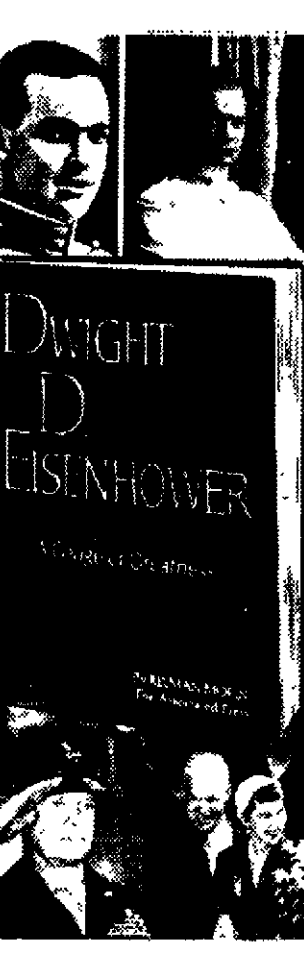

Passenger boardings on the system totaled 6,543, an increase of 45 per cent over the same month last year. Air freight totaled 58,524 pounds, an increase of 68 per cent.

Wilbourne said that with the addition of the fifth prop jet aircraft to Air Wisconsin's fleet, passenger boardings and air freight shipments should increase substantially during the next few months.

What Judgment Will History Pass on General Eisenhower?

Here is what Reiman Morin, two-time Pulitzer prize winner, says in the first full length, complete biography of the man:

"Eisenhower goes into history as one of the most popular of Presidents, in whom Americans recognized an earnest, kindly, sincere man of unquestionable integrity.

"As a politician he was almost unique in that he was wholly without the 'jugal instinct,' the urge to destroy an enemy; he was more prone to turn the other cheek.

"He also was one of the most selfless Presidents, less concerned with his popularity and the expedient actions that might enhance it than what he considered the well being of the United States and her allies.

"When Eisenhower came to office, bitterness and rancor divided the nation; when he left, an era of good feeling had replaced the sense of divisiveness. The credits far outweighed the debits in his presidency."

Morin's judgment is based on long professional and personal acquaintance with the general, and on a year's study and research; which included long conversations with him and with many of his associates and, best of all, access to his private letter files.

The result is a big book (8 1/2 by 11 inches, 264 pages, more than 85 pictures in black and white and color, and a 140,000 word text.)

Wearin' of the Irish Lace 1969

From romantic Ireland come these hand crocheted fashions by Mary O'Donnell to lend a touch of magic to those special occasions. Above, dainty roses adorn a coat dress featuring a scalloped Peter Pan collar and tiny crochet buttons. At right, intricate hand crocheted circles are the center of attention on this demure evening dress of Irish lace.

Granny would never believe it, for in her day Irish lace was used for the most part in the "little collar," the "table center" or that most cherished of possessions — the "modesty vest!" Today it's very different. "Irish lace is way up on the popularity list among buyers of Irish fashions," says Anne Tolan, fashion expert for Irish International Airlines. And Anne would know since she spends most of the year travelling throughout America and Canada presenting shows of Irish clothes.

"Irish lace," she says, "has won a complete new lease on life thanks to the work of a small group of Irish designers who insist on using hand-craft materials in their designs." Anne points out that whereas in the past Irish lace was used almost exclusively as an accessory, today it rivals tweeds, linens and other staples of Irish fabrics for both day and evening wear and even swimwear.

Lacemaking was well established in Ireland as far back as 1685, when it was introduced by the French Huguenots who took refuge in the country.

It has continued ever since as a cottage industry, flourishing and diminishing with the whims of fashion. Of the three types of Irish lace, Limerick, Youghal and Carrickmacross, the latter is certainly the prettiest and the most feminine.

Its history is the history of the women of Ireland. When the brawny hands of the men could earn no money the nimble fingers of the women wielding the needle kept starvation from the door and the fabulous lace found a ready market with the elegant ladies of the French Court.

Much credit for the recent revival of lacemaking is due to an order of nuns — the Sisters of St. Louis — at their convent in the small town of Carrickmacross. The delicate crochet work is also carried out by women in rural cottages who hand on the traditions of the delicate and intricate crochet work from mother to daughter.

Who should the visitor in search of Irish lace go to in Ireland? "While most Irish designers feature it in their shows," says Anne Tolan, "two in particular specialize in it. They are Clodagh and Mary O'Donnell."

Irish lace takes to summer in a pair of chalk white shorts topped by a tiny camisole by Clodagh. At left, a hand crocheted shirt blouse of tiny roses finds its mate in a kelly green evening skirt of Irish handwoven poplin by Mary O'Donnell.

The Practical Gardener Stumps and Rocks Can Be Removed Easily

Not everyone has rocks to get out of the way or to move for a stump or concrete. But, don't strain yourself. If it doesn't roll easily, as up a grade, don't try to push it directly. Instead, pry the cradle along on the rollers. When you come to the end of your planks just add another set, any length, and once clear, continuously move the rear set forward until you get where you want.

For Heavy Objects

If the object is especially heavy, sometimes you can pull it with your car in low gear. Another way is to use the tackle block, which is a grandiose pulley arrangement to multiply your pulling power. (Many increase your pulling power up to nine times.) In many places you can now buy miniature ones. Next, make a rectangular cradle or platform of heavy lumber — 2 by 4's are usually big enough — and place it on the incline and right next to the problem, for you will want to pry it onto this cradle with shovels and spades or crowbars later.

Your next step is to get heavy planks (1-inch boards will often do, if necessary, but they break or split easier) and put them right up to the heavy object to serve as smooth tracks.

Now make or get from a plumber rollers of 1 or 2 inch pipe, place them between the cradle and the tracks and you are in business.

Next you pry the heavy object onto the cradle, balancing it as evenly as you can. Now moving it is relatively easy.

For Longer Use

Wooden-handled knives will last a lot longer if you don't soak them. The wooden handles are usually attached to the metal part of the knives by any one of a variety of adhesives—most of which don't "take" to soaking.

Unusual Discard Annoying

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"They shouldn't let Smart Alecks play bridge," The Old Kibitzer announced as he approached the bar. "I've just discarded dummy's ace of diamonds. That's when I walked away," The Old Kibitzer told us. "I've put in too many years of kibitzing to stand for ridiculous plays like that."

Only Play

The discard of the ace of diamonds was spectacular enough for anybody's taste, but ace of hearts. East signaled with the six and three of diamonds on the second and third hearts. South, the Smart Aleck, ruffed with the ten of spades and led the king and queen of spades at a brisk pace. East discarded the deuce of diamonds on the second trump, and South's pace slackened.

After some thought South led the jack of spades and drew the last trump with the ace of spades. On this the Smart Aleck cash the top clubs and wind up in dummy with the ten of hearts and the ace-ten of diamonds. He would then get only one of the last three tricks, and this would cost him his contract.

Daily Question

As dealer, you hold: S-A K Q J 10; H-7 3; D-Q 5; C-J 8 5

3. What do you say? Answer: Bid one spade. You would prefer to have a side king rather than the queen of diamonds and the jack of clubs, but the hand is still worth an opening bid as it stands.

DEAR LOIS: I love to knit, and I'm always looking for tips that may be helpful to me. Here is one that may help some other knitter.
 When working a pattern that is the same on both sides, in order to tell the right side from the wrong, I use different colored needles of the same size. This method was helpful in teaching a young girl who was learning to knit. She had difficulty in telling the difference in a purl and knit stitch. When she used the different colored needles, her problem was solved. — Mary V.
 Dear Mary: Your idea was mentioned in "101 Knitting Tips & Catalog of Originals." By repeating it, I hope that many more knitters will profit by it.
 DEAR LOIS: I use the small plastic fasteners that come on the end of a loaf of bread for markers. I just cut them a little smaller and they work fine.—Mrs. John D.
 Dear Mrs. D.: You have far more patience than I have. Manufactured markers can be bought for such a small amount that I use those. However, I'm sure that many people will be interested in this idea. Thank you.

of forces into position for an assault on Saigon, or a prelude to the summer campaign.

Spokesmen said prisoners and captured documents indicate that the enemy units in the 3rd Corps area have received numerous replacements in recent weeks for the heavy losses suffered in the spring offensive they launched Feb. 23.

U.S. headquarters said 70 of the overnight rocket and mortar attacks resulted in casualties and damage, while 89 were considered "insignificant" and caused neither casualties nor damage.

said 116 enemy troops were killed in two attacks on government ranger outposts 19 miles southwest of Da Nang while government casualties were light.

U.S. headquarters said rocket and mortar attacks hit five American air bases, the headquarters of the U.S. Army at Long Binh, 15 miles northeast of Saigon, the headquarters of the U.S. 1st, 25th and 9th Infantry Divisions and the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division, all in the 3rd Corps area; three combat bases in the northernmost 1st Corps area, and several American brigade headquarters.

"Fifty-seven of the attacked locations in this category reported 10 or less rounds of indirect fire," a communiqué said. Many of the locations reported only one or two rounds of indirect fire."

Influence Talks

A spokesman for the South Vietnamese government said the objectives of the fresh wave of attacks were to show that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are capable of doing what they want in South Vietnam and to influence the peace talks in Paris and public opinion in the United States.

He said they also could be related to the arrival Wednesday of U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The targets included Saigon, seven provincial capitals and 21 district towns. The spokesman said six civilians were killed and 18 wounded in a Viet Cong attack on a refugee hamlet 35 miles south of Da Nang. But he

France and Britain of the money they lost to Germany.

The central banks gave no details of what the West Germans plan to do to discourage more money coming into Germany because the mark is still the world's most attractive currency. Many bankers and traders still think the Bonn government will revalue, but they believe the action will be delayed until after the West German election Sept. 28.

Karl Blessing, president of the West German Federal Bank, said he wants to get rid of the "hot money" as soon as possible. Blessing was personally embarrassed because he had recommended revaluation, but Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger overruled him.

Economic observers in Bonn said the government could take three moves to hamper speculation: imposing a "negative interest" levy on foreign holdings in German banks, introducing foreign currency controls, and doubling the 4 per cent extra restrictive levy imposed on exports and the 4 per cent concession sliced off import taxes during last November's monetary crisis.

Corvaire Line Of Chevrolet To Be Dropped

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors' Chevrolet Division announced today it is eliminating Corvaire from its line of autos, beginning Wednesday.

In a terse announcement, GM said the Corvaire production facilities will be devoted to additional Nova production for the current market and to prepare for future manufacture of components for Chevrolet's new small car, which is scheduled for introduction in 1970.

The Corvaire came under fire after automotive industry critic Ralph Nader charged the 1961-1963 models were unsafe. The company denied the charges and launched an "I Love My Corvaire" campaign but the car's sales fell off appreciably and never recovered.

Taft-Hartley's Co-sponsor Dies

LINWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Fred A. Hartley Jr., a former New Jersey Republican representative who co-sponsored the Taft-Hartley labor act, died Sunday. He was 66.

The act was enacted in 1947 over the veto of President Harry S. Truman. The late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was the Senate sponsor.

The act outlawed the closed shop, under which an employer can hire only union members, but permitted unions and management, unless forbidden by state law, to negotiate union shop agreements requiring employees to join a union to hold their jobs.

Hartley represented the New Jersey congressional district of St. Bonaventure University, Newark and Hudson counties, from 1929 until his retirement in 1948.

Sought Profits

The crisis began two weeks ago with the resignation of French President Charles de Gaulle. Speculators figured the West German mark would be revalued from 25 cents to 27 cents or more and bought the currency, hoping to make a good profit.

As money poured into the country and trading became hectic on the world's money markets, the West German Cabinet met Friday to consider revaluing the currency but decided against it.

The decision followed party lines with Kiesinger's 10 Christian Democrats voting against and Willy Brandt's eight Social Democrats voting for revaluation. Social Democrat Economics Minister Karl Schiller had recommended a 6.5 per cent upward shift in the mark's parity.

The Social Democrats launched an attack on Kiesinger for the decision. In a radio broadcast Sunday, the party's

Students at Ohio College Protesting Expulsion of Youth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nearly 100 students at Marietta College in Ohio began the third day of a hunger strike to protest the expulsion of the student body president. City College of New York holds its first day of classes under a new president, while protests continue at several other campuses.

In Marietta, 94 of the school's 1,800 students started a hunger strike Saturday after the school's president, Dr. Frank E. Duddy, expelled Earl Maiman, newly elected head of the student body on Thursday. Duddy said Maiman had used "inflammatory language" and there was no place for him on campus.

A student boycott Friday was called off after a court scheduled a hearing next Monday on why Maiman should not be reinstated.

Five Demands

The protesters want the school closed until five demands of the minority group students are met. They include a separate school of black and Hispanic studies and matching the school's enrollment of 20,000 to the ethnic makeup of the city's high schools, which are 40 per cent Negro and Puerto Rican.

Dr. Buell G. Gallagher resigned Friday as president, charging "politically motivated outside forces" made normal education impossible. He had been president 17 years.

The campus on the edge of Harlem was the scene of 11 suspicious fires and clashes between students of different political persuasion after the Board of Higher Education ordered the school opened last week under pressure from court orders.

Black and Puerto Rican faculty members announced they would join a strike by student protesters until the demands were met. They said they were supported by 200 white instructors.

At other campuses: Olean, N.Y.—The Very Rev. Reginald Reddon, president of St. Bonaventure University, banned Students for a Democratic Society from the campus. He termed the radical group

Near-Sightedness of School System Assailed by Educator

Student Must be Helped to Find His Own Identity, Teachers Told

BY MAIJA PENIKIS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — The American system of education has become a "trading" stamp system and until values change, many young people will end up on the short end of the educational scale, vocational and technical educators were told here last week.

Speaking on "Our Myopic Education System" at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Association for Vocational and Adult Education (WVAE) was Dr. William Griffith, chairman of the Adult Education Committee, Department of Education, University of Chicago.

"We require of our youth so many hours in the classroom for his first piece of paper and so many more for his second degree and then we give him a diploma when he fills up his trading stamp book," the speaker said.

Find Identity

"We are terribly confused about what the youth needs to help him find identity in today's world. We are so worried about the content of our courses and the curriculum we don't see the individual needs," Dr. Griffith added.

Illustrating his point, the educator cited the fact that in Wisconsin, 33,000 are enrolled in vocational schools compared to 100,000 in colleges.

"Yet, the actual job needs are exactly the opposite," he added.

Listing some statistics, Dr. Griffith said that a student spends 12,000 hours in a classroom situation from kindergarten through grade 12. "Yet, these hours don't predict such characteristics as good citizenship, work habits and compassion and are not correlated with any of the other human virtues," he added.

"Isn't it time we asked ourselves what kind of people we want?" he asked.

Overestimate Hours

"We overestimate educational hours and tend to gloss over facts that people like Henry Ford and Aristotle Onassis were both dropouts," he added.

And because of this, "we have produced a society that is able to read but not to distinguish what is worth reading," Dr. Griffith stated.

America, he said, has reached a point where an employer can't judge the competence of a person—and must look at a piece of paper—a diploma—to determine his value as a prospective employee.

"What do you suppose can be read into that piece of paper? Well, for a quarter of the students it is nothing more than an attendance certificate, so maybe the employer feels that at least the employee will show up."

"Teachers, parents and society would like to believe the any job," Dr. Griffith concluded.

Yet, it is unfortunate that so many of these young people individual basis and have not been given the opportunity to choose what they are really good at, the speaker indicated.

"We should make it possible for people who drop out from school into something better, he said, suggesting that it often is the sterile school atmosphere which bores the students.

On-the-Job Training

Perhaps there should be a system where the youths go to school on a part-time basis and receive on-the-job training the rest of the day, he said.

"We could have a much better placement of the students for content and sequence of courses, because then you would know what you are training them for," the educator stressed.

"In our zeal to give more abundant schooling, we may be depriving some people of the satisfaction of doing something well — of accomplishing something that would give them self respect," he said.

"I can think of nothing worse for a student than having to go through years and years of receiving a liberal education on a 'D' record when he could be accomplishing so much perhaps in vocational courses," the speaker repeatedly stressed.

Equivalency Exams

Dr. Griffith also suggested equivalency exams may be the answer — that it may be a waste of time to make a student sit in a classroom if he already knows the subject.

"Why should it take four years to get a bachelor's degree? Life is too short to be bored on a classroom seat. If medicine lengthens a person's life by one year, we think that is great but in education we feel we may deprive someone of one year by boring him."

"And so, each department, keeps on adding to the curriculum and the poor student just keeps cramming it in, hoping some day it will all make some sense," he said.

Education Values

Touching also on the vocational education, Dr. Griffith told the technical educators in his audience that it is time to say more clearly and loudly that work itself has educational values and properties which young people need "and to deprive them is to stunt their growth."

"Our values are all mixed up. We don't have enough people proud of running terminal (short term) programs. We in America aren't satisfied in having 'different' forms of education. We have either the 'good' or 'bad'."

And it's time that everyone learn that formal education is only the beginning of real education and that success in school is only a valuable prediction that the student will want further schooling, he concluded.

State's Fiscal Woes Topic of Taxpayer Talk

Members of the Appleton Taxpayers Association will hear a businessman's view of the state's current fiscal difficulties at their annual meeting tonight.

New directors and officers also will be elected at the 6:30 p.m. dinner session at the Columbus Club.

Mayor Budget Is Endorsed By Taxpayers

Specific Suggestions Made for Improving Executive Procedure

The Appleton Taxpayers Association today endorsed the executive budget procedure for the city in a letter to Mayor George Buckley and city council.

It had been one of the critics of the 1968 executive budget—the first prepared under the new system.

"Upon evaluation of the first year's experience we have some important suggestions for making the process more effective in developing a sound budget," wrote John C. Nelson, association president.

Specific Timetable

Among several suggestions was one calling for a specific timetable being drawn up in advance of any steps being taken in preparing budget requests.

Making public all information in advance of hearings was also advocated.

And although it is not considered a part of the 1969 budgeting procedure, Nelson said the association is urging the city to adopt a long-range capital improvements program as soon as possible, and to update it annually at budget time.

A suggested timetable for starting budget preparations was enclosed with Nelson's letter, calling for the issuance of forms and guidelines to departments on July 7 and final adoption of the budget and tax rate on Nov. 26.

Review Periods

Periods are set aside for review of requests by the finance director, meetings by the mayor with department heads, preparation of an executive budget by the mayor, a week-long review of same by the council's finance committee, a recommended budget from the committee, and public hearings coming year.

Water Management to be Discussed by Technicians

A conference of technicians on water management has been scheduled May 28 by the newly-formed Fox - Wolf Watershed Council.

The meeting will be an all-day session of speeches, workshops and discussions by state, regional and area experts on water resource problems. It will be geared to persons involved in water-related work and by invitation only.

The council, still in its formative stages, was organized in March to promote cooperation between its three members—the Brown County Planning Commission, Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission and the Fox Valley Council of Governments.

A second conference is anticipated for next fall and will be aimed at educating the public on the water management problems of the two watersheds.

The council was formed to promote cooperation between planning groups and increase public awareness of water management needs.

Elderly Pals Drink Too Much; Go to Jail Together

Two elderly men who came to Appleton together, drank together and were arrested together, went to jail together for eight days this morning.

Louis Burrows, 62, Racine, and Eugene Ackley, 64, Lake Geneva, pleaded guilty of public intoxication when they appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Appleton police took the men into custody after they found them lying in the bushes at W. College Avenue and N. Linwood Avenue Friday afternoon.

Burrows had a large bandage over his right eye. He told the court two men struck him as he got off a train in Racine during recent riots in that city.

The men, both unemployed, said they came to Appleton from Racine Friday morning to look for work. Both said they were nearly broke and had no place to stay.

Each man said he had a fifth of wine to drink. Ackley told the court "it doesn't take much" for him to get drunk.

The men said they had been arrested several times in past years.

Judge Nick F. Schaefer warned them, "drinking as much as you two do, you'll just end up in a coffin."

Cubs Riddle Giants Braves Tip Phils In Ninth, 4 to 3

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Faced with a moment of truth for the second time in 24 hours, Bob Skinner did some quick figuring and decided to take the Baby Bull by the horns again.

DeYoung was just the opposite of Schultz as John started with a mediocre 165 line. Then he got hot and smacked games of 225, 233 and 203.

The Chicago Cubs mauled San Francisco 8-0 for a three-game East Division lead over the idle Pirates; San Diego stunned St. Louis 4-2 and Houston divided a doubleheader with the New York Mets, winning 4-1 before losing 11-7. Cincinnati and Montreal also were rained out.

Recheck After Race Finds Jones Winner

By BLOYS BRITT
CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) — Parnelli Jones, a 15-year veteran of the track wars, won what he termed the toughest auto race of his career Sunday in an event that started with tragedy and ended in controversy.

Jones, 35, of Torrance, Calif., was declared the winner of the four-hour, Wolverine Trans-American Sedan Race four hours after Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., had been ushered to victory lane and given the plaudits of a crowd of 21,648 at Michigan International Speedway.

Jones was driving a team Mustang, one of a pair prepared for racing by famed stock car builder Bud Moore of Spartansburg, S.C.

Sought Recheck
After the finish, Homer Perry, a Ford Motor Co. official and manager of the Mustang team, asked Sports Car Club of America officials for a recheck of the timing charts.

Perry said his own charts showed Jones the winner. It was learned that at least two other private charts had the Mustang out front.

After four hours of poring over the charts, lap by lap, SCCA officials determined that Parnelli had not been credited with at least three circuits of the 3.31-mile course.

The oversight apparently occurred at about the three-hour mark.

12 Injured
During the early stages of the race, which got under way after a rain, hail and snow storm, one of the powerful small sedans spun off the course and crashed into a group of spectators gathered near the 11th turn.

A Lansing, Mich., man, Durward Fletcher, 43, was killed and 12 persons were injured, including Fletcher's wife, Lorna, 48.

Jones was paid $5,000 for his victory. Donohue, 31, who won 10 of the 13 Trans-Am races last season, received $3,500.

Jones' average speed was 85.49 miles per hour.

Third was Jerry Titus of Encino, Calif., in a Pontiac Firebird. Bob Tallius of Falls Church, Va., in a Javelin, an Dick Lang of Xenia, Ohio, in a Camaro, rounded out the top five.

The results:

Chicagoan Hurt At Dragway

UNION GROVE (AP) — A modified drag racer swerved off the drag strip at the Great Lakes Dragway near here Sunday during time trials and rolled over several times injuring the driver, Leo Kubowitsch, 29, of Chicago.

A dragway spokesman said the car left the strip twice and when the driver tried to bring it back onto the strip the second time the vehicle rolled over at least five times.

Kubowitsch was listed in fair condition at St. Catherine's Hospital in Kenosha with a possible concussion, a fractured hand and multiple abrasions.

Larry Dierker fired a five-hitter and Jim Wynn clubbed a two-run homer in the Astros' first-game victory at New York. But Houston's pitching and defense fell apart in the nightcap, contributing 12 walks and three errors, while Tommie Agee's second and third homers of the day paced a 12-hit Met attack.

Holtzman Fans 10 but Insists He Isn't a 'Strikeout Pitcher'

CHICAGO (AP) — Ken Holtzman of the Chicago Cubs doesn't consider himself a strikeout pitcher but don't believe it. When Holtzman is on and needs a strikeout, he gets it.

"Really, I'm not a strikeout pitcher," said Holtzman Sunday after blanking the San Francisco Giants 8-0 and reaching a career high of 10 strikeouts in the game.

"But I was getting my curve ball over and low and that's why I got so many strikeouts and doubleplays," said Holtzman as the Cubs opened up a three-game lead over rained out Pittsburgh in the Eastern Division of the National League.

Three times Holtzman got out of would-be jams with double plays and he ended four of the last five innings with strikeouts.

Provide Power

Billy Williams, Randy Hundley and Ron Santo provided the power. Williams cracked his second homer of the season with a man on in the first inning. Hundley homered to open the second and Hundley and Santo each singled home two runs in the eighth inning when the Cubs put the game beyond reach with a four-run uprising triggered by Holtzman's leadoff single.

The Cubs host the San Diego Padres the next three days with Ferguson Jenkins (4-2) facing former teammate Gary Ross (1-1).

Four Straight

The Chicago White Sox made it four straight with a 7-5 decision over the Cleveland Indians as Sandy Alomar cracked a three-run double in the eighth to break a 4-4 tie.

The White Sox are idle today and then open a three-game series in Detroit before returning home Friday night to take on sluggish his eighth homer with the Washington Senators.

Family of Five Wiped Out in 2-Car Crash

Holiday Weekend
Accidents Take
21 Lives in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six persons, including five members of one family, died in a two-car crash in Barron County Sunday, bringing Wisconsin's Mother's Day weekend toll to 21.

The deaths raised the state's 1969 count to 233, compared with 359 on this date in record 1968. The accident that claimed six lives occurred Sunday about five miles west of Chetek in Barron County.

Killed were Donald Bakken, 23, of rural Chetek, and the entire family of James Huset, 28, also of rural Chetek. Killed along with Huset were his wife, June, 24, and two of their three children, Linda, 4, and Debbie, 3. Their other child, Sheila, 2, died at a Rice Lake hospital early today.

Bakken, who ran a milk-hauling business with his father, was alone in his auto at the time of the crash. The Huset family was returning home from a visit with Mrs. Huset's mother in Poskin.

Sheriff Wally Larson, who called the accident the worst in Barron County records, said Bakken was heading west and Huset east and the cars met head-on at the crest of a hill on a town road in the town of Prairie Lake.

Two persons were fatally injured in a two-car crash on Swamp Lake Road in Oneida County about 15 miles northwest of Rhinelander Sunday morning. They were Mrs. Violet Ward, 62, of Merrill and David Duskey, 28, of Wausau. Mrs. Ward's grandson, nine-year-old Allan Ward, was listed in critical condition at St. Joseph's Hospital at Marshfield.

Kathleen Ann Loomis, 20, of Merrill was injured fatally Sunday night in a collision on the edge of that Jackson County community.

Miss Della Russell, 19, of Racine, was killed Saturday in a two-car collision at the intersection of State 32 and a

Warren's Help Sought

NEW YORK (AP) — Atty. Gen. John Mitchell reportedly has met with Chief Justice Earl Warren and asked him to urge Supreme Court Justice Abe Fortas to resign.

Newsweek magazine said Sunday that Mitchell, acting on orders from President Nixon, told Warren that the Justice Department has "far more serious" information than has been revealed so far and that "the facts were bound to come out eventually."

The magazine said Mitchell hoped Warren would go to Fortas with these facts and suggest he resign.

Fortas, whose nomination last year by President Lyndon B. Johnson to be chief justice was withdrawn under heavy congressional pressure, has come under new fire since the disclosure that he accepted, but later returned, a $20,000 fee from a charitable foundation set up by the family of Louis Wolfson, a financier now in jail after being convicted of violating securities laws.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, said Sunday he has prepared articles of impeachment against Fortas and will present them in the House unless the justice resigns in a "reasonable time." He did not say what he views as a reasonable time.

Gross said his resolution ac-

Heaviest Since Tet

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy troops raked 159 allied military positions and towns with rockets and mortars during the night and into today in the largest number of attacks in a 24-hour period since the Tet offensive of February 1968.

Several attacks were followed by infantry strikes, with the heaviest fighting centered northwest of Saigon, near the Cambodian border, and south of Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city.

First reports, still incomplete, listed more than 300 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers killed in ground fighting. U.S. casualties were put at 17 killed and 136 wounded in the ground fighting alone.

Casualties Light
The U.S. Command did not disclose casualties from the rocket and mortar attacks, but headquarters said over-all casualties and damage to the American side were light.

Far from complete South Vietnamese reports listed 11 government soldiers killed and 73 wounded.

The North Vietnamese 1st Division mounted the heaviest attacks of the night against the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division in War Zone C bordering Cambodia northwest of Saigon.

North Vietnamese troops from the 1st Division slammed more than 500 rounds of rockets and mortars into three U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division bases blocking the northwesterly approaches into Saigon.

Assaults Follow
In each case, they followed up the heavy shelling with infantry assaults, touching off night-long fighting. In these three battles alone, ranging from 50 to 60 miles northwest of Saigon, at least 46 North Vietnamese and 16 Americans were counted dead. Another 99 U.S. cavalrymen were wounded.

Six persons were wounded to night in two more terrorist grenade incidents in Saigon, military authorities reported. One South Vietnamese soldier, two popular force members and a civilian were the victims of a grenade thrown at a South Vietnamese army jeep on Saigon's northern outskirts.

Two children were wounded in another grenade explosion in the city's 4th precinct, a crowded residential area south of the main downtown area. In that incident, two suspected terrorists were captured, military sources said. The incidents marked a continuing campaign of terrorist bombings that began last 6:00 p.m.

Sudden Increase
The incidents marked a continuing campaign of terrorist bombings that began last Wednesday and apparently are connected with a sudden increase in enemy shelling and other military actions across the country in the last 48 hours.

Despite the upsurge in enemy activity, military spokesmen declined to say if it was the start of the summer offensive which captured documents said the Communist command has ordered. "We feel he has not kicked off his main summer offensive yet," said one military analyst. He said captured documents indictated this would come later this month or in June.

The analyst said the attacks in the 3rd Corps area, where much of the action centered, were possibly a diversionary move to screen the movement

Rogers Heads For S. Vietnam

Secretary Plans
Talks With Thieu
On Peace Prospects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers, departing on a 17-day trip to Asia, said today he is anxious to talk with South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu both about developments in the war and the Paris peace negotiations.

He told newsmen he hopes to have "constructive meetings at Bangkok of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and the seven nations with troops in South Vietnam."

He also hopes for a constructive session of the Central Treaty Organization meeting in Tehran.

Rogers, accompanied by his wife plus a full staff of advisers and experts, left Andrews Air Force Base at 9:20 a.m. EDT for Honolulu on the first leg of his flight to Saigon.

It is his first undertaking at individual diplomacy since becoming secretary but he accompanied President Nixon last March on the presidential seven-nation European trip. Extra security precautions will be in effect for Rogers and his party in Saigon.

Some U.S. experts think a current Communist terror campaign is directed at Rogers' forthcoming first-hand talks with Vietnamese authorities on the Viet Cong 10-point peace plan.

Nationwide Address Set Wednesday

President Confers With Abrams

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon conferred today with the U.S. military commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton Abrams, and will address the nation Wednesday night on prospects of peace as he sees them.

There was no indication of any major breakthrough in this direction.

Abrams flew in from Vietnam Sunday and is returning this afternoon.

This morning he met with Nixon, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the President's national security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said this first meeting between the President and the top U.S. military man in Vietnam was a review of the situation there, with three factors uppermost.

Nixon sought Abrams' views on enemy military activity, including the possibility of new offensive actions.

He wanted information on the state of training of the South Vietnam army.

Three Criteria

On the latter point, Ziegler said he wanted to emphasize that any decision on force levels will be made on the basis of the three criteria he said Nixon has mentioned on numerous occasions:

1. "The ability of the South Vietnamese to defend themselves in the areas we now are defending them."

2. "Progress of the Paris talks."

3. "The level of enemy activity."

Abrams will report on these and other matters again after his return to Saigon.

Officials underscored repeatedly that the purpose of the Abrams-Nixon conference was to review the Vietnamese situation generally and not for a discussion of troop withdrawal in itself.

There has been widespread speculation that troop pullouts will be coming along shortly, and considerable sentiment for them is in evidence among the more dovish members of Congress.

Persons with an insight into the talks at the White House said that reaching a decision on troop withdrawals was not the objective of the Abrams-Nixon meeting.

The British pound strengthened to $2.38 3/4 and the French franc went from its rate of 127.50 for 100 marks last week to 124.35.

Interest Rates Drop
But the trend among speculators seemed now to be toward Eurodollars—American dollars held in banks in Europe and elsewhere outside the United States.

Eurodollar interest rates declined nearly a full percentage point from the crisis rate of 10 per cent.

Investors and speculators appeared to be waiting to see the effect of the measures taken by the central bankers to "recycle" speculative money back to its countries of origin. This would enable the central banks to withstand the drain on their resources.

Skeptics noted that interest rates for Eurodollars remained at last week's level of just under 10 per cent for 30 days, showing people were still trying to borrow already scarce dollars. A large proportion of the dollars used to buy marks last week were Eurodollars borrowed in the hope of a quick profit.

Dealers said the West German government's refusal to revalue the mark and the action of the central bankers did nothing to change the basic problem resulting from the undervaluation of the mark, the Japanese yen and to a lesser extent the Italian lira and Dutch guilder.

Eurodollars are dollars on deposit in Europe and other financial centers of the world outside the United States. About 25 billion of them exist, but only on bank ledgers. Most of them are owned by non-Americans. There is no Eurodollar currency or coinage.

The chiefs of the non-Communist world's 11 leading central banks spent most of their monthly meeting in Basel trying to figure out how best to return to circulation an estimated $5 billion which speculators poured into West Germany in anticipation that the mark would be revalued.

In a three-paragraph statement at the end of the meetings early today, the bankers said they have been working on the "recycling" plan for months. Part of it includes short-term loans to such countries as

Dollar Shows Biggest Gains As Pressure on Mark Eases

LONDON (AP) — Speculators began deserting the West German mark for dollars in Europe today but they apparently were hedging on the British pound and French franc.

The so-called hot money that went after marks last week on an expectation that the West German government would revalue upward was flowing into the Eurodollar market. Dealers reported the money was returned to the British, French and other reserves only in dribbles. There had been talk last week of possible devaluation of the pound and franc.

This showed, dealers said, speculators were moving their money into what they felt to be a safe parking place while awaiting further developments and looking for signs of West Germany's determination to defend its present value of the mark at 25 cents.

The mark was back to its old rate of four to a dollar in Frankfurt and in Zurich, Switzerland. It was at a rate of 3.92 for a dollar—or 25 1/2 cents each—late last week on the free market in Frankfurt.

The British pound strengthened to $2.38 3/4 and the French franc went from its rate of 127.50 for 100 marks last week to 124.35.

Three Hundred Residents of Madison's Mifflin Street turned up Saturday night for a party in the yard of Madison Fire Department Capt. Edward Durkin.

The party was given five miles from Mifflin Street, where an earlier block party had caused numerous clashes with police. (AP Wirephoto)

A Good Time, Without Violence

MADISON (AP) — Holding a party at his place was a very sensible thing to do, says Fire Capt. Edward Durkin.

About 300 student-residents of the Mifflin Street community showed up to roast hot dogs, dance, play ball, swing on a swing and generally have a good time.

A week earlier, a party

planned for Mifflin Street erupted into three nights of violence.

"They still wanted a party, just like other people," Durkin said. The city council had denied permission for a party on Mifflin Street.

"I was in a perfect position to talk to them—to cool them down. They knew me, since many of them had helped us (firemen) during our strike for pay raises last month," Durkin said.

"I knew there was the possibility of people getting hurt if they staged another block party. It was just common sense to make the offer."

The Mifflin Street residents hopped on buses provided by Mayor William Dyke for the five-mile ride to Durkin's home.

The four-acre site was ideal for a picnic, but the weatherman didn't cooperate. It rained, and there was occasional hail, forcing the band to move into the barn.

Countdown to Begin For Apollo 10 Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 10 countdown starts at midnight tonight. If all goes well, three astronauts will be launched on a trail-blazing moon orbit next Sunday.

The mission is to take man within 50,000 feet of the moon. That will pave the way for the Apollo 11 team to attempt a lunar landing in July.

Flying Apollo 10 will be an all-veteran crew: Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdrs. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan. Stafford and Young have made two space trips each and Cernan one.

The countdown will take 93 hours, but it will be spread out over 5 1/2 days. The additional time will be used up in several planned holds to give the crew rest and time to correct any problems which may arise.

There are only five days this month when the moon is in a favorable position to receive visitors from earth.

If Apollo 10 cannot get off the ground during this period, the launch will have to be postponed until the next opportune interval in mid-June. That could delay the planned July 16 liftoff of Apollo 11 until August.

Enemy Steps Up Its Campaign of Shelling

of forces into position for an assault on Saigon, or a prelude to the summer campaign.

Spokesmen said prisoners and captured documents indicate that the enemy units in the 3rd Corps area have received numerous reinforcements in recent weeks for the heavy losses suffered in the spring offensive they launched Feb. 23.

U.S. headquarters said 70 of the overnight rocket and mortar attacks resulted in casualties and damage, while 89 were considered "insignificant" and caused neither casualties nor damage.

"Fifty-seven of the attacked locations in this category reported 10 or less rounds of indirect fire," a communiqué said. Many of the locations reported only one or two rounds of indirect fire.

Influence Talks
A spokesman for the South Vietnamese government said the objectives of the fresh wave of attacks were to show that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are capable of doing what they want in South Vietnam and to influence the peace talks in Paris and public opinion in the United States.

He said they also could be related to the arrival Wednesday of U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The targets included Saigon, seven provincial capitals and 21 district towns. The spokesman said six civilians were killed and 18 wounded in a Viet Cong attack on a refugee hamlet 35 miles south of Da Nang. But he said 116 enemy troops were killed in two attacks on government ranger outposts 19 miles southwest of Da Nang while government casualties were light.

U.S. headquarters said rocket and mortar attacks hit five American air bases, the headquarters of the U.S. Army at Long Binh, 15 miles northeast of Saigon, the headquarters of the U.S. 1st, 25th and 9th Infantry Divisions and the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division, all in the 3rd Corps area; three combat bases in the northernmost 1st Corps area, and several American brigade headquarters.

Family of Five Wiped Out in 2-Car Crash

Kenosha County road, one mile south of the Racine County line.

Richard Young, 17, of rural Bristol, and Vaughn Thomason, 20, of rural Salem, were killed early Saturday when a car bearing six youths overturned after leaving a town road west of Kenosha.

Donald Reich, 17, of Kenosha died Friday night when a car left a Kenosha street and crashed into a building.

David Yougerst, 27, of Allenton was killed early Saturday in a car-truck collision north of Allenton in Washington County.

Roger Helgoe, 22, of Rock Falls was killed early Saturday when his car overturned south of Eau Claire.

Andrew Conley, 20, of Crandon died late Friday night in a one-car crash on a Forest County road near Crandon.

Three other victims were pedestrians. Zaida H. Owens, 28, of Milwaukee died early Saturday when she was struck by a car on the city's Northwest side.

Mrs. Margaret Jones, 74, was killed Friday night when struck by a car near her West Allis home.

John Flores, 15, of Racine died Friday night when he was hit by a car as he and two companions walked along State 20 west of Racine.

In another Barron County accident, Linda Kaczmareczik, 19, of rural Cameron, died at a Rice Lake hospital Sunday night of injuries suffered a few hours earlier when the small, foreign car she was in struck a deer, swerved off the highway, struck a bridge abutment and rolled 700 feet down an embankment.

The accident occurred ½ mile west of the Rusk-Barron County line on Highway 8.

"Other attacks were conducted against field locations and night defensive positions in all corps tactical zones," a U.S. spokesman said. "Some locations were hit more than once."

Much of the terrorism was concentrated in Saigon. A new campaign of violence began in the city last Wednesday and was stepped up Sunday afternoon. Three more explosions shook the central market area shortly after daylight today, following a fight with a Viet Cong band in a schoolhouse and the firing of a rocket into the city a few hours earlier.

Authorities said at least eight civilians had been killed, and 38 civilians and nine soldiers and police wounded in Saigon since noon Sunday.

Three Americans were wounded by a grenade explosion near an American billet.

Suicide Squads
For several months there have been reports of extensive infiltration of Viet Cong agents and suicide squads into Saigon.

Recent intelligence reports indicate that the present terror drive was timed to run from the 15th anniversary of the fall of Dien Bien Phu on May 7 to May 19, the 79th birthday of President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam.

Two of the ground attacks early today hit at positions held by troops of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division in War Zone C northwest of Saigon.

At one, the enemy force opened up with rockets and mortars, then charged and seized two bunkers inside the base briefly. The invaders were driven back, and the perimeter was secured shortly before daylight.

FGI reports from the field said 80 North Vietnamese and five Americans were killed, and 33 Americans were wounded.

At the second Air Cav position, the fighting lasted three hours. The perimeter was penetrated and one bunker captured briefly before the enemy force was driven back. First reports said about 50 of the enemy and two Americans were killed and 45 Americans were wounded.

Just before dawn, two South Vietnamese battalions drove back heavy assaults on their base camps in areas near the Cambodian frontier. Spokesmen reported that 130 of the attackers were killed, while the government forces lost two men killed and 56 wounded.

Other sharp ground fighting was reported near Marble Mountain, just outside Da Nang. One village defended by militia forces was reported overrun and several houses and other buildings blown up before the enemy force pulled out, leaving behind two North Vietnamese flags.

Three militiamen were reported killed, but there was no word on enemy or civilian casualties.

Corvaire Line Of Chevrolet To be Dropped

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors' Chevrolet Division announced today it is eliminating Corvaire from its line of autos, beginning Wednesday.

In a terse announcement, GM said the Corvaire production facilities will be devoted to additional Nova production for the current market and to prepare for future manufacture of components for Chevrolet's new small car, which is scheduled for introduction in 1970.

The Corvaire came under fire after automotive industry critic Ralph Nader charged the 1961-1963 models were unsafe. The company denied the charges and launched an "I Love My Corvaire" campaign but the car's sales fell of appreciably and never recovered.

$600,000 Isn't Cheap
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dirt isn't cheap, after all. The California Division of Highways starts today to collect dirt from construction sites, storing it for use next year for a freeway embankment. The saving, a spokesman said: $600,000.

the action will be delayed until after the West German election Sept. 28.

Karl Blessing, president of the West German Federal Bank, said he wants to get rid of the "hot money" as soon as possible. Blessing was personally embarrassed because he had recommended revaluation, but Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger overruled him.

Economic observers in Bonn said the government could take three moves to hamper speculation: imposing a "negative interest" levy on foreign holdings in German banks, introducing foreign currency controls, and doubling the 4 per cent extra restrictive levy imposed on exports and the 4 per cent concession sliced off import taxes during last November's monetary crisis.

Behind closed doors, Blessing explained to the other bankers what "flanking measures" he expected the West German government to take instead of revaluation. A Cabinet committee on economics meets in Bonn Wednesday to discuss the measures.

Sought Profits
The crisis began two weeks ago with the resignation of French President Charles de Gaulle. Speculators figured the West German mark would be revalued from 25 cents to 27 cents or more and bought the currency, hoping to make a good profit.

As money poured into the country and trading became hectic on the world's money markets, the West German Cabinet met Friday to consider revaluing the currency but decided against it.

The decision followed party lines with Kiesinger's 10 Christian Democrats voting against and Willy Brandt's eight Social Democrats voting for revaluation. Social Democrat Economics Minister Karl Schiller had recommended a 6.5 per cent upward shift in the mark's parity.

The Social Democrats launched an attack on Kiesinger for the decision. In a radio broadcast Sunday, the party's general secretary, Hans-Jürgen Wischnewski, said: "It was a dubious decision which will confront us with many difficulties."

He said German industry now would concentrate more on exports, and this will tend to import inflation.

"If we leave the Bundesbank (West Germany's central bank) alone again, as did the Erhard government in 1966, there is the danger of new economic crisis."

Taft-Hartley's Co-sponsor Dies

LINWOOD, N.J. (AP) — Fred A. Hartley Jr., a former New Jersey Republican representative who co-sponsored the Taft-Hartley labor act, died Sunday. He was 66.

The act was enacted in 1947 over the veto of President Harry S. Truman. The late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was the Senate sponsor.

The act outlawed the closed shop, under which an employer can hire only union members, but permitted unions and management, unless forbidden by state law, to negotiate union shop agreements requiring employees to join a union to hold their jobs.

Hartley represented the New Jersey congressional district of Newark and Hudson counties from 1929 until his retirement in 1948.

Students at Ohio College Protesting Expulsion of Youth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Nearly 100 students at Marietta College in Ohio began the third day of a hunger strike to protest the expulsion of the student body president. City College of New York holds its first day of classes under a new president, while protests continue at several other campuses.

In Marietta, 94 of the school's 1,800 students started a hunger strike Saturday after the school's president, Dr. Frank E. Duddy, expelled Earl Maiman, newly elected head of the student body on Thursday. Duddy said Maiman had used "inflammatory language" and there was no place for him on campus.

A student boycott Friday was called off after a court scheduled a hearing next Monday on why Maiman should not be reinstated.

Five Demands
The protesters want the school closed until five demands of the minority group students are met. They include a separate school of black and Hispanic studies and matching the school's enrollment of 20,000 to the ethnic makeup of the city's high schools, which are 40 per cent Negro and Puerto Rican.

Dr. Buell G. Gallagher resigned Friday as president, charging "politically motivated outside forces" made normal education impossible. He had been president 17 years.

The campus on the edge of Harlem was the scene of 11 suspicious fires and clashes between students of different political persuasion after the Board of Higher Education ordered the school opened last week under pressure from court orders.

Black and Puerto Rican faculty members announced they would join a strike by student protesters until the demands were met. They said they were supported by 200 white instructors.

SOS Is Banned
Olean, N.Y. — The Very Rev. Reginald Radlon, president of St. Bonaventure University, banned Students for a Democratic Society from the campus. He termed the radical group

"antidemocratic, anti-American and anti-Christian." He made the announcement at a Mother's Day mass, after unidentified students broke into a school office Friday night and stole confidential files.

SDS has about 12 members at the 2,300-student school.

Washington — Howard University reopens nine of 10 academic divisions today, but the college of liberal arts remains closed. An official said its classrooms were damaged extensively during a student occupation of six campus buildings at the predominantly Negro school of 8,200 last week.

Twenty-one students were arrested Friday when federal marshals ended the protest over demands for a larger student role and a voice for the community in school affairs.

Palo Alto, Calif. — Stanford University trustees meet today to discuss military research on campus, the target of a series of sit-ins and other protests at the 12,000-student school.

Want Larger Role
Jefferson City, Mo. — About 75 students continued a sit-in at Lincoln University's Student Union to demand a larger role in running the school of 2,000.

Jersey City, N.J. — Twenty teachers at St. Peter's College have vowed to back a student strike, entering its third day, demanding that two theology professors who have been fired be given new contracts. Two professors entered the sixth day of a hunger strike to back the demand.

President Wants Fortas to Resign

cuses Fortas of malfeasance, misconduct and impropriety, based largely on the fee from the Wolfson foundation.

A few hours before Gross statement, Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota became the first Democratic senator to say publicly that Fortas should resign.

At a news conference in Minneapolis, Mondale called the situation a national tragedy and said he was acting "because no one else seemed willing to do it."

Newsweek also said President Nixon discussed Fortas at the regular White House strategy session last week, urging party leaders "not to involve this matter in partisanship" and expressing hope that no one would rush toward impeachment.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, the House Republican leader, said Sunday the impeachment move is Gross' affair alone and the GOP leadership has neither taken a position on the matter nor considered taking the military history of the United States and characters from children's fables.

LU Senior Looks Ahead to Study Abroad After Winning Fellowship

BY DON VORPAHL
Of Lawrence University

Recipient of a coveted fellowship in American academic circles is Howard Sell, Appleton senior at Lawrence University. The fellowship is bestowed by the Thomas J. Watson Foundation and will enable Sell to spend a year in Europe and particularly Spain studying contemporary theater.

Another Lawrence senior, Ronald Broomell, Minocqua, is also a recipient of a Watson grant. He is a music major.

A relaxed, unsophisticated type, Sell is realistic about why he was chosen and what he expects to accomplish. He says, "I don't plan on going to Spain and publishing something after a year. Anyone who plans to do significant work in literature the year after his B.A. at Lawrence or anywhere else is silly."

Happened Just Right

But, he reflects, his proposal to the Watson Foundation was the "new kind." It had some open ends and some alternalives, and "besides, I'm 25, married and have had service experience. I was what they wanted. A year more or less and it probably wouldn't have worked out, for lots of reasons."

A relatively new organization, the Thomas J. Watson Foundation typifies the new breed of philanthropic agency which is concerned with the especially "exciting" scholar and the "imaginative" program of post-graduate independent study and travel.

Begun as a charitable trust in 1961 by Mrs. Thomas J. Watson, Sr. in memory of her husband, the founder of International Business Machines Corp., the foundation has devoted itself to a variety of educational and charitable purposes.

Travel Emphasis

Its 1968-69 emphasis was focused on a program of foreign travel fellowships for "persons of unusual potential" whose academic records, "while certainly not irrelevant, (were not) the principal criterion" for their selection.

A Lawrence freshman in 1961, Sell had left the university early in his sophomore year. It was "one of those things," he says, where "I wanted to find myself — does that sound corny?" And he went about it, living in Queens, N.Y., and thinking about the Peace Corps "until a cockroach chased me around my apartment for about two hours. Then I decided the corps was not for me."

But the Army was for him, and after a six-month stint, Sell says he realized "how much school really meant to me." He enrolled at Brooklyn College, found it not to his liking and, in February, 1965, joined a janitorial service at the New York World's Fair.

From then through the summer of 1967, Sell's life was a series of almost superfluous incidents, with the exception of his marriage to his high school sweetheart, whom he "sort of met again" at the fair. There was a six-month sortie with a rock-and-roll band whose fees went mostly to the leader, who "probably needed the money more than the rest of us." There was a return to the maintenance company, a job with a finance company, then back to the rock band.

Need for School

But, always, there was an overriding need to return to school and "eventually, it got to me I always wanted to teach. And through a set of little circumstances — a card from Prof. (John) Alfieri at Christmas with a note asking when I was coming back to school, and a promise of help from Dean Kenneth Venderbush — well, in the fall of '67, I was back."

Sell calls his work at Lawrence "a pretty nice two years, considering how busy I was." He carried 10 or 11 courses per year, compared to the normal nine. "But if you want to teach, you've got to go to school, got to read. I was very lucky," he adds, noting the availability of reading materials on Spanish contemporary theater, if not in the Lawrence library, then at least through teletype and other library-exchange systems.

Bought Sell's Plan

Nevertheless, he said, "You run out of gas very early here. You need to get to Spain, and the theater angle in my proposal pulled it all together — with the three-term contemporary theater independent study project I did with Alfieri, it just

State Law Requires UW Military Training

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — The forceful statement of the University of Wisconsin regents in backing the continuance of voluntary military training programs in the system tied the refusal to bow to protester demands directly to state law.

"We could not drop Reserve Officer Training Corps programs if we wanted to, not only because of the Morrill Land Grant Act, but also because of the Wisconsin statutes," UW President Fred H. Harrington told his regents as they passed the resolution backing the program.

State law, as interpreted by past attorneys general, is plain in its requirement that the UW offer such a military science program, on a required or elective basis, said Harrington.

The Morrill Act of 1862 gave to states then loyal to the union land for agricultural schools, but required the teaching of such programs as one of its conditions.

gram with a required six weeks orientation lecture program totaling six hours for freshmen.

Student protests over the mandatory nature of that program led to its abandonment, and the decision to switch to voluntary orientation lectures during summer months as a part of the process entering freshmen follow to enroll.

Student activists are maintaining that the university campus cannot maintain any connection with the military.

Pohner, Pompidou Top Choices In French Presidential Race

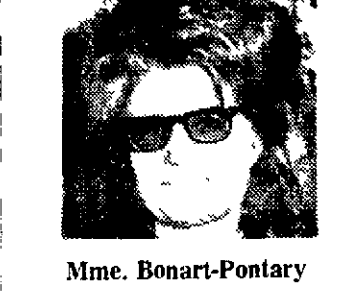

PARIS (AP) — With the lists closing at midnight, former Premier Georges Pompidou and Provisional President Alain Poher were the front runners today in the French presidential race.

Both men are middle-of-the-roads in the French political spectrum.

The other major candidates in the June 1 election all come from the divided left, and the split presumably means none can get into the June 15 runoff. They are Jacques Duclos of the Communist party; Michel Rocard of the far-left Progressive Socialist party; Alain Krivine, a Trotskyite; and Gaston Defferre of the Socialists.

100 Signatures

Any candidate who manages to get 100 signatures of elected office holders on a petition by midnight also will be on the ballot. One such hopeful is Nelly Bonart-Pontary, a 40-year-old

Mme. Bonart-Pontary

took a leading part in the campaign to defeat Charles de Gaulle's reform bill last month. De Gaulle's subsequent resignation catapulted Poher to the interim presidency, and he announced Monday he would run for a full term as chief executive.

The latest polls indicate the 60-year-old Centrist has the backing of nearly half the nation.

Pohner has a quiet, self-effacing manner. He entered the race by sending an aide to announce that his campaign slogan would be "the union and reconciliation of the French."

His chief objection to De Gaulle's reform bill was that it would have stripped the Senate of its remaining legislative power. His position on France's student and labor problems and major issues in Europe—the monetary crisis, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, relations with the Soviet Union and admission of Britain to the Common Market—have not been spelled out.

Pompidou, 57, De Gaulle's premier for six years, was a heavy favorite when he announced his candidacy shortly after De Gaulle's resignation two weeks ago, but the public opinion samplings show Pohner has drained much of his support.

Gaullist Principles

Pompidou generally supports Gaullist principles but pledged last week to be flexible in his approach and said he favored an expanded Europe.

At a meeting of Common Market foreign ministers in Luxembourg Monday, Michel Debré of France maintained his country's opposition to expansion of the economics community.

Joseph Luns of the Netherlands defended Britain's application but indicated no drive will be made to expand the Common Market until after the French election next month and West Germany's general election in September.

The future of a united Europe, Luns said, still lies "in the mists of autumn."

Britain, Ireland, Norway and Denmark are seeking membership in the Common Market, now made up of Belgium, France, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands and West Germany.

Final Physical Exams Taken by Apollo Crew

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 10 astronauts were to undergo their final major physical examinations today as the launch date nears for their ring-around-the-moon flight.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and Eugene Cernan planned several hours with the doctors. The exam determines whether they are healthy for their difficult eight-day moon journey starting Sunday and provides heart rate, respiration and other data for in-flight and post-flight comparison.

Stafford, Young and Cernan hope to avoid the sickness that plagued all three previous Apollo crews.

Colds and flu bothered both the Apollo 7 and 8 teams in flight, and colds forced a three-day postponement of the Apollo 9 launching earlier this year.

The illnesses generally were blamed on a heavy work schedule in the final weeks of preparation for launching. To avoid this, Stafford, Young and Cernan completed most of their stringent training early and have eased up in recent days.

"We're not going to get in a rundown condition where we're more susceptible to illness," said Stafford, the commander.

The launch team Monday which aims for a 12:49 p.m. started the lengthy countdown EDT blastoff of the Saturn 5 rocket Sunday.

After a three-day quarter-million-mile trip across trackless space, the astronauts are to orbit the moon at an altitude of 69 miles.

Stafford and Cernan will detach a lunar landing vehicle and twice descend to within 50,000 feet of the surface to inspect a site where two Apollo 11 astronauts hope to land this July 20.

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Pvt. Harold C. Vennemann, 22, who apparently let his 3-A draft classification lapse, is in the Army now and under orders to start for Vietnam Wednesday.

He is leaving his 21-year-old wife, Clara, to take care of their four children on Army pay and allotments totaling about $200 a month. She is expecting a fifth child in August.

Since he was drafted Dec. 2, Vennemann has lost his home, furniture and car and has had to move his family into an apartment which costs $15 a month.

Vennemann was a earning $600 a month as a sod layer and punch press operator when he was drafted. His property was mortgaged.

"We had a nice house, with nice furniture, but when people want their money and you don't have it, there's just nothing you can do," he said.

Home on Leave

Having completed training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and Ft. Ord, Calif., the young private is home on leave before reporting to Ft. Lewis, Wash., for transportation to Vietnam.

"I wouldn't mind service," he said "if it just wouldn't be so hard on my wife and kids. I just can't send enough money to Clara. It's just too hard on her."

Why was he drafted?

"I think," said Alfred Talbot, a Red Cross official, "that Mr. Vennemann received notices from his draft board which he did not return, and this is what got him

A clerk at the draft board office said Vennemann formerly was classified 3-A, entitled to deferment as a father living with his family. But a man must prove each year that he deserves 3-A.

Vennemann was changed to 1-A, eligible for draft, on June 22, 1967, the clerk said, after he failed to return forms mailed to him.

"Lots of records and things were mailed to him, and there were no replies," she said.

Vennemann said he thought he had filled out all the papers sent to him, and he didn't know he could have appealed the 1-A classification.

The office of Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., was told about Vennemann's case Monday. A spokesman said an investigation would be made immediately.

Senate Showdown Due on Job Corps

Majority of Democrats Hoping To Stall Nixon's Closing Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House apparently is seeking a Senate showdown on the battle over President Nixon's order closing 59 Job Corps centers and is looking to Dixie Democrats for the balance of power.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., says he understands the White House wants him to withdraw his counter-resolution that could blunt a move by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., asking delay on the closings.

"I have heard indirectly that they'd like me not to press it (his resolution) and have a straight confrontation on the issue," Javits told a reporter. "I understood their disposition was to let this be voted up or voted down."

Javits said, however, he is not planning to withdraw his resolution.

Monday's opening debate was strictly party-line with only the Democrats speaking for the Cranston measure and only Republicans speaking against it.

Asked Monday night if Cranston's measure would carry on an immediate vote of the Senate's 57 Democrats and 43 Republicans, Javits said: "It looks that way, I would say that'll depend on whether we can unravel things tomorrow."

He indicated he would spend today looking to dent the Democratic solidarity and pick up support from southerners.

Nixon's move would cut the 35,000-member Job Corps nearly in half saving an estimated $100 million a year.

Cranston's resolution would ask, but not bind, the administration to delay the closings now due by July 1 until Congress can study the program and alternatives.

Javits' proposal would put the Senate on record in favor of Nixon's position, which includes the promise of another training opportunity for every enrollee and an increase in the number of youths involved.

The GOP hopes for support from 16 Dixie Democrats took a setback Monday when Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., announced support for Cranston's resolution.

"It would seem to me unwise to take out these 17,000 people until we in the Congress at least have had a chance to study what is going to happen to them," Long said.

House Majority

He noted the Democratic majority in both houses of Congress and said the President is going to have to make accommodations to that strength.

Opponents to the Cranston resolution say the Job Corps is ineffective.

One of them, Sen. Winston Prouty, R-Vt., said there is an attempt to picture the administration as callous to the needy.

"Certain groups, including I have reason to believe, employees of the Job Corps and the Office of Economic Opportunity have been desperately searching for an issue to use as a straw man for the purpose of precipitating a confrontation with the administration in the hope of discrediting it in the eyes of the American people as an administration unconcerned with the problems of the uneducated, the unskilled and the disadvantaged," Prouty told the Senate.

"Misrepresentation, phony slogans and false emotionalism are the hallmarks of this group in their attempt to make it appear that we are acting with a callous disregard for the welfare of our young people," Prouty said.

Cranston told the Senate he just wants the administration to offer a better plan, explaining he is not defending the entire Job Corps program.

"It is imperfect, like all government programs. Changes are in order in the Job Corps. There may be a better approach to the training of these disadvantaged young people."

U.S. to Realign Its Nuclear Air Fleet

Defense Plan Will Complicate U.S.S.R.'s Targeting Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon plans to scatter the U.S. nuclear bomber fleet over twice the airfields now used to cut the planes' growing vulnerability to a Soviet missile strike, Defense officials say.

Under the new plan, to be announced soon, the Air Force will redistribute its 538 B52 and B58 bombers over some 70 American airfields in order to complicate the Soviet targeting problem.

Currently the nuclear equipped bomber squadrons of the Strategic Air Command are stationed at 35 bases. The dispersal program is a direct result of the Soviet Union's stepped up deployment of submarines which could launch nuclear missiles while submerged 1,500 miles from U.S. shores and its development of a fractional orbital bombardment system—FOBS.

Unions Support Negroes' Strike

Menial Job Workers Could Organize in South, Nationwide

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The nationwide financial and moral support of 16 million union members has been pledged to 400 Negro workers on strike against two Charleston hospitals.

That backing came Sunday from Walter Reuther, president of the 1.9-million-member United Auto Workers union, and William Kircher, a member of the executive council of the AFL-CIO, a 14-million-member alliance.

Their announcements officially sanctioned a union-civil rights drive to organize menial-task workers, not only in the South but throughout the nation. The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, marched in a mile-long parade with labor leaders, religious officials and members of Congress through the heart of Charleston.

National Guardsmen and local police kept close watch, but there was no violence.

The two-hour march over a six-mile route ended shortly before a 9 p.m. curfew now in its 12th day. The dusk-to-dawn curfew was imposed by Gov. Robert McNair because of window-breakings, fire bombings and other vandalism that have accompanied the strikes against the state-supported Medical College Hospital and the Charleston County Hospital. The walkouts began March 18.

The strikers are seeking recognition of Local 1199B as their bargaining representative and an unspecified pay raise from their present $1.30 to $2.05 an hour.

Gov. McNair said Sunday the cost of maintaining 600 to 800 National Guardsmen in Charleston and of supplying state highway patrolmen and other law enforcement officials is $10,000 to $12,000 a day.

Mexicans Appeal to Rocky To Boost Business in U.S.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican industrialists and businessmen lined up today to urge New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to recommend better treatment for Mexican manufactured products in U.S. markets.

Rockefeller arrived Sunday to begin a tour of Central America in search of "new directions" for U.S. policies in the region. President Nixon asked him to make the trip.

What Mexicans in both the public and private sectors are after was indicated in a statement by President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz after a meeting with Mexican Rockefeller. Diaz Ordaz said Mexico wants "equitable commerce with the United States, trade, science, agriculture, housing and urban problems. After a stop in Key Biscayne, Fla., to meet with Nixon, Rockefeller and his wife were welcomed by 300 persons at a warm informal reception. While a mariachi band played, schoolgirls pressed flowers into the couple's hands.

"I bring no new programs, no simple answers, no easy slogans," Rockefeller said. "New U.S. policies may grow out of this mission, but they do not arrive with it. Let us speak frankly. Let us have the hard realities, not only the pleasant generalities."

As he bade his special envoy farewell in Florida, Nixon said he considered the tour "one of the most vitally important, one of the most unique missions ever undertaken by an independent group on behalf of the government of the United States."

Mansfield Wants President To Get Advice on 'Vietnams'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says he will seek passage next month of a resolution calling on President Nixon to consult with the Senate before sending U.S. troops into any future Vietnam-like situation.

The resolution, which would not be binding on the President, would put the Senate on record as saying the chief executive should not send American forces into fighting abroad without prior consultation unless national security was directly involved.

The action, sponsored by long-time Vietnam critic Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., is an outgrowth of criticism against President Lyndon B. Johnson's use of the Tonkin Gulf resolution to justify his expansion of the U.S. role in Vietnam.

That resolution approved Johnson's ordering American air raids against North Vietnam following alleged attacks on U.S. destroyers in the Tonkin Gulf in 1964.

Mansfield said passage would help "restore the powers and the responsibility which the Senate has permitted to erode away willingly."

"It would establish a partnership in foreign affairs between the legislative and executive branches," he said. "It would not encroach on the President's powers in any situation calling for instant action. It would not diminish the power of the presidency, it would give it added strength."

Mansfield conceded he had personally intervened to delay action on a similar resolution when Johnson announced last year he would not run again.

But he insisted that his decision to ask for action next month on the proposal involves no attack on Nixon's presidential prerogatives.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois was not so sure that passage of the resolution by the Democratic controlled Senate would not be interpreted as an attack on Nixon's prerogatives as commander-in-chief.

He said in a separate interview that State Department officials had complained to him the resolution was loosely drawn.

But Dirksen said opposing it would involve a "difficult decision" since he shares the common yearning among senators for a greater voice in foreign policy decisions under the Constitution's advise and consent clause.

The resolution has the powerful backing of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Only Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo., who supported Johnson's Vietnam policies, voted against the resolution in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which is headed by Fulbright.

Lass From Ulster Miss Devlin Breaks Parliament Tradition

By The Associated Press
Bernadette Devlin, 21-year-old newly-elected member of the British Parliament from mid-Ulster, broke with tradition twice in one week. She made a speech on the day of her swearing-in in London's House of Commons — no other case of a swearing-in speech is on record — and she spoke on a controversial subject — the religious political crisis tearing Northern Ireland.

Her speech came after Northern Ireland's embattled government was forced to call on British troops to guard key public installations following two explosions that crippled Belfast's power and water facilities and two days of civil rights rioting in Londonderry in which more than 250 persons were injured.

Miss Devlin, claiming that she was there for the "oppressed people" of Northern Ireland — Roman Catholic and Protestant — attacked the Unionist-conservative politicians who have controlled Ulster Province for nearly 50 years. The Unionist policy, she said, is to keep Protestant working people agitated against the Roman Catholics so that they will not rebel against the general poverty of Ulster.

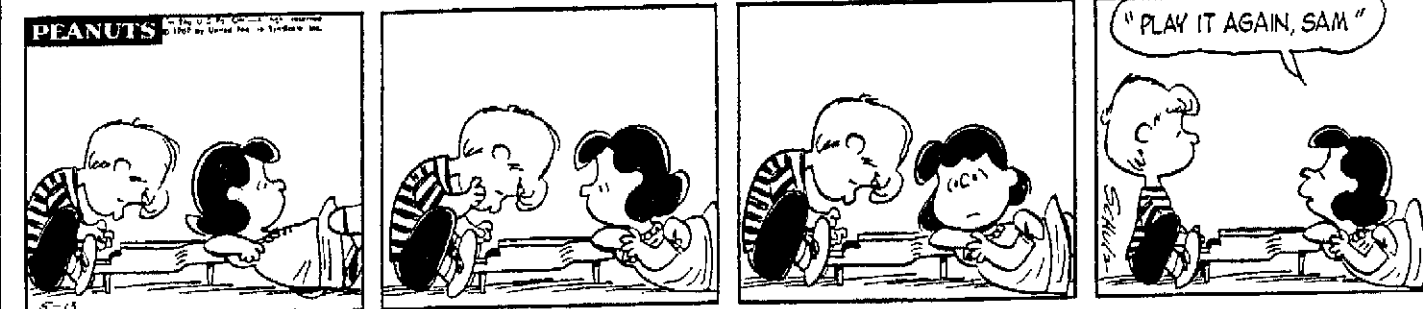

Protestant Majority
Unionists, who are supported by the Protestant majority that makes up two-thirds of the country's electorate, have ruled without a break since Northern Ireland was given its own Parliament and internal self-rule in 1921. They are committed to maintaining Northern Ireland's role as an integral part of the United Kingdom.

Civil rights demonstrators in Ulster are demanding electoral reforms to establish the principle of one man, one vote, for local elections. The demands of the Catholic minority for universal suffrage stem mainly from laws that restrict voting in local elections to property owners and their wives and to districting that insures Protestant control. The Catholics are also demanding better housing and more jobs. Due to gerrymandering of voting districts, for instance, in Londonderry, Ulster's second-largest city with a two-thirds Catholic population, the Protestants control the council.

In the wake of political turbulence and street clashes, Capt. Terence O'Neill, who had demanded that his Unionist Party support the reform provisions, resigned as prime minister, saying he had quit to serve "the cause of reform."

Right-wing Protestants and the extremist leader, the Rev. Ian Paisley, now in jail, are bitterly opposed to the plan. They fear that it will gradually make way for Catholic power if and when the greater Roman Catholic birth rate increases the proportion of Catholics in the population from the present one-third.

Sheinwold Be Right For Trip To Sweden

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Most of the declarers went wrong on today's hand, according to a report from Jan Woblin, famous Swedish expert. See if you would have made the contract if you had been playing in that tournament in Stockholm.

Each declarer won the first trick with the king of diamonds, saving dummy's ace for help in developing the clubs. The typical declarer continued with the ace and queen of clubs, noticing West's heart discard without enthusiasm.

Our typical declarer continued with a club to the king and another club to the jack. Back came a diamond to the ace, and declarer cashed the last club and then tried a finesse with the queen of spades.

South could get four clubs, two diamonds and two spades but nothing else. Down one.

You'd have done better, of course, if you had been in Stockholm for the tournament. If not, think about the right play before you read on.

Needs Two Finesses

When West discards a heart on the queen of clubs, South sees that he will get only four club tricks and will therefore need two successful spade finesses to make the contract. Since dummy is short of entries, South must overtake the queen of clubs with dummy's king to return a spade at once for the first finesse.

The spade finesse succeeds, and South now leads his other club to dummy's nine. The overtake in clubs costs nothing since South is sure to lose one club trick no matter how he plays the suit.

East wins with the jack of clubs and returns a diamond to dummy's ace. Now declarer cashes the ten of clubs and the last club. This leaves him in position to take a second spade finesse. South makes his contract with four clubs, three spades and two diamonds.

Fox Valley Lutheran Seniors Pay Visit to the Gay Nineties

A Portrait With an Old Fashioned Touch was the result Saturday evening, when Esther Cole and Ken Schwerin, junior chairman, joined Dorothy Knoener and Marty Molderhaven, senior chairman, both seated on one of the park benches that helped to recreate the leisurely atmosphere of the Gay Nineties at Fox Valley Lutheran High School's Senior Banquet. (Post-Crescent Photos by Ralph Acker)

From the surney with the fringe on top to Main Street of yesteryear, the Gay Nineties were recreated down to the last detail to share their golden glow of nostalgia with seniors at Fox Valley Lutheran School.

The occasion was the Senior Banquet Saturday evening. Dressed in the delightful feminine ruffles, laces and ribbons of the cherished era, the young women arrived with their escorts to enjoy an evening of friendship, dinner and song that will be remembered with the same kind of warmth as the Gay Nineties.

Homemakers Air Gripes About Products in Nationwide Survey

CLEVELAND, Ohio — Amer- second survey done in 1968 pilot study, which were annoy- ing, slightly annoying or not annoying. In addition, respon- dents were asked to write in any peevish they had that were not among the 31 listed.

The survey drew a 24.9 per cent response, or 1,162 replies, which is considered an extreme- ly high return. Mr. Warwick reported in his slide-and-speech presentation entitled "Does Mrs. Housewife Swear by Your Products... Or at Them?" J. A. Ward, Inc., independent re- search organization, tabulated the results.

Among the gripes home- makers also rated very annoy- ing were cents-off labeling on packages where you really don't know the regular price or real saving, retrofrozen fruits and vegetables that are apparent be- cause one side has a cake of ice, low calorie foods without calorie content on package.

Among the gripes also fre- quently volunteered by home- makers were tiny candy bars in big wrappers, bags of sugar that leak, spill and tear, rolls and buns in non-crushproof packag- ing, cheese and cold meat slices that cannot be separated, egg cartons that don't protect eggs.

Houses were also asked basic demographic information con- cerning age, income, education, family size, type of dwelling.

"We learned that the most critical consumer is to be found among the older population, those with lower income and lower educational attainment," said Mr. Warwick. "Maybe the younger element doesn't care as much, and maybe the more affluent simply shrug and throw the faulty package away — but I wouldn't bank on that. We also learned that while the popular phrase is always 'new and improved' — our housewives say the two don't necessarily go together. And, finally, we learned that a considerable number of consumers — your customers — are not exactly happy with many of the products they buy in the market."

"What we have not yet learned — and somebody should attempt to find out — is whether or not and to what extent consumer antagonism rubs off on the product. Do they go on buying the same product even though they are dissatis- fied with the package or the way it performs? Or do they swear off and try something else?"

One thing is certain. I'm sure that all you — all of you — would rather have your custom- er swear by your products than at them."

Miss Barbara Brecklin, will have charge of programs; Mrs. Kaufman, publicity; Mrs. Wolff, social; Mrs. Dreier, service, and Miss Severson, ways and means.

At the annual Mother's Day Dinner of Beta Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, May 4 at Reitz's Supper Club, Mrs. Thomas Dreier, president, re- called the social, cultural and service projects of the past year. The major service project was the donation of a child's wheel chair to the orthopedic department of Highlands Ele- mentary School.

Mrs. Dreier awarded the 1969 "Girl of the Year" award to Mrs. Kenneth Wolff for her achievements and activities in the sorority during the past year. Other awards were pre- sented to Mrs. Thomas Resch, Mrs. James Erdmann, Mrs. Cal Kaufman and Miss Judith Severson for perfect attendance at chapter meetings; Mrs. Dreier and Mrs. Erdmann for perfect attendance at social functions; Mrs. Besch for getting the most new members; Miss Severson for selling the most Beta Sigma Phi cookbooks, and Mrs. Walter Schmidt for the presentation of the best cultural programs.

Your Problems Teen-Agers Start Project in California

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This letter should be of interest to "Smokehouse Secretary" and others who resent being gassed by inconsiderate slob who smoke and think every one else should put up with it. Help is on the way!

Sixty-four teen-agers in Bakersfield, Calif., are conducting an advertising campaign which we created ourselves. Our aim is to make smoking look dumb and ridiculous instead of glamorous. We call the project "Smoke Out." Here's what we are doing. We have launched a full-scale advertising campaign — mostly radio and TV. We got started with the help of the Kern County Inter-Agency Council on Smoking and Health. We have buttons, book covers and bumper stickers which say "Smoke-Choke-Croak." Here's one of our radio commercials: "Worried about the population explosion? Have a cigaret." Another: "Don't smoke in bed. You might burn a hole in your lungs."

One of our TV commercials shows an elegantly gowned woman — smoking. A voice says, "She Smokes." Then there's a shot of burning trash. Another voice says, "So does the city dump."

Our project is a tremendous success out here in Bakersfield and we hope it spreads to other communities. — Gloria Zigner, Project Coordinator

Dear Gloria: So do I. As a non-smoker who has croaked and choked on other people's cigaret smoke for too many years, I am delighted with your project.

I urge teen-agers in other cities who want information on how to get started to write to Smoke Out, P.O. Box 4, Bakersfield, Calif., 93302. And now you readers out there who are under the impression that our country's teen-agers divide their time between smoking marijuana, roaming in gangs and committing mayhem on the city's streets, please read this again.

DEAR ANN: Our G.I. son is bringing home an Oriental bride. His father and I, his sisters and their husbands have talked it over and agree to make her feel welcome.

Some of the aunts and uncles are upset about the marriage and have let us know that they have no intention of accepting her. This means our son will not be welcome in their homes either.

Our two daughters married out of their faith. It was a blow to us but we have grown to know and love both young men and they are wonderful husbands and fathers. Accepting a daughter-in-law of another race is more difficult, but we are prepared to do whatever we can to make the girl feel loved and wanted.

The problem: What can we do about the members of the family who have let us know

Reducing Auto Insurance Rates Depends on Drivers

BY MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

While committee members under the aegis of the Secretary of Transportation put their minds to the automobile insurance controversy in a two-year, $2 million study, the consumer feels the solution ought to be simple enough. He's already suggested it: make auto insurance cheaper.

Ironically, the insurance companies agree with him, the consumer. But the crux of the matter is, the motorist doesn't want to have to be a more careful driver. And the companies don't want to operate at any more of a loss that they have to contend with at the moment. So it's no wonder it's costing us all $2 million to arrive at a compromise.

A number of proposed auto insurance reforms have been put forward, including one based on the premise that "non-fault" systems would make it unnecessary for liability in a car accident to be established. Each motorist's insurance company would pay its insured. And the general attitude is that in any event, ways to speed up payment of claims without expensive litigation is a need that must be met.

But, as Consumer Reports notes: "At this point, consumers need not grapple with the varying details of several proposed auto insurance reforms." They're lacking in detailed development as yet, but they do indicate there's going to be some kind of breakthrough.

Some consumers are raising the question of payroll deduction

Tuesday, May 13, 1969

The Post-Crescent A 14

unions would be saying it ought to be a fringe benefit. And then the employer would get stuck with the whole thing." Anyway, he adds, payroll deduction auto insurance, undoubtedly an advantageous proposition for the motorist since companies are geared to the position for the motorist, still isn't the real answer. There would still be the expensive element of litigation when accident claims are made. And in addition, the rising costs of repairs and medical expenses wouldn't just go away. One thing the consumer can do in his own behalf, while he's waiting around, is to see that he's a more careful driver himself — and that his children are. Auto insurance policies for young persons are, in many cases, written more liberally these days — in some states 15 per cent reduction in rates, rather than the usual 10 per cent, is offered the young driver who has had instruction from a qualified driving school, but the fact remains that a tragic percentage of car accidents must be chalked up against teenagers. A lot of money is being spent on high school driver education courses around the country. But parents have an obligation to find out just how thorough the course is at their own local school.

Yachtsmen Back at Helm as Season Opens

Tuesday, May 13, 1969

The Post-Crescent A 15

The ice is out! Lakes and rivers are navigable once again. This event is the signal for yachtsmen in the north country to slide their boats into the water and prepare for another season of sailing or cruising. Those who enjoy the sport can almost hear the waves slapping against the sides of their boats, smell the lake breezes and feel the misty sprays against their cheeks as they think about being aboard once more and slipping along in a stiff breeze.

To mark the opening, members of the Appleton Yacht Club gathered Saturday evening for cocktails, dinner and dancing at their first party of the season.

Theme was Buoy's Inn. Chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Madden assisted by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Schumacher, Mr. and Mrs. Richard De Shaney, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bleick, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leitch and Mr. and Mrs. William Riordan Jr.

Would-be Thief Gets Unexpected Retaliation

PHILADELPHIA (A.P.)—A crowd of shoppers cheered here Tuesday to find work. He was charged with larceny and receiving stolen goods. Mrs. Lambert told authorities she had used a cane since she suffered a broken hip five years ago.

Although the woman, Edity E. Lambert, is partially crippled, she managed to hang on to the man until a policeman arrived. "She's a real pleasant woman who just took the bull by the horns," said detective William Clinton. Clinton said Mrs. Lambert later told him she regretted that she didn't use her cane on the man. Clinton said Mrs. Lambert was waiting for a bus when she discovered a man trying to steal her wallet in her purse. She grabbed the wallet and punched the man in the face. He tried to get on a bus, but she grabbed his coat tails and hung on. "Don't let him on the bus," she cried. "Don't move the bus. Don't let him get away."

Clinton said several bystanders shouted encouragement, such as: "Go ahead, lady, give it to him," but no one helped her.

Detective Frank Flood, walking nearby, saw the disturbance and arrested the man, identified as Peter Dimitriadis, 57, New

To Your Good Health

Impetigo Infection of Skin Is Contagious

BY GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is impetigo and what causes it? Is it caused from filth? — T.Y.

Impetigo is a highly contagious skin infection, caused by the staphylococcus or streptococcus germ. In short, it's a staph infection or strep infection of the skin.

Dr. Thosteson

"Filth" is not always the cause. A person may be perfectly clean, yet get the infection from someone else who has it. This may be by touching the person, use of such a person's towel, or any method that can transmit the germs from one person to another. The germs may be carried, for example, by tools or instruments. "Barber's itch" is impetigo.

Impetigo is not the problem it used to be. The reason is that the germs that cause it are effectively combatted by antibiotics. All the same, the germs are very prevalent, especially the staph germ, and the fact that impetigo can be treated expeditiously does not alter the fact that people still get it. It is most common among children.

Since these germs are so common, one risk is that they will get a foothold (if germs have feet!) in the skin if the germs happen to be present when you scratch hives, an insect bite, or eczema. That's one of the things we are talking about when we warn of "secondary infections" which can develop in otherwise minor skin irritations.

In short, watch out for impetigo. When it develops, have it treated immediately, and take precautions against the patient spreading his skin germs to anyone else. See that he uses only his own towels, linen, etc., until the disease has been cured.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our baby is one year old and has bow legs. Would corrective shoes correct this? — Mrs. S.S.

No, corrective shoes won't correct bow legs. But most babies appear to have bow legs, which they outgrow, so if I were you, I wouldn't jump to the conclusion that the legs are bowed until you've had a pediatrician examine the baby. Then if anything needs doing, he'll tell you.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I suffered for four months that sore throat, plugged or runny nose, hoarseness, fever, and cough.

It suddenly dawned on me that I became worse after each twice-a-week laundry. Knowing there was quite a history of allergy in my family, I moved all soaps, bleaches, detergents, scouring powders, etc., to a far corner of the basement, and used only a well-known brand of soap flakes. In three days I was fast returning to normal. — Mrs. N.B.

Thanks for a vivid account of the sort of thing that allergy can cause. I do not mean that laundry materials are a general cause of sniffles, etc. They are for you; for someone else entirely different materials may be troublesome.

I do seek to call attention to allergy as too often overlooked. (You might want to experiment in your own case, by exposing yourself to the various detergents, bleaches, and so on, one by one, until you find out which one or ones bother you and which don't.)

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

What Makes Women Such Big Problems?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What is it about women that annoys men?

While most men admire women, or pretend to for one reason or another, that admiration isn't altogether whole-hearted. There are some things about the feminine mystique that the male mind dislikes, resents, envies or is baffled by.

A number of men asked recently to state what they felt was wrong with the female sex expressed a wide variety of misgivings. Here are a few of the more interesting replies:

"Women? Bah, humbugs!"

"They are so unpredictable. If you try to surprise and please them by bringing them home a box of candy, they tell you they've just gone on a diet. If you bring them roses because you know they've always liked roses, they want to know why you didn't bring chrysanthemums because chrysanthemums go better with the new draperies."

"When they are too dumb to know what's really going on, they pretend they do by trying to look mysterious."

"The only girl who annoyed me was the one who always said no to everything I ever asked her until the day I asked her to marry me. Then she really gave the wrong answer. She said yes."

"What's wrong with women? That's a good question. Pull up a chair, son — this is going to take all afternoon."

"The worst thing about them is that, like politicians, they are born fence straddlers. No matter what happens and how it turns out, they always manage to be in a position to claim they were right. A man will sometimes admit he was wrong, a woman— never."

"It is woman's vanity that kills me. Even the homeliest one secretly thinks she is beautiful. And it is always the girl with bowlegs who is convinced every man in town admires her gams."

"Women are too preoccupied with themselves. A man can forget himself part of the time, but a woman can't. She is always on her own mind. If a woman sees a rainbow, she isn't lost in 'is beauty. It merely makes her wonder if she has on the right color lipstick."

"Why should I tell you what I think is wrong about women? You might be a spy for my wife, and then I'd just get in more trouble with her."

"I think their worst trait is the mean revenge they take on a man. If he keeps them waiting six months before he proposes to them, they get even by making him wait on them hand and foot for the next 40 or 50 years."

"Personally, the only real fault I find with my wife is that her snoring keeps me awake all night, and the next morning she claims she didn't sleep a wink because of the street noises outside. When I tell her she was snoring, she calls me a liar."

"They cheat at cards—even if you're only paying penny poker."

"Women are born arrogant. The only thing that teaches them humility is wrinkles, and if they can afford to get their faces lifted they never get humble."

"What I can't stand about women is that they have no real sense of romance—only a sense of possessiveness. They don't want to love a man so much as to own him, body, soul and pocketbook. To them marriage chiefly means a gamble in human real estate. That's why women, in referring to a solvent bridegroom, say, 'He was a good catch.'"

"All of them are too talky. They insist on thinking out loud when they have nothing on their minds. The less they have to say, the more determined they are to say it."

But the most common criticism of women voiced by most men was the adage that has summed up male bewilderment on this subject for perhaps centuries:

"You can't get along with 'em, and you can't get along without 'em."

Air Taxiways Construction Gets Approval

County Board Gives Okay to Completing Airport Improvement

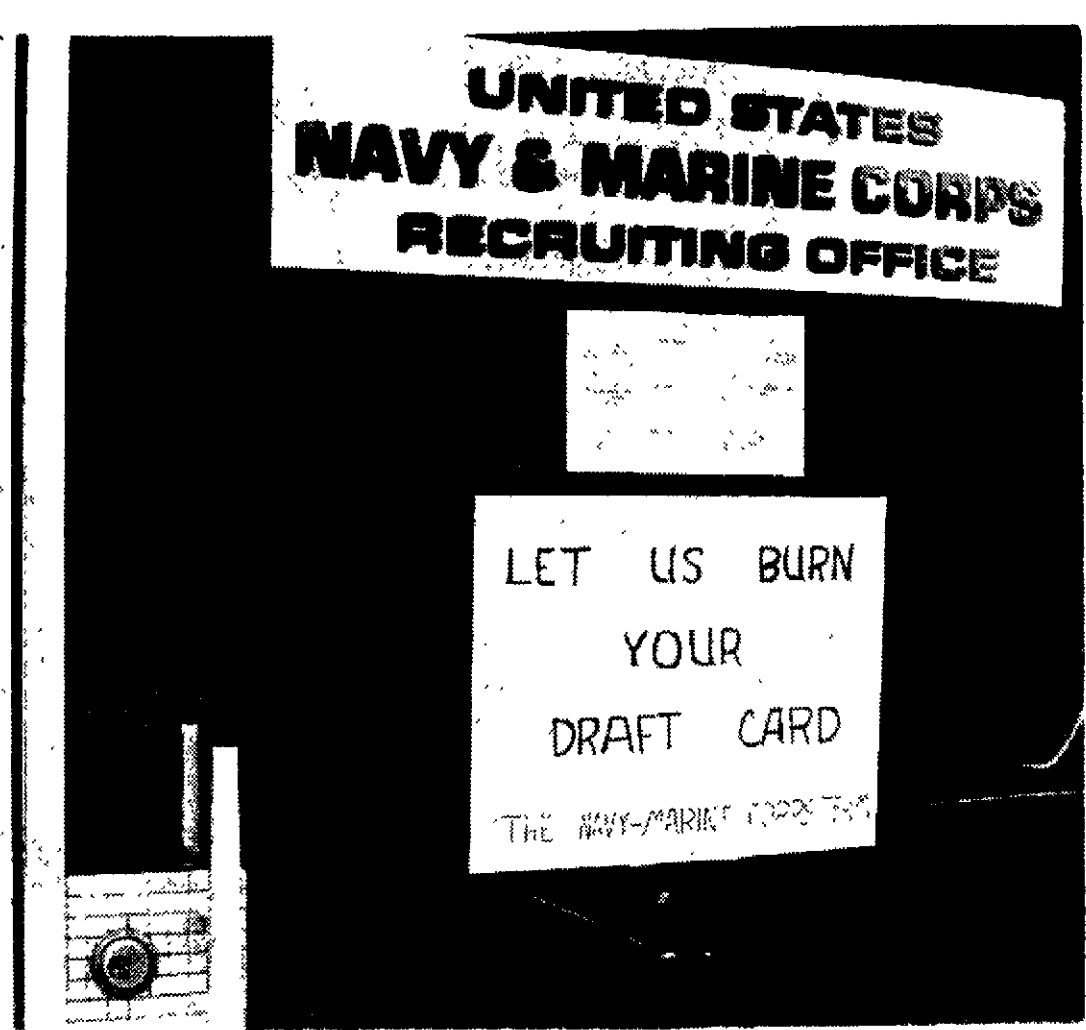

With little discussion, the Outagamie County Board this morning gave the green light to taxiway construction at the county airport.

By a 44-1 vote, supervisors appropriated $32,180 as the county's "good faith" money towards the $680,300 cost of the taxiways on the northwest-southeast runway.

Approval came after Supv. John Dietz, airport committee chairman, said the county had it in writing the money would be reimbursed when the project was completed.

Dietz indicated construction should start in the next few weeks since bids are in and plans completed. Funding will include a $321,800 Federal Aviation Agency grant, a $44,900 State Division of Aeronautics grant, and $313,600 in funds which the federal government

$1.15 Million for Fire Trucks

Pierce Gets Air Force Order

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Pierce Auto Body Works, Inc., Appleton, today received a $1,150,000 order for 71 fire trucks and spare parts for the U.S. Air Force.

The announcement was made from Washington by 8th District Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, who indicated the local firm would be a subcontractor for the order.

The Air Force awarded the original contract to Partner Industries of America, Inc., a Chicago-headquartered firm, which subcontracted with Pierce Auto Body for the procurement.

Douglas A. Ogilvie, Pierce president, was out of the city today and could not be reached for comment.

No Details

However, a company spokesman said it had not received any of the details of the contract awarding but expected to within a few days.

It was disclosed that Pierce submitted its bid on the air force emergency-type fire vehicles about two years ago.

The main Pierce plant is at 315 S. Pierce Avenue, within recent years, the firm undertook an expansion when it purchased the former city garage on Spencer Street.

The company spokesman said the Air Force order would not require hiring additional personnel.

"We are geared to handle the project," he said; "It shouldn't take too long to fill the order."

He explained the vehicles are smaller than normal fire truck units and as used around airfields.

Assault Is Attempted By Burglar

A tall, young burglar who attempted to assault a young woman in a westside home early today is the object of a police search.

Two women were in the house when the man entered about 4 a.m., police said.

One woman said she was awakened when a man took hold of her hand.

She screamed, according to police, and the intruder fled into the living room, where her friend, a route 1, Black Creek woman, was asleep. He ripped the covers from her bed and made improper advances toward her, police were told. The man then fled through a front door, which was the apparent point of entry into the home. The door had been left unlocked.

The women described the intruder as being heavy set with dark hair.

This morning's incident was one in a long series of nighttime house burglaries in Appleton.

Indecent Pictures Case Bound Over

Transfer Expected to Another Court for Book Store Owner

Outagamie County Judge Nick P. Schaefer said this morning he has bound over, to the court, the case of an Appleton bookstore operator charged with possession and sale of obscene or indecent pictures.

Eugene Court, 43, 508 S. Walnut St., was scheduled to reappear this afternoon in County Court Branch 2. Schaefer is expected to transfer the case to another court for further proceedings.

The complaint against Court, operator of the Book Seller, 609 W. College Ave., was brought by Robert Schreiter, an Appleton businessman, who testified at a preliminary hearing April 16 that he bought three $2 picture magazines, which he considered objectionable, at Court's store.

Submit Arguments

Schaefer, following the hearing, continued the case so the district attorney's office and Court's attorney could submit written arguments on points of law regarding obscenity cases. Schaefer said he also needed time to examine the books in question.

Schaefer, in a three-page written decision today, said that based on his examination of the magazines and based on Schreiter's testimony at the hearing with respect to the books, he was satisfied there was sufficient probable cause to warrant a bind-over.

Defense Claims

Court's attorney maintained that the state, during the hearing, had not met the burden of proof in that there was no introduction of evidence regarding requisite intent on Court's part, and no evidence that the books were obscene pursuant to a 1956 U. S. Supreme Court decision.

That decision states that in order to be classified obscene, the material in question must be utterly without social value, must be patently offensive and beyond contemporary community standards, and the dominant theme of the material as a whole must be appeal to prurient interests.

Court, who has not yet entered a plea, is free on bond. Another bookstore operator, Thomas A. Hamm, 25, Clintonville, is scheduled to appear in County Court Branch 2 Friday afternoon on two charges of possession and sale of obscene or indecent pictures.

The alleged offenses occurred April 19 and April 21 at The Book Nook, 902 W. Wisconsin Ave., which Hamm operates.

Knuth Decides To Stay With School System

Business Affairs Director Reverses Decision to Resign

In a move more surprising than his resignation, William Knuth, director of Appleton public school business affairs, has agreed to stay with the system, it was learned Monday night.

Kenneth Sager, board of education vice president, indicated the board and Knuth had agreed informally on Knuth's staying. His resignation was to become effective June 30.

Knuth has been director of business for 14 years at Appleton but had turned in his resignation in December, citing personal reasons.

Sager noted that Knuth and the board were satisfied with the informal agreement. Knuth's personal affairs have been straightened out and the board of education had found it extremely difficult to find a qualified man at a reasonable salary to replace him, Sager said.

Sager also noted that Knuth would have come under certain new state requirements for his position, if he had left the system. He, in effect, never left the system because he is still under contract and will be offered a new contract in June, Sager said.

Knuth, who is working closely with City Finance Director David Champion to revamp the school budget process, was paid $14,195 in 1968.

Warren Must Probe Conradt Bill Charges

Huckstering Claim Under Senate Fire

BY TIM WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The state senate today called on Atty. Gen. Robert W. Warren to begin an investigation of the charges by Assemblyman William Rogers, D-Kaukauna, that "modern day huckstering" has taken place in the backing of a bill authored by Assemblyman Ervin Conradt, R-Shiocton.

Pushed by two co-authors of the Conradt bill, the resolution also states that those who signed the bill with him had no knowledge of the involvement of material mailed by the head of the statewide association to all electricians and electrical contractors in the state.

The material called on them to pay from $10 to $25 a head to the Wisconsin Electricians and Electrical Contractors Association in an effort to be exempted under a "grandfather clause" from a statewide licensing law proposed by the Conradt bill.

Official Opinion

The resolution offered by Sens. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, and Chester Dempsey, R-Hartland, asks Warren to issue an official opinion as to whether Rogers' charges will support the prosecution of any person or persons for unethical or illegal lobbying.

Under the Lorge resolution, which passed unanimously after some Democrats tried to slow it down for drafting corrections, Warren is called upon to prosecute any person found to be breaking the law in backing the Conradt bill.

Conradt has admitted that he has had some contacts with Howard Hazen, formerly of Manawa, the executive director of the association, but claims that he is the victim of a "political smear" by Rogers.

In a letter sent to Warren last week by Rogers and six other Democrats, it was said that "there is a strong implication that a fellow legislator has joined in this effort to collect monies from these people who do not fully understand the legislative process."

The authors of the letter did not specify to whom they referred in making that charge.

Lorge and fellow co-authors of the bill repeated during the fiery 40-minute debate today that Conradt has been the victim of a smear.

Rogers meanwhile released a

Youth Driving Car In Fatal Crash Failed to Yield

The driver of a car involved in an April 25 accident that killed two women this morning pleaded no contest and was found guilty of failing to yield the right-of-way.

Donald Schwister, 17, route 2, Black Creek, was ordered to attend traffic safety school. Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer continued the case to Aug. 15 for sentencing.

County authorities charged Schwister after his car struck another auto at County Trunks E and EE, near Freedom, about 2:25 a.m. April 25.

Killed in the crash were Mrs. Alfred Hass, 47, route 3, New London, and her daughter, Mrs. Roger Kitzman, 23, route 1, Kaukauna. They were in a car driven by Mrs. Kitzman's husband, Donald Schwister, who was alone in his car, suffered minor injuries.

Keuler Quits as Director of Public Works Department

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Public Works Director Frank Keuler confirmed his resignation today as head of Appleton's largest municipal department to accept a position with a Minneapolis-headquartered firm.

His announcement comes on the heels of a disclosure last week that Donald C. Bengs, assistant director of public works, will retire this fall — leaving the city with two key positions to fill.

Keuler, who is getting $14,800 annually as works director, submitted his resignation to Mayor George Buckley on Friday.

Read on Monday

However, the mayor had left the city for the weekend and did not read the letter until returning to his office Monday.

Buckley, after conferring with other city officials and several aldermen, asked Keuler to reconsider his resignation on the basis that the city was prepared to give him a $3,150 salary increase, which would have the position paying $18,000 as of June 3.

Keuler, whose resignation becomes effective June 13, will reportedly receive $18,000 a year with American Pipe Co.

Better Opportunity

In a meeting with Buckley this morning, Keuler said he had given consideration to the city's latest salary offer but had made his decision to shift from the municipal government field to private employment.

"I have been thinking about making the change since January because of the opportunity the position with American Pipe affords me," commented Keuler, who will be 42 years old this spring.

"If I was going to make a change, I felt now was the time to do it," added the Kiel native. Keuler has been with the department for 10 years and in December, 1966, was appointed works director to succeed Robert Bues.

Keuler, a civil engineer and graduate of Marquette University, was city engineer when appointed by Buckley to the public works director post.

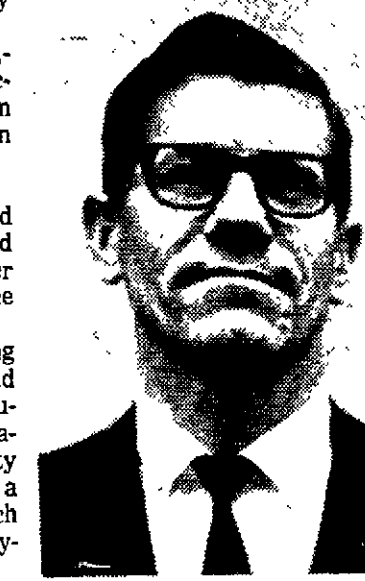

'Loss to City'

"Frank's departure represents a tremendous loss to the city, and a personal loss as far as I am concerned," Buckley said this morning.

"I know he is underpaid for the major responsibility he has and the job he has done for the city of Appleton," Buckley continued. The mayor said that was why he obtained tentative approval of a major salary increase in hopes of retaining Keuler.

Keuler is the second public works official here to be

Appleton School Board Says Morgan Site Not for Sale

Building Sought as Site for Apartments for the Elderly

The Appleton Board of Education has no intentions of giving up the Morgan Administration Building, 120 E. Harris St., unless an adequate substitute facility is found.

Board members voted unanimously Monday night to keep Morgan for their administration offices, maintenance services and supplies storage. They made it clear they would not spend any school funds for a replacement.

The question arose when it was revealed that a Milwaukee firm, Towne Realty, indicated an interest to purchase the 1.7-acre site, apparently for high-rise apartments for the elderly.

Leon Jensen, chairman of the Appleton Housing Authority, indicated in a letter to Charles Buchanan, board president, that a meeting was scheduled Thursday in the mayor's office to discuss Towne's proposal.

Board Could Stay

Jensen wrote that Towne would be willing to buy the Morgan site "with the reservation that the school can remain standing until such time as the school board finds facilities to move their administrative offices, which I understand to be in 1971."

Jensen indicated that Mayor George Buckley, Dan Tishbrge, Towne president, A. A. Tannenbaum, of Tannenbaum Associates, Milwaukee City Atty. David Geenen, Jensen and Buchanan would be present.

Buchanan said that he had, in the past, told Jensen and others that the board's interest "was that we have adequate facilities for our administration." After the board's action, he questioned whether there would be any purpose for him to attend the meeting.

He was asked to attend and come back with a report to the board.

Leery of Proposal

Several board members indicated they were leery about giving up Morgan.

Ronald Roberts questioned where Jensen got the idea the Morgan Building, recently remodeled for administration offices, was going to be vacated in 1971. He noted the board has

Car Crashes Into 2 Large Windows

Donald L. Kappell, 27, 1209½ N. Oneida St., escaped injury early today when his car crashed through two large plate glass windows at the Laundrette Self Service Laundry, 813 W. College Ave.

Police said the 1966 auto, which was angled parked, lunged forward when Kappell started the engine. The auto rammed through windows 74 by 60 inches and 76 by 60 inches.

Police said it appeared the accident resulted from transmission trouble, because the car would not move backward.

Speaker Warns Taxpayers

More State Taxes May Retard Business

BY TOM TORINUS

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

A new state tax increase will stunt economic growth in Wisconsin, a Milwaukee businessman told the Appleton Taxpayers Association Monday night.

Instead of a tax increase, the money should be invested in business expansion, R. J. Marcus, director of community and employee relations of General Electric Co. X-ray department, said.

He spoke to about 150 members of the taxpayers group at its annual meeting at the Columbus Club.

Spending Increase

Marcus pointed out that Gov. Warren P. Knowles has proposed a state spending increase of over 40 per cent in the next two years, while economic growth in expected to slow down from over 9 per cent to about 8 per cent.

He said Wisconsin's potential for business growth has been aided by its high level of educational achievement and clean government.

"The fact remains that Wisconsin pretty generally has had an unfavorable reputation so far as taxes are concerned," he said.

The economic climate started to improve with the tax revision of 1961, which started the sales tax and flattened out income taxes in the lower brackets, Marcus said.

Trend Reversed

Increases now in either individual or corporate taxes would be "very unfortunate," reversing the trend and making the structure more unfavorable to business, he said.

The state is highest in the nation in income taxes for the $5,000 and under bracket, second in the $5,000 to $10,000 group and third in per capita individual income taxes, he pointed out.

Wisconsin is fifth highest in terms of corporate income taxes per capita.

Marcus said that 3.4 per cent of Wisconsin individual taxpayers paid 33 per cent of state income taxes in 1967.

The 3.4 per cent probably represent the major control over investment, he said, and "it probably would be understandable if these taxpayers hesitated to spend more of their money in Wisconsin, particularly if the individual income tax is increased, as has been proposed."

Can Be Controlled

"From the standpoint of Wisconsin's competition with other states, it is necessary to emphasize that taxes and governmental costs are factors that can be controlled. Nothing can be done about the location of the state, the size of the labor force, the availability of materials, or proximity to market," he observed.

Marcus lauded the efforts of local taxpayer groups which pressure government to operate more efficiently and of the Public Expenditure Survey, a Madison-based, non-profit organization which provides information and analyses to taxpayers.

In addition, he urged businessmen to make constant and consistent efforts to inform their employees of the economic and government issues of the day.

Social Good

Private enterprise also must act as a force for social good outside of its own immediate realm, he said. Improved relations with intellectuals, the clergy, educators, investors, politicians and the community as a whole were stressed.

Such relationships will work to wipe out the factors which are "pushing the nation toward statism," he contended.

"Government should do only those things that citizens cannot do for themselves through

Plans Approved for New Neenah High

NEENAH — The Neenah school board Monday night passed the point of no return when they approved the design concepts for the new west high school proposed by Shaver and Company for a 176,800 square foot facility.

Donald Shepard, board president, said, "After we approve this, any changes we want to make are going to cost us money."

With the board's approval, John Shaver and Robert Osmund returned to Salina, Kan., today to give engineers the green light to start working drawings.

Sanitation Employees' Proposal

NEENAH — A 13-page proposed labor agreement between the city and its 31 street and sanitation workers was submitted Monday calling for increased pay, insurance, vacation and minor working conditions changes.

The proposal was submitted by Marvin DeVries, representing General Drivers and Dairy Union Employees, Local 563, which was chosen as the bargaining agent for the city workers.

Teamsters Local

The initial meeting, held Monday at city hall, did not involve negotiations. The Teamsters local presented its proposed contract to the city council's finance committee for review and bargaining sessions will be set up after the committee has had time to review the proposal.

The street and sanitation department workers have been without a contract since Jan. 1, pending a Wisconsin Labor Relations Commission election to choose a bargaining agent.

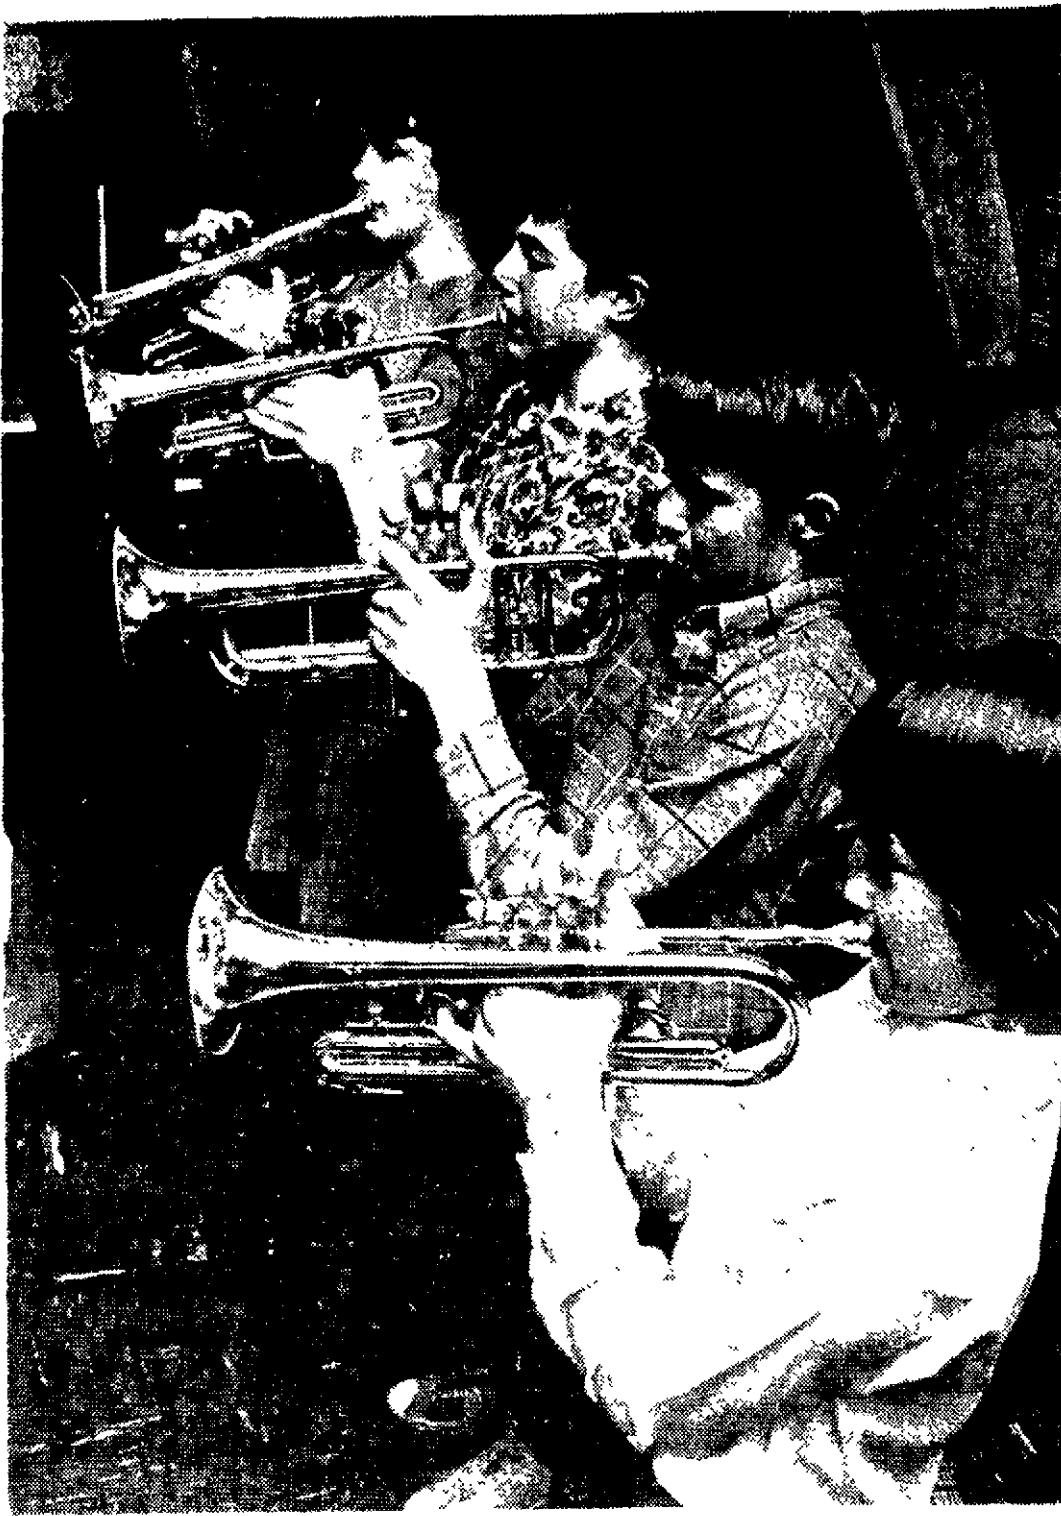

Points of proposal include a change from a monthly salary to an hourly rate, overtime pay, holiday pay, vacation improvements, meal allowances during emergency situations, sick leave and increases in city payment of life insurance.

Minor Damages In Two Car Fires

The Appleton Fire Department was summoned to two car fires Monday evening. Minor damage resulted.

The first call was at 6:40 p.m., to Mason and Oklahoma Streets. The fire, in a car owned by Lyle Metz, 1716 N. Oneida St., was out on arrival of firefighters.

The second call was at 7:40 p.m., to Memorial Drive and Fifth Street. Damage was to a car owned by George Krupka, 614 W. Fifth St. Both fires resulted from engines backfiring through carburetors.

Backs Cities

Townsmen Not Pleased With COG

NEENAH — Lack of co-operation and lack of decisiveness in decisions unpopular with cities were cited by Town of Menasha officials as two of their major complaints with the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG).

The town's complaints were formally aired Monday night at the first of three informational hearings scheduled by a special study committee appointed by the town board to investigate whether the town should continue its membership in COG.

In response to questioning by Veldor Kopitzke, study committee vice chairman, town officials, primarily Town Chairman Roland Kampo and Town Clerk Robert Jacobs, said they wanted COG to:

- "Recognize town government like cities and villages;"
- "Stand back of their convictions;"
- "Keep politics out of their decisions;"
- "Attend town board"

Kampo repeated his earlier complaints that COG is controlled by the cities who are out to destroy the towns.

COG won't stand up to the cities, Jacobs complained. Town Supv. Frederick Miller added, "whatever the cities want, the cities get."

They cited instances to support their claims of city control of COG.

Kampo said town plans for Calumet Street were tabled at the request of Appleton after having been supported by the state.

Kampo Sides With School Board?

NEENAH — Roland Kampo backing a school board? The outspoken Town of Menasha chairman sided with the Appleton Board of Education in a budget dispute with the City of Appleton.

The town was notified Monday of action taken by the City of Appleton last week to require the Appleton Joint School District to have its budget format approved by the city and to file preliminary budget work sheets with the city finance director.

Kampo said he questioned the right of Appleton to tell the school board how to make

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bigfire, 1985 Velp Ave. He was dead on arrival at a Green Bay hospital.

Brown County police said the accident happened just before noon at the rear of the Bigfire residence, where the backyard abuts with the river.

Bruce Barlament, 17, 2315 Velp Ave., saw the youngster's body floating in the stream, retrieved it and carried him to his home while a friend, Perry Lampa, 18, 1686 Westfield Ave., called an ambulance.

Both boys said they had seen young Bigfire playing five minutes before Barlament discovered the body in the water.

Badger Quarry Under Attack By Petitioners

Blasting Operation Again Target of Neighborhood Foes

MENASHA — The Badger Highways Co. quarry is once more the object of neighborhood objections, this time in a petition to Rep. William Steiger and Mayor John Klein, asking "that something be done" about the quarry.

David A. Meyer, 728 Eleventh St., brought the petition to the Menasha School Board Monday night, claiming that blasting at the quarry threatens nearby Gegan Elementary School with flying debris and ruptured gas mains and foundations.

Five Demands

The petition suggests that either the quarry can "pull out and relocate," or Badger Highways can meet a list of five demands by the petitioners.

Meyer's back yard abuts quarry property.

The school board referred the claims about danger to Gegan School to the properties committee, for discussion with the architect and school faculty and principal to investigate the validity of the claims.

Rubbish Fires

In a letter attached to the petition, Meyer also referred to rubbish fires creating unpleasant odors in the area of the quarry, a portion of which is city-owned dump. He said a rodent problem is "spreading very rapidly." The resident also wrote of the uncertain effectiveness of discipline in keeping children away from the quarry pit.

The letter to Steiger and Klein, also expresses fear of blasting posing dangers to homes in the area. The letter also complains of "a two strand (sic) barbed-wire fence, which is half broken down, and in no way can keep the children from crossing over or under."

Consultant Called in for Fieldhouse

NEENAH — Architects Shaver and Company are calling in a special field house consultant to make sure they can design the facility planned for Neenah West high school to get maximum efficiency from the 38,367 square foot building.

Preliminary field house designs, submitted to the board of education last night, met some roadblocks, when officials learned it would seat only 3,700.

Robert Osman, a Shaver associate, said, "We are bringing in at our own expense, an expert in field-houses to make sure we make the best use of the space we have available."

Donald Shepard, board president, challenged the small seating capacity, pointing out that a large seating capacity was one of the things the board has requested.

One of the featured attractions is expected to be the American Legion Blatz Band, Milwaukee, which not only will march in the parade, but will present an evening concert on the library grounds.

Coffin holds a bachelor and master degrees from the University of Northern Iowa. He presently directs the university jazz and percussion ensembles and the marching band.

Snoker also received his bachelor and master degrees from the University of Iowa.

Stahura is a graduate of Ohio State University and received his masters and doctors degrees from the University of Indiana. He also performed with the Air Force Stage Band. "The Men of Note"

Town Roads Near City Dump To Get No Truck Signs

MENASHA — Town of Menasha roads around the City of three dozen no trucking signs but did not pass a no trucking ordinance.

At the same time, the board learned that cost of operating the town dump is running about twice as much as expected.

Jacobs said there was enough money in the dump budget for about two more months of operation.

However, Jacobs indicated income from the dump would offset the higher operating costs.

The Elks Face a Test

Normally the doings of organizations such as the Appleton Elks Lodge are completely private matters, of little or no interest to others in the community. It is perhaps a sign of the times, and of conditions within Elksdom itself, that such is not the case with respect to the vote to be taken at Tuesday's lodge meeting regarding the "Whites Only" clause in the national Elks constitution.

Last month the Appleton Elks, to their credit, voted to take a stand for repeal of the archaic restriction. But for technical reasons the vote must be taken again, and this time a two-thirds majority is needed, which will be difficult to attain.

We are sure many Elks were shaken to find that language openly espousing racial discrimination existed in the laws of their lodge. Belief in "superior" and "inferior" races held sway for so long in this country, and was so all-pervading in the fabric of our society, that only recently have we come to realize what a sickness it was. Thus there could exist the irony of an organization awarding prizes to high school students for essays on "Americanism" and at the same time refusing membership to Americans whose skins happen to be black. It is a page right out of Sinclair Lewis.

Thus when the Elks vote Tuesday night, it will be more than simply a private action taken within the walls of a private lodge. The reputation of their community, to say nothing of the lodge itself, will be riding on their actions.

Another Credibility Gap on ABM?

Supporters of President Nixon's proposed Safeguard ABM system were not helped by the news that the estimated cost of the system did not include a rather important item — the nuclear warheads for the antiballistic missiles.

Undersecretary David Packard had told the Senate foreign relations disarmament subcommittee that a "fully equipped" Safeguard system on all 12 proposed sites "would come to an investment cost of about $6.6 billion" over six to seven years. But those "fully equipped" missiles would not have warheads, or at least the cost of them were not added into the proffered figures. The explanation by the Department of Defense is that the warheads come under the Atomic Energy Commission and are listed and provided for in the A.E.C. appropriations.

The A. E. C. estimates the development of production of warheads for Safeguard at about $1.2 billion which would make the total bill for Safeguard in the neighborhood of $7.8 billion to over $8 billion.

Certainly, if this were not planned deception, it was a careful oversight, and does nothing to encourage confidence in the figures of the Pentagon, almost always underestimated in any case, or the determination of the Department of Defense to give the whole picture to Congress and the American public.

It further raises questions about Secretary Melvin Laird's assurance to the American Society of Newspaper Editors that all systems had been tested except one minor one. Actually the warheads to be developed for the long-range Spartan missiles and the short-range Sprint interceptor missiles that would be used in Safeguard have not had underground testing and the tests of the thermonuclear warhead for Spartan are not expected until 1973.

And there continues to be criticism from scientists about the reliability of the Minuteman missiles themselves which Safeguard is supposed to protect from outside attack. The costs of production of the warheads is also in doubt, as estimates range between $500,000 to $1 million per warhead. The number planned of course is classified information.

If there is anything that the American people and Congress inherited from the Johnson Administration, it is resentment of double talk and something less than full information on military costs and programs. Are we in for another communications gap?

Hickel's Right on Micronesia

Secretary of the Interior Walter Hickel is touring the Pacific Trust Territory of Micronesia. For some time there has been criticism of American failure to improve living conditions in the islands.

After World War II the United Nations designated Micronesia a "strategic trust" under American authority. The President appointed a governor for the islands.

A plebiscite of the islanders has been scheduled for 1972 on whether the Micronesians want to keep their ties to the United States on a permanent basis. Secretary Hickel apparently would like to have the plebiscite earlier and encourage the Micronesians to prefer to have a greater voice in their government.

It is a vast and varied territory. There are some 2,141 small islands spread over more than 3 million miles of the Western Pacific. Only about 100 of the islands are large enough to have a population and the total number of Micronesians in the territory numbers about 91,000. Japan was given a mandate over the islands by the League of Nations in 1922 and it also did very little to improve conditions.

If political conditions in Japan make it necessary within the next few years for the American air base on Okinawa to be abandoned or considerably reduced in size with no nuclear carrying planes based there, the Trust Territory could become significantly important. The United Nations trust permits the United States to establish military bases in the area.

Secretary Hickel is on sound ground in preferring that the Micronesians have a greater voice in their government. Relations with the Micronesians would be much better if we do establish bases on the islands if they have given their own clear approval.

Hair Splitting on Segregation

A most notable case of hair splitting is the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's decision about black studies program at Antioch College.

The college will lose federal aid, the department pointed out, if students in any program are excluded because of race, color or national origin. But the director may exclude any student for whom the black studies program might not be "relevant" because of his background.

Actually Antioch has had for years a program of "inner colleges" in specialized fields and the directors have had the authority to evaluate applicants and determine whether or not to accept them. Practically all colleges and universities have prerequisites of an academic nature for upper level courses.

But it seems that "relevance" of background to the black studies courses may be that of growing up in a Negro neighborhood, which is pretty much the same thing as deciding upon applicants because of race or color.

The basic problems remain. Completely separate black studies departments and facilities will only serve to promote segregation and maintain a double standard as to requirements for a degree.

New York's 'Blip Blip' Campaign

One of the brighter campaigns of recent years was the unsuccessful one of William F. Buckley for the office of mayor of New York. This year's contest may be just as colorful.

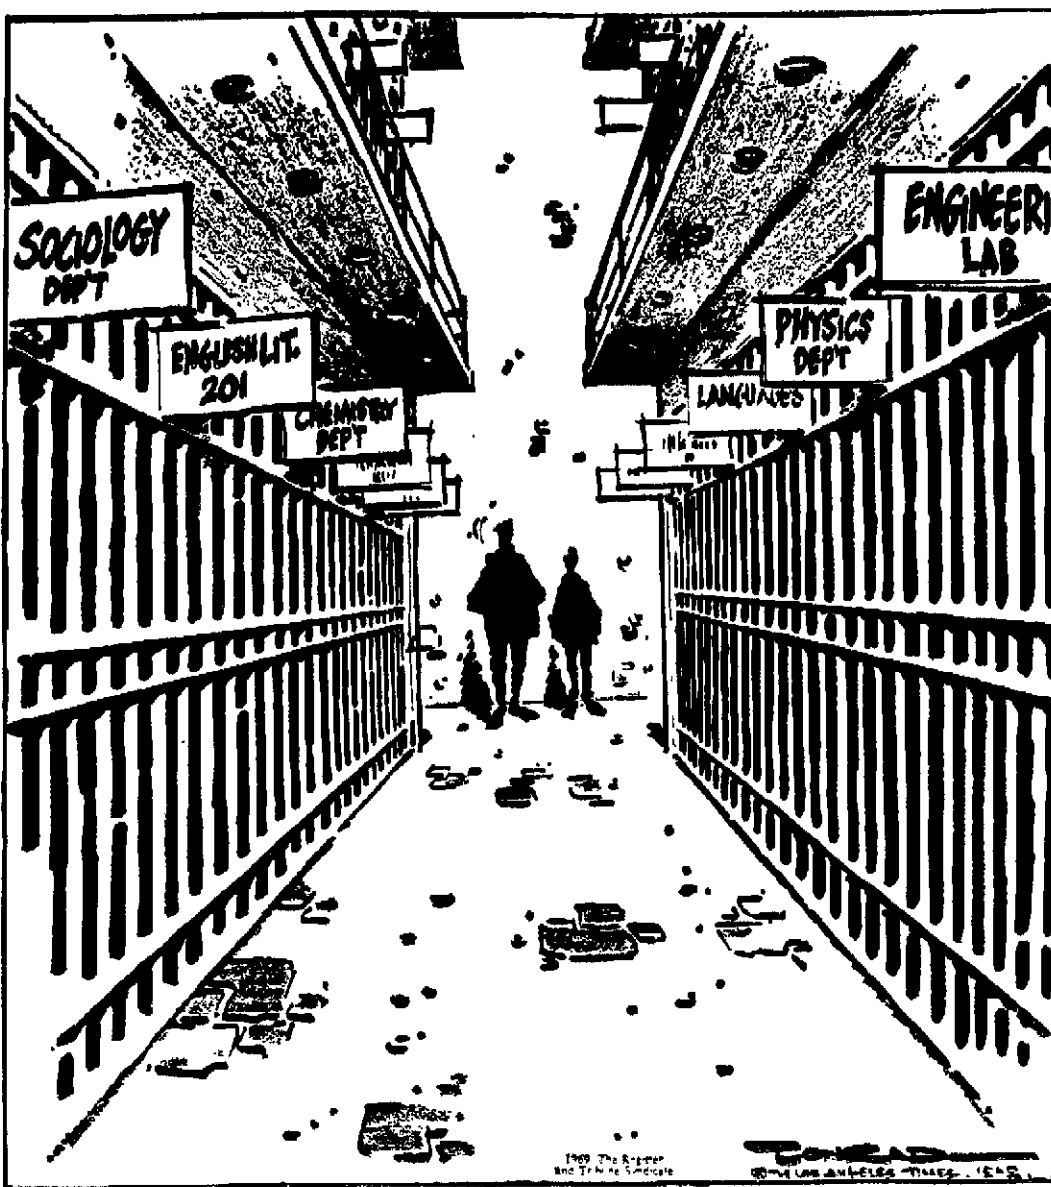

Norman Mailer, the novelist, is running for mayor and his running mate for the office of city council president is Jimmy Breslin, former columnist for New York newspapers. Their staff includes a couple more authors and newspapermen.

Unfortunately their "simple slogan"

includes one of the eyebrow raising four letter words that is not likely to be printed except in the Village Voice and underground student newspapers. And Mr. Miller concedes that on television it will come out as "No More Blip-Blip."

The number of candidates has forced one aspirant out of the race for an office because he said "politics this year at least is not a gentleman's game."

Which should be news to no one.

But the qualities that can

a stalemate on fundamental social and political questions.

Given that enormous backlog of inaction, it fell to the Supreme Court to break long-standing deadlocks on such highly enflamed issues as racial segregation, legislative apportionment and criminal justice. In all of these difficult matters, the court came down basically on the right side. It is very hard to imagine—indeed for me it is impossible—how any group of educated men could have endorsed manifest inequities for Negroes, urban voters and prisoners.

WHIMS BRING REACTION

Decisions on these vexed questions of public policy inevitably aroused hostility to the court among certain groups—notably Southerners, rural politicians and law enforcement officials. Moreover, if these enemies were made by the matter thrust upon the court, still other enemies were made by the manner in which the court did its business.

For the fact is that, during recent years, opinions often seemed to flow more from the social and political preferences of the justices than from the impersonal authority of precedent and the Constitution. In one reapportionment case, for example, Justice William Douglas wrote: "The conception of political equality from the Declaration of Independence to Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, to the 15th, 16th and 19th Amendments can mean only one thing — one person, one vote."

Legislative Machinery Stymies Action During Early Part of Session

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Those who have the feeling that the 1969 Legislature is operating at a leisurely pace are quite right.

The average member is spending two nights a week in the capital city, arriving on Tuesday mornings for a typically brief session in each house, having morning sessions on Wednesday with committee hearings on the afternoon of that day, attending another house session on Thursday morning, and departing for home in the afternoon. Typically he reaches home in time to return to his private business or profession on Friday.

There are exceptions. Some committees have greater work loads than others and may require two or more meetings a week. The leadership corps in each house and in each party is required to spend somewhat more time in Madison. And the legislative Joint Finance Committee has spent many full weeks, and more, in the difficult struggle to pare bills must be reported out by the Joint Finance Committee and that body is not disposed to take up miscellaneous expenditure bills until it has disposed of the general appropriations bill.

There is shown something about the politics of the times in the fact that non-fiscal bills are comparatively few, so few that both houses can maintain their calendars in fair condition in mid-May, with a time investment of about two and one-half days a week per member.

Typically, a new bill will involve a plan for spending some money.

Typically, therefore, it cannot be considered at once, with the result that many of the members of average rank and seniority find the early months of the session as tiresome for lack of something to do, as they find the last weeks hectic and enervating because they will be in their chambers for eight to 10 to 12 hours daily, and perhaps five or more days a week.

CHANGE COMING?

It is such irregularity of the legislators' work load, and the conflict with his private concerns in business or employment, that is more likely to push the state into an annual budget program than any academic arguments about the virtues or lack thereof.

Budget-making is likely to become more difficult as time passes, and it will become an ever greater inconvenience in the smooth scheduling of legislative deliberations and decisions.

The conservative critics of the annual budget idea are probably quite right when they worry out loud that it will bring a tendency to spend more of the people's tax dollars. In that respect it is like insurance rating. The higher the exposure, the higher the cost.

With the annual budget is likely also to come the full-time legislature, in name if not in literal fact. There is no more reason to suppose that the legislative machinery that was adequate a quarter of a century ago, when the state government was spending a tenth of what it spends today, will be adequate for today's circumstances than to assume that Congress, as an example, can handle its work in the short annual sitting of a generation ago.

Wyngaard

appropriations requests down to what it believes will be a more manageable level.

But on the whole, the Wisconsin legislator thus far cannot complain about overwork.

MACHINERY INFLEXIBLE

This is not to say that he arranged it that way or even that he wants it that way. Mostly, as a guess, the legislators would prefer to spend an extra day in Madison now and to recess or adjourn at an earlier time.

But they are caught in the inflexible machinery of the system. The rules provide that no measure having any fiscal consequence with regard to state affairs can be considered in either house — short of an emergency — until the biennial budget bill has been enacted.

That puts hundreds upon hundreds of measures beyond the reach of the Legislature, in a very real sense, for the first five or six months of each biennial session. All such

Opposite Names Used To Label Our Problems

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It can hardly be a verbal accident that most of our major "problems" are called by exactly their opposite names.

We have the so-called "youth" problem — which is not a problem of youth at all, but a problem of older age; they are asking us to become, and quickly, more rational, more flexible and more humane. For there is little youth can do about the world until we change.

The same is largely true of the "Negro" problem — which, as every open-minded person knows, is a "white" problem. All it takes to solve it is a 45-degree turn in the attitude of most white people.

If that could happen, 90 per cent of racial conflict would disappear overnight.

The "poverty" problem falls in the same category. It is not a problem of the poor, for most of them did not willingly put themselves there and cannot do much about their plight. It is a problem of the more affluent finding room in our society for the less fortunate who are virtually powerless to help themselves.

Then we have the universal "war" problem, which is really a "peace" problem. As Hannah Arendt said recently, large-scale war has now become inconceivable, because it can no longer effect political change.

But nations have not found — because they have not looked for — any genuine substitute for force in international affairs, and so the concept (and the threat) of war persists in the world, hanging over us like a cloud that can deluge the entire globe, rendering "victors" and "victims" equally devastated.

We call diseases by their symptoms. Youth rebellion is a symptom of adult apathy. Black militancy is a symptom of white bigotry. Poverty is a symptom of maldistribution of income and opportunities. War is a symptom of power-driven anarchy among nations. And many people merely want to suppress the symptoms, falsely imagining that thereby they are getting rid of the disease, when they are only making it worse.

Confucius said that the good

state must begin with the right use of words — because if we call things by the wrong word, then we are blinded by our verbal delusions and cannot take realistic steps to correct the evils in society. Justice must end in deeds, but it must start with the proper use of words.

And even the word "problem" is not the right one to describe the troubles in each of these areas. They are "deficiencies," like the deficiency diseases, and must be nourished by our loving concern, or any systematic "solution" is bound to fail.

'Pink' Drink Gets Nod

SARATOGA, Calif. (AP) — Credit for picking a name for a new American wine goes to — of all people — President Charles de Gaulle of France. De Gaulle refused to allow a rose wine from California wine maker Paul Masson to be sold in France under the French-sounding name "rose," insisting that the label read just plain "Vin Pink." So recently, in searching for a catchy name for a new rose wine to be marketed in the United States, the winery decided to call it just plain "Pink."

Realignment Represents Big Step Toward TV Equality

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP) — The pro football realignment for 1970 was a major step toward equalizing the television packages that Commissioner Pete Rozelle will try to peddle this summer. The National Conference, including 13 of the current NFL teams, still will have the edge in top television markets with seven of the top 10. However, it shares two of them (New York and San Francisco-Oakland) with the new American Conference, which will be seen in five of the 10.

Bob Brown Happy to Be Traded to Rams

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bob Brown now is a happy man, which means there'll be plenty of unhappiness for the Los Angeles Rams' opposition. "I'm a sixth season with the Eagles, so estate I can hardly find words to describe my feelings. ... I just feel great," the 27-year-old All-National Football League offensive tackle said Monday after the Philadelphia Eagles traded him to the Rams in a five-player deal. Along with the 6-foot-4, 295-pound lineman, often called the best in the business, the Eagles sent cornerback Jim Nettles to the Rams in return for tackle Joe Carroll, guard Don Chuy and defensive back Irv Cross. The Eagles reacted quickly after Brown told them Monday morning he wanted to be traded. He had given General Manager Pete Retzlaff a trade-or-else ultimatum. Personal Reason Brown said his refusal to play was "personal," but he wouldn't elaborate. "I have no intention of airing my grievances," Brown told newsmen after talking to Retzlaff, a former teammate. "I want to leave without recriminations, just as quietly as possible." Retzlaff said he was "very pleased with the trade ... and I guess Bob is."

Cubs' Jenkins, Cardinals' Gibson Record Victories

St. Louis Ace Has Perfect Night at Bat

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bob Gibson had a perfect game, but he won't go down on the list with Don Larsen, Jim Bunning and Sandy Koufax. The reason is simple—Larsen, Bunning and Koufax pitched their perfect games; pitcher Gibson batted his. The St. Louis ace collected three singles and a walk in four times at bat Monday night as the Cardinals defeated Los Angeles 6-2.

In the only other National League games, Pittsburgh edged San Francisco 4-3 and Chicago topped San Diego 2-0. "I've had four hits in a game before, but I don't think I ever had a perfect night," Gibson said. "I should remember something like that, but I don't."

The 33-year-old right-handed, hitter, who has hit one home run in each of the last two World Series, started his perfect game with a single in the third.

Walks Huntz In the fourth, Claude Osteen intentionally walked Steve Huntz with two out, loading the bases, and Gibson followed with a two-run single, increasing the Cardinals' lead to 3-0.

The pitcher led off the seventh, with a single and scored, then walked in the eighth and stole second.

"Anytime they play behind me, I'm going to run," said Gibson, referring to the first baseman Ron Fairly's playing off the bag. "I don't believe in that stuff about being four runs ahead and you play nice. Four runs isn't that much of a lead."

It was for him, though, as he scattered seven hits for his fourth victory against two defeats. He also tied a major league record in the seventh inning when he struck out three Dodgers on nine pitches.

Willie Davis homered for Los Angeles in the eighth. The Pirates rallied for two runs in the seventh, tying the Giants 3-3, then won in the ninth on Al Oliver's run-scoring single.

"We don't get paid for extra innings, and I don't like them," said the rookie, whose hit drove in Richie Hebner. Also a rookie, Hebner had Turn to Page 5, Col. 1

Jack Wohlt to Coach New London Gridders

NEW LONDON — Two varsity coaching assignments were made Monday by the board of education. Jack Wohlt was named head football coach and Russell Wirnseberger varsity wrestling coach. Wohlt was assistant to Ken Biegel last year, while Wirnseberger replaces Don Zahn, varsity coach the last four years. Wohlt was a standout at Weyauwega High School in the early 1960's and quarterbacked the Stevens Point State University varsity for two seasons. In his final year, he came back after a serious accident.

Last year was his first in the New London School system. During this season, he was assistant football coach and is presently junior varsity baseball coach.

Wirnseberger is a graduate of La Crosse State University. He did not coach wrestling last season but was varsity football coach at Crandon High School.

He was varsity wrestling coach at Hartland-Arrowhead High School four years and coached one year in Colorado.

Pilots Post 8-4 Win

Elbows, Fists Fly as Yankees Go Down to 13th Loss in 15 Games

BY DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

After two weeks in headlong retreat, the New York Yankees have stopped running and started fighting back—from a horizontal position.

The powder puff Yankees, floored by a seven-run Seattle salvo in the first inning Monday night, countered with a flurry of elbows, fists and body blocks before bowing to the Pilots 8-4 for their 13th loss in the last 15 games.

Bobby Murcer, one of the few Yanks who hasn't lost his punch, socked a two-run homer in the first inning and decked Seattle shortstop Ray Oyler with a rolling slide in the third, touching off a mass melee at second base.

Embattled Manager Ralph Houk shoved an umpire after the brawl was over and got himself tossed out of the game along with Murcer and Oyler.

Drew Warning Relief pitcher Fred Talbot drew a warning from Umpire John Rice for knocking down Seattle hurler Marty Pattin in the bottom of the third and catcher Frank Fernandez almost triggered another donnybrook in the fourth by bowling over Pilots' receiver Gerry McNertney on a play at the plate.

While the Yanks and Pilots battled at Seattle, the California Angels scraped past Washington 3-2 at Anaheim in the only other game on the American League schedule.

Tommy Davis' three-run double off Al Downing, who had walked the first three batters he faced, keyed Seattle's first-inning spree. Jose Vidal's triple and singles by Pattin and Tommy Harper helped the Pilots rake reliever Mike Kechich for four more runs and a 7-2 lead.

Murcer, whose ninth homer deluge, came up again in the third and was brushed back by a Pattin pitch. He then singled to right and tried to stretch the hit, bowling over Oyler at second base. Oyler made the tag and then came up swinging. Murcer fought back and both benches emptied.

Throwing Elbow "He came in throwing an elbow," Oyler said after the game. "That's no way to play baseball."

"I had no intention of starting anything," Murcer said. "He jumped me, then I jumped him. Then everybody was on top of both of us. I don't think anyone really got hit, and I don't think there's any hard feeling now."

After the scuffle broke up, Houk stood toe-to-toe with umpire Russ Goetz and argued that Oyler had dropped the ball in the collision at second. Goetz, who had just thrown out a senior umpire, had to step between them before escorting Houk to the dugout.

Talbot low-bridged Pattin with two out in the Pilots' third, drawing a warning from Rice, and when Fernandez piled into McNertney in a futile attempt to score in the fourth, players streamed off both benches.

But no punches were thrown. Turn to Page 7, Col. 1

Lawrence '9' Cops Twin Bill From Carleton

Roger Hildebrand Gets 5 Extra Base Hits in Two Games

The Lawrence University baseball team capped off the 1969 spring season by taking both ends of a doubleheader from Carleton College, 10-8 and 3-2 at Whited Field Monday afternoon.

The first game went seven innings and the nightcap was decided in the last of the eighth when Roger Hildebrand drove in the winning run for the Vikes.

With the victories, Lawrence closed the campaign with a 4-4 record good for third place in the Northern Division of the Midwest Conference. St. Olaf took the crown with a 6-1 mark and Ripon was second with 6-2. Carleton closed with a 3-5 mark and was the only conference team to score a win over the Oles.

In the regular season, Lawrence had record of 6-7 and added seven losses in a spring trip through the south against big-school competition, the overall mark was 6-14.

Hildebrand was the standout for the Vikes in both games as he had three-for-four with two doubles and a triple in the first contest and was two-for-three with a double and triple in the nightcap.

Bob Townsend was the winning pitcher for the Vikes in the first game, but needed relief help from Jeff Reister who allowed only one hit over the last two frames.

Jon Tittle went the distance for Lawrence in the second tilt and allowed only six hits while walking four and striking out four. Jerry Kaminski drove in all three runs in the game including the winning hit as he drilled a long single after Hildebrand tripled in the last of the eighth.

Entirely New Team Badgers' Coatta Sees Sophomores Playing Key Positions This Fall

By BOB GREENE
MADISON (AP)—Sophomores will be counted on heavily to lift Wisconsin's football fortunes next fall—sophomores with skill, savvy and speed.
Coach John Coatta's Wisconsin Badgers wind up spring practice this Saturday with an intersquad game that promises not to be all out. The entire grid staff of Oklahoma, Wisconsin's first opponent next fall, will be in the stands scouting the Badgers.
"Maybe we can surprise a few teams who remember only the 20 games we've gone through without winning any," Coatta said. "Lack of experience is going to hurt us early, but we have talent now that we haven't had in some time."
The Badgers have lost 19 games and tied one in the past two seasons. This fall, Wisconsin will have its work cut out for it as the Badgers meet, in order, Oklahoma, UCLA and Syracuse before starting Big Ten play.
What Badger fans will see, however, will be almost an entirely new team, especially offensively.
No. 1 Quarterback
"Neil Graff is my No. 1 quarterback as of now," Coatta said. Graff is a 6-foot-2, 190-pounder from Sioux Falls, S.D. Behind him is another sophomore-to-be, Rudy Steiner, 6-2, 210, from Iron Mountain, Mich.
"They are bigger and stronger than other recent Wisconsin quarterbacks and they can do more things," Coatta said. "But Lewis (Ritcherson, a senior) is pushing them."
Their targets will include veterans Adolph (Ike) Isom, Mel Reddick and Jim Mearlon and a newcomer, Al Hannah.
A 6-4 end, Hannah has been one of the bright spots of the drills this spring. Not only has he been an adept receiver, but he knows what to do with the ball after he catches it. He had one TD reception of 60 yards in a recent scrimmage.
After the running back spots, Coatta has both speed and power.
The speed is exemplified by Greg (Grape Juice) Johnson, a 6-1, 190-pound scatback from East St. Louis, Ill. He has run the 100-yard dash in 9.7 seconds.
"He's improving," Coatta said.
Little Slower
"Earlier this spring, Grape was a little slower. He had been bothered by a sore heel."
At fullback, Coatta, in the last year of a three-year contract, has the pleasant choice of calling on either Al Thompson or Larry Mialik.
Thompson scored five touchdowns in last week's scrimmage. Yet the 215-pounder from Dallas, Tex., was only the game's second leading ground gainer. That honor went to Mialik, a Clifton, N.J., product.
Lisle Blackburn, former Green Bay Packers coach, was impressed at a practice session.
"Those men are going to make a lot of yards this fall," he said of the two fullbacks and Johnson.
Elsewhere, the picture may not look as bright, but still is promising.
"We aren't going to be deep in offensive linemen, but I think we have some who can do the job," Coatta said. "Don Murphy and Brad Monroe have looked good at guard and we have Mike McClish, Elbert Walker, Mike Smolcich and Jeff Kreger at tackle and Jim Nowak or Jim Fedemia at center."
Junior Transfer
McClish, a junior college transfer last year, is a "mere" 260 pounds, which is smallish next to Walker's 290. And Walker is another of those sophomores-to-be.
Veterans aren't completely out of the picture either. Coatta has praised the spring work of defensive tackle Nate Butler, defensive tackles Bill Gregory and Jim De Lisle and his veteran ends, Isom and Reddick.
But it's this year's freshman crop that has lifted Coatta's spirits.
"We are going to have more young people in critical areas next fall," he said, "but even so, we are going to be a better football team."

four hits in the game, including a un-scoring triple in the seventh. He now is the second leading hitter in the league with a .392 average.

With .198 Average, 'Hawk' Not Much Help to Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Hopes that Ken Harrelson would lift the Cleveland Indians out of their slump have not been fulfilled as he tries to break out of a slump of his own.
The Indians had only one victory in nine games in their worst start in years when they acquired the 1967 American League runs batted in champion from the Boston Red Sox in a six-player swap April 19.
Acquisition of the Boston slugger caused a surge of hope in the breast of many a Cleveland fan, and Manager Alvin Dark stated that Harrelson is the kind of guy who "can take this team and turn it right around."
Sixteen games later the Indians have a 4-21 record for an incredible .160 average, and the Hawk is battling to climb out of a slump during which his batting average has dropped 41 points.
One Homer
Harrelson came to the Indians with a .239 average and now it is down to .198. He has had seven hits, including one homer, and four runs batted in, in 45 at bats since donning a Cleveland uniform.
The Hawk says the team slump bothers him more than his own.
"If the team was winning, it wouldn't bother me," Harrelson said Monday night as the Indians, who were idle Monday, prepared to take off for Kansas City. "When they're losing ... that makes it doubly hard to take."
"I'm working as hard as humanly possible to break out of the slump."
When this happens, you've got to work hard."
A club aide confirmed that Harrelson has been taking so much extra batting practice he developed blisters on his hands.
"He had to wear two batting gloves in a game the other day the blisters were so bad," publicist Ed Uhas reported.
"Maybe another week and I'll be out of it," Harrelson said hopefully.

Cubs 10 Over .500 Jenkins Notches First Home Victory of '69

By JOE MOOSHIL
CHICAGO (AP) — Chances for Ferguson Arthur Jenkins to record a third straight season of 20 or more pitching victories improved considerably Monday.

The lanky Canadian who toils in a Chicago Cub uniform finally won a game at home as he blanked the San Diego Padres 2-0 on a yield of five hits.

Jenkins, the only Cub pitcher to put together back-to-back 20-game seasons since Lon Warneke accomplished the feat in 1934 and 1935, heaved a sigh of relief in boosting his record to 5-2.

"If a guy wants to win 20 games it's a heckuva lot easier if he wins some at home," laughed Jenkins who fanned 10 Padres and makes no bones about not liking to pitch in Wrigley Field.

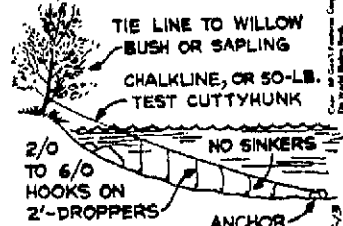

"Let's face it," said Jenkins, "there's a lot of pressure when you work in this park. Anything hit good is gone. You make one mistake and the ball is out of the park. You make two mistakes and you're dead."

Jenkins doesn't exactly fear Wrigley Field.

You Can't Relax
"No, I don't mean anything like that," said Fergie. "It's just that it's tough in low scoring games and even with a good lead you can't relax. You can be pitching good but then there's a walk, an error, a fluke hit and

Longden Gets Valuable Tips Exercising Majestic Prince

By GORDON BEARD
BALTIMORE (AP) — Trainer Johnny Longden can't get any information straight from his horse's mouth. But he picks up valuable tips sitting on the back of Majestic Prince.

"I guess I have a little edge by working my own horse," Longden said of the Kentucky Derby winner who goes after his second leg of the Triple Crown in Saturday's $150,000-added Preakness at Pimlico.

"By exercising my horse, I can tell by his actions when something is bothering him," said the former jockey, who won a record 6,032 races. "Then I can use my own judgment instead of relying on someone else. I get my information first hand, because I'm always there."

Longden recalls Majestic Prince once acted a bit sluggish during a workout at Santa Anita and a subsequent check showed he had a temperature of 102 degrees.

Unbeaten Colt
Right now, Longden reports Majestic Prince is coming up to the 1 3/16-mile Preakness in fine shape, but the trainer still appears to be on the defensive about his unbeaten 3-year-old colt.

Bruins Trade Eddie Shack To Los Angeles

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins have traded wingers Eddie Shack and Ross Lonsberry to the Los Angeles Kings for forward-defenseman Ken Turlik and the club's first amateur draft choices in 1971 and 1973.

The National Hockey League deal was announced Monday night.

Turlik, 24, plays either right wing or defense. In 71 games with Springfield of the American League last season, he scored 22 goals and had 23 assists.

Shack, 32, played the past two years with Boston. This past season, sidelined by an injury for 26 games, he scored only 11 goals.

Shack came to Boston in 1967 from Toronto in a trade for Murray Oliver and an undisclosed amount of cash.

Galli Called Top Prospect

UW Pitcher Has Given 1 Earned Run
In 27 Innings

MADISON (AP) — Lon Galli shot a 94 Sunday at Odana Golf Course in Madison.

Saturday he pitched 11 innings of shutout baseball against Michigan State for the University of Wisconsin.

Galli may never be a professional golfer, but Milt Bruhn, his baseball coach, thinks he has the potential to be a major league hurler.

The Big Ten statistics on the young sophomore from Manitowoc bear out Bruhn's assessment. Galli has given up only one earned run in 27 innings for a Big Ten earned run average of .033.

His won-lost record for the season is 3-3 on a team that is 10-14 for the year.

Galli was recognized as a major league prospect when he was compiling a 17-3 record during three seasons at Manitowoc High School.

Tryout Camp
In the summer of 1967 he went to a tryout camp the Pittsburgh Pirates had in Green Bay.

"I never heard from them," Galli said. "But I'd still love to play big league ball."

Bruhn thinks Galli has a good chance of fulfilling that wish. "I should say he's major league material," said the former Badger football coach, now coaching the ailing Dynie Mansfield.

"He's going to get a lot stronger in the next two years," Bruhn added. "And he's very effective at keeping hitters off stride."

Another Try
Arts and Letters and Top Knight, fifth-place finisher in the Derby, will be back for another crack at Majestic Prince.

Both Longden and Ray Metcalf, the trainer of Top Knight, think the top 2-year-old of 1968 will turn in a better performance this time.

"I expect him to do better," Longden said, "but he ran a good race in the Derby."

"I think you'll see a different horse," Metcalf said. "The track in Kentucky was harder than he likes. This track has more cushion."

Fight Erupts As Yankees Lose Again and there were no further incidents as Patten breezed to his fifth victory against one loss and the Yanks stumbled to their fifth straight setback.

Jay Johnstone drove in one run with a sacrifice fly and set up another with one of his two doubles, leading the Angels past the Senators, who have dropped six in a row.

Tom Murphy picked up his third victory in four decisions with eighth inning relief help from ageless Hoyt Wilhelm.

Bears Sign Don Davis, Giants' Second Draft Selection in 1966

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears today signed as free agents three players, including a 280-pound tackle who was No. 2 draft choice of the New York Giants in 1966.

Don Davis, 6-foot-6 offensive lineman, played 14 Giant games in 1966 and then was sidelined two years by a knee injury.

The trio also includes quarterback Tom Kennedy, also from Los Angeles State, an emergency quarterback for the Giants in 1966, and receiver Joe Wynns, all-Continental League star at Indianapolis last year.

SPORT FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW by John Behnke

Many people aren't aware of a fantastic baseball record achieved by a man who's been a pitching coach the last few years, John Sain... Everywhere he goes, the team he works for wins the pennant! Sain was pitching coach for the Yankees in 1961, 1962 and 1963 and they won the flag each year... Then, he went to work for the Twins in 1965 and they won the pennant... Then, he joined the Tigers — and last season they won the pennant!

Now that Mickey Mantle has retired, here's an oddity about his career... Although he batted over .300 in the majority of seasons he played, his lifetime batting average wound up under .300!... Mantle's lifetime average finished at .298.

What's the hardest sport to play?... Bill Russell, coach of the Boston Celtics, has an interesting reason why he thinks the answer to that question is basketball... Russell was quoted as saying that to play basketball you need the speed of a sprinter, the endurance of a mile-runner, the strength of a football player and the coordination of a baseball player.

I bet you didn't know the new Hart Schaffner & Marx tropical suits are here, sizes to 50.

The win enabled Omro to boost its record to 6-0 in the league race. The Irish fell to third place with a 4-2 mark.

Benvenuti Rematch Next Griffith Unanimous Winner Over Hayward

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Good fight, Emile," said middleweight champion Nino Benvenuti of Italy.

"You'll fight me, Nino?" but stronger since I fought asked Emile Griffith.

"Sure," replied Benvenuti.

So it looks like a fourth middleweight title fight is in the works between the two arch-rivals, probably for September in New York although nothing is on paper today.

Griffith earned the shot by coming from behind to beat cut-prone Stan "Kitten" Hayward of Philadelphia on a decisive, unanimous 12-round decision at Madison Square Garden Monday night.

But it took a cut over Hayward's left eye in the fifth round to open the gates for the 3-1 favored Griffith's victory.

Hard Right

Hayward, who had outpointed Griffith in Philadelphia last Oct. 29, had rocked the former welterweight and middleweight champion with a stunning right to the jaw in the fourth round and was outboxing the grim New Yorker at this stage.

But when the wide cut on the Kitten's left eyebrow was opened in the fifth and blood streamed from the gash, Griffith took charge and dominated the fight from then on.

Referee Arthur Mercante and judge Tony Castellano each had Griffith the winner in rounds 8-4 while judge Johnny Dran had it 9-3 for Griffith. The Associated Press card had Griffith in front 8-4.

"It was Griffith all the way,"

Coveted Watson Foundation Grant
LU Senior Looks Ahead to Study Abroad After Winning Fellowship

BY DON VORPAHL
Of Lawrence University
Recipient of a coveted fellowship in American academic circles is Howard Sell, Appleton, senior at Lawrence University. The fellowship is bestowed by the Thomas J. Watson Foundation and will enable Sell to spend a year in Europe and particularly Spain studying contemporary theater.

Another Lawrence senior, Ronald Broomell, Minocqua, is also a recipient of a Watson grant. He is a music major.

A relaxed, unsophisticated type, Sell is realistic about why he was chosen and what he expects to accomplish. He says, "I don't plan on going to Spain and publishing something after a year. Anyone who plans to do significant work in literature the year after his B.A. at Lawrence or anywhere else is silly."

Happened Just Right
But, he reflects, his proposal to the Watson Foundation was the "new kind." It had some open ends and some alternatives,

Land Grant Provision
State Law Requires
UW Military Training

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON The forceful statement of the University of Wisconsin regents in backing the continuance of voluntary military training programs in the system tied the refusal to bow to protester demands directly to state law.

"We could not drop Reserve Officer Training Corps programs if we wanted to, not only because of the Morrill Land Grant Act, but also because of the Wisconsin statutes," UW President Fred H. Harrington told his regents as they passed the resolution backing the program.

State law, as interpreted by past attorneys general, is plain in its requirement that the UW offer such a military science program, on a required or elective basis, said Harrington.

The Morrill Act of 1862 gave to states then loyal to the union land for agricultural schools, but required the teaching of such programs as one of its conditions.

gram with a required six weeks orientation lecture program totaling six hours for freshmen.

Student protests over the mandatory nature of that program led to its abandonment, and the decision to switch to voluntary orientation lectures during summer months as a part of the process entering freshmen follow to enroll.

Student activists are maintaining that the university campus cannot maintain any connection with the military.

First Wisconsin Charge Card.

Six major benefits.
Four are free.

The other two can give you a lot of budgeting flexibility (if you want it).

The basic purpose of your First Wisconsin Charge Card is to provide you with extra shopping convenience at no extra cost.

First of all, your Charge Card is exactly what it says it is. It helps you get what you want, now, just by saying "charge it." It costs you nothing to get a Charge Card and it needn't cost you anything to use it. When you do use it, it gives you 25 days of free credit beyond your billing date. (There are circumstances when you could have as much as eight weeks before your payment is due on a purchase.)

Secondly, your card is honored at more than 13,000 Wisconsin retailers. It gives you charging convenience at many places where you wouldn't ordinarily have a charge account. You can be low on funds, but still take advantage of special bargains that you'd otherwise have to pass up.

Thirdly, your card is welcome not only in the area in which you live, but wherever you travel in Wisconsin—at a great variety of places, including gift shops, gasoline stations, restaurants, clothiers, sporting goods stores, and dry cleaners, to name a few. (And now you can apply for "Interbank" privileges, too, so your card can be used nationally.)

Fourthly, no matter how many places you use your card, you get just one monthly bill. You make out just one check for all your Charge Card purchases. It saves you a lot of time and work in keeping track of bills and payments.

Now—two valuable features that are not free, but are very useful.

One is the convenience of being able to budget your payments over the months. But even then, your cost is less than that of most "revolving" charge plans. You pay only 1% per month of your average daily balance, plus a 25¢ service fee. Your payments can be as low as $10.00 per month, or 1/20 of the amount billed, whichever is greater.

Then there's the "instant cash" feature that lets you borrow up to $250 or more on your Charge Card at over 160 Wisconsin banks. You simply let the teller know your needs, sign a receipt and walk out with money in your pocket. There's no faster way of getting money when you need it in a hurry. An initial charge of $1.00 is made for each cash advance. Then your cost is just 1% per month on the unpaid balance plus a 25¢ service fee.

Start enjoying Charge Card benefits, now.
Altogether, your Charge Card brings you a lot of convenience and choice and budgeting flexibility that you can't get any other way.

If you're not already a Charge Card holder, apply now. Fill out the coupon and send it to us, or pick up an application form at any participating merchant or sponsoring bank.

Police Promise to Abide by Findings

MENASHA — When a fact-finder issues his recommendation for settlement of the pay and benefit dispute between police patrolmen and the city, it will be with a promise by the policemen to abide by his recommendation, but without a similar pledge by city officials.

Roy E. Rollins, president of Menasha Professional Police-men's Association Local 34, told factfinder Gordon Haferbecker during Saturday morning sessions at the city office that the police group will abide by Haferbecker's recommendations.

Such recommendations are advisory only, and are not legally binding on either party. The city, represented by Ald. Sumner Parker, chairman of the common council finance committee, steered clear of making an offer similar to Rollins.

During the factfinding session, Haferbecker heard statements from both Rollins and Parker. Several members of the police association and Mayor John Klein and Police Chief Lester Clark also were present.

Neither side has offered an estimate of the percentage increase over present pay and benefits that would result if current police demands were met fully by the city. At one point, parties on opposite sides of the months-old dispute had estimated that the city was offering a 7.75 per cent boost and policemen were demanding 8.88 per cent.

January Estimate That estimate was given during January, at the first of two meetings of both sides and a representative of the Wisconsin Employment Relations Commission (WERC) who had come in response to a police request for factfinding.

Negotiations reopened after the session and police bargaining. The policemen's association is asking for increases they believe to be comparable to other Fox Valley communities. Be-

Annexation of Homes May Start Soon

NEENAH — Annexation proceedings for the homes west of U.S. 41 which are under orders to correct their septic sewage systems, could start this week according to Gaylord Loehning, the attorney hired to handle the home owners' problems.

John Kennedy, county sanitary inspector, had issued eight orders to home owners in the four block area north of Cecil Street and West of U.S. 41 met fully by the city. At one point, parties on opposite sides of the months-old dispute had estimated that the city was offering a 7.75 per cent boost and policemen were demanding 8.88 per cent.

Loehning said he is waiting for an official city map before he starts annexation proceedings. Kennedy told the home owners if they followed through on their intentions to annex, he would hold off on enforcing the orders.

Brother Paul Ostendorf, principal at Xavier High School, was caught "speechless" as students surprised him Thursday morning at the conclusion of a student council assembly by presenting him with a $1,200 check for use in the school's summer improvement project. Presenting the check is David Gage, student council president, who explained that the students felt they also should contribute to the building project. (Post-Crescent Photo)

NMB Picks Successor To Douglas F. Graves

NEENAH — The 32-year-old Waukesha, Wis., will take over as president of a Waukesha bank NMB's president and chief executive officer on June 1.

Graves resigned the Neenah director of the National Manufacturers Bank of Neenah to succeed Douglas F. Graves, who has resigned.

Thomas J. Prosser, president of the Marine National Bank of Waukesha, has been with The Marine Corporation for seven years. He was appointed president of the Waukesha bank in June, 1967. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, where he earned his bachelor's degree in 1958, and the UW's Graduate School of Banking in 1968.

Prosser started with the Marine Corporation in 1962 as a trainee and moved to the Waukesha bank as an assistant vice-president in the commercial loan division.

He has been active in banking association affairs and is presently a member of the Bank Management Committee of the Wisconsin Bankers Association and of the Agricultural Committee of the American Bankers Association.

Prosser was a Waukesha Chamber of Commerce director; Agricultural Committee of the Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce, vice chairman; and treasurer and director of Halfway House of Waukesha, Inc., a private post mental illness rehabilitation agency.

The Marine Corporation, the second largest bank holding company in Wisconsin, in addition to the Neenah and Waukesha banks, is comprised of 11 other banks throughout Wisconsin.

Body of Second Man Recovered

OSHKOSH — The body of Richard Nelson, 25, 144 John St., Neenah, who disappeared while on a duck hunting trip with his father last fall, was found Sunday afternoon in Lake Winnebago, about a mile from where his father's body was found April 13.

The pair had gone duck hunting on Lake Poygan last Oct. 27 and their capsized boat was found the next morning after a storm on the lake.

Nelson's body was found floating near the Blue Wing Resort by Brian Smoot, son of the resort owner, about 3:30 p.m.

Nelson's father's body had been found near the Lakeside Marina on the Wolf River. Both bodies were about five miles from where their boat had been found.

Not Using Its Power or Creative Talents University's Task to Maintain Order on Campus

Most campus administrations have not "used the power they hold all federal funds from have nor the creativity they schools where order is not need to show in handling the problems of campus disorders," according to sixth district Congressman William Steiger.

Steiger made the statement after a talk before the 200 delegates attending a Saturday luncheon of the United Council General Assembly at Oshkosh State University.

Steiger said "order has to be maintained" on campuses and that "changes will not come through the use of violence."

"A university administration must live up to its obligation" to keep order on campus, or else "society will step in and act," he told the delegates during an hour-long question and answer period.

The assembly was made up of delegates from student governments of all nine Wisconsin state universities.

Steiger decried violence saying it was "counter productive." He noted the University of California at Berkeley as an example of violent demonstrations that can change a "free university" into one with "more rules than almost any other major state university in the country."

"The same will happen here if we don't recognize that change can take place without violence and that changes must be sought not just by the minority, but by all concerned students," he said.

Steiger, a member of the house education subcommittee currently conducting hearings on student unrest, said he was against a strong federal role in academic affairs.

He said he favors legislation to withhold federal aid to students convicted by a court for participation in a violent campus demonstration, but said he was against legislation to withhold all federal funds from schools where order is not maintained.

He said questions need to be raised on the federal government's role in education. "We need to ask what the federal government has done to help structure the institutions we have today and whether this is a cause of some of the problems we are having," he said.

Steiger also told the students he is "convinced that there will be, in the next few years, the strongest move towards a voluntary army that this country has ever seen."

He said the Nixon Administration is committed to the idea of a voluntary army to replace the current selective service system.

He also said there was a need for more federal efforts "to help those who have been outside of the mainstream of American life," and that more money will be spent in the years ahead to fight the urban crisis and "reverse the migration from rural to urban America."

He said the present welfare system has "exacerbated the whole urban problem" by encouraging migrations from the South, where welfare payments are low, to northern cities like New York, where welfare payments are higher.

Firemen's Group to Meet Volunteer Safety League's Quarterly Talk to be at Brillion

BRILLION — The Volunteer Firemen's Safety League, founded here in 1936 by the city's current fire chief, Oscar Beilke Sr., will have its quarterly meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at Horn Park Pavilion.

George McDonald, Milwaukee, state firemen's instructor, will talk on fighting flammable liquid fires and aircraft fires.

When the league was founded there were 12 department members. Its current 40-department membership encompasses the entire Fox Valley and as far north as Algoma.

The group's purpose throughout its 33 years has been to better train men in firefighting.

Beilke said. Efficiency with fire equipment and fire prevention work are stressed.

Current Volunteer Firemen's Safety League officers are Don Gerhart, Town of Buchanan, president; Harold Kallross, Luxemburg, vice president; Maurice Hardy, Ashwaubenon, secretary, and Eugene DeBruin, Kimberly, treasurer.

Police Duck Rescues Two Disabled Craft

MENASHA — The police department's rescue Duck was called upon to make two trips to rescue disabled craft over the weekend.

A 33-foot launch owned by Betty Ann Kollmans, West Allis, was towed to Valley Marine Mart after being reported stranded about a mile from the Menasha channel of the Fox River, in Lake Winnebago, at 3:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Duck pulled a 26-foot sailboat owned by Jack Martin, 1615 Orchard Drive, Appleton, off a mud bank in Little Lake Butte des Morts Sunday about 6 p.m., along the west shore near Stroebe's Island. An adult and three youngsters were aboard.

Greatest Honor, Ronzani Says of Testimonial Dinner at Home Town

BY LEE REMMEL
Post-Crescent News Service
IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich. — "This is by far the greatest honor ever bestowed upon me ... from the bottom of my heart I want to thank each and every one of you."

Deeply moved, as only a man who has recently flirted with death can be, it was Gene Ronzani expressing humble appreciation to old friends and neighbors for the sellout civic salute tendered him here Saturday night.

Ronzani's quiet, heartfelt response climaxed a folksy sentimental evening full of warm accolades to the Iron Mountain High School and Marquette University athletic immortal who went on to stardom with the Chicago Bears, and later became the second head coach of the Green Bay Packers.

Turning the tables before a capacity crowd of 300 persons, at the Immaculate Conception Hall in the heart of his native North Side, Ronzani paid tribute to the men who had come to honor him — former Bear teammates Joe Stydahar and George Musso, athletic director emeritus Con Jennings of Marquette University; the greatest star of his Packer coaching tenure, Tony Canadeo; and the Packers veteran trainer, Carl (Bud) Jorgensen.

Man Slugged in Store Robbery Is Back at Work

CLINTONVILLE — Charles J. Gretzinger Jr., is back at work today after being struck on the head Saturday night by a heavy-set man, who took about $800 from the IGA Supermarket, 10th Street.

It was reported Saturday night that Gretzinger suffered a mild concussion and may have to be hospitalized.

City police reported this morning that there were no new developments at this time.

Capt. Willard Wied, city police department, reported a man, carrying a red lunch bucket, came into the store shortly before the 9 p.m. closing time and asked for a money order. As Gretzinger was helping the man in the store office he was slugged with a blunt instrument. While Gretzinger was on the floor in a dazed condition the assailant grabbed the money, much of it in small bills, from an office drawer, and fled.

Presents Trophies

And, in a unique gesture of gratitude, he presented each fan in attendance a five-inch dated trophy, as a souvenir of the occasion. Each read "Gene Ronzani appreciation night, May 10, 1969."

Earlier, at a reception in his honor at a local motel, the 60-year-old former Bear quarterback quickly confided, "I don't think anything as wonderful as this has ever happened to me, except the day I signed as head coach of the Packers ... it's a memorable day."

Trim and natty in a blue suit and a blue flowered tie Ronzani showed no ill effects of the open heart surgery he underwent eight months ago, and declared, "I've been feeling real good."

"I take a few pills," he added philosophically. "But the type of pain I feel now is not as severe as the kind of pain I used to have before the surgery."

"I have people talk to me who have the same illness, and I tell them they can't be operated on too soon. The percentage of success is 93 or 94 per cent now. These doctors are so clever, I can't say enough for them."

"Before I had my operation I was gasping for breath. My heart would be pumping hard and I would be gasping. Now I feel 98 per cent normal. If I watch my fluids and my diet, I will be all right."

Down to 135 pounds, from a peak of 271, Ronzani optimistically appended "Maybe I'll be able to go to Green Bay and see a game. I haven't seen a game there now in two years because of climbing the stadium steps."

"I saw the exhibition game against Pittsburgh at Milwaukee last August and I forgot my tablets ... I have an awful time. I didn't do to another game all season."

Fearsome Figure

Later, a testimonial dinner, he trekked down memory lane as the imposing array of speakers spun tales of the days when he cut a fearsome figure on the football field and basketball court, as well as in track and field.

Jennings, an alert senior citizen of 83, declared, "In all my years of coaching I have never met a more versatile athlete ... and not only a great athlete but a gentleman, a real Christian gentleman, and a good student."

Jennings presented Ronzani, the first nine letter winner in Marquette's history, with a plaque in recognition of his accomplishments.

Canadeo, who represented the Packer front office in the absence of president Dominic Olejniczak and GM-Coach Phil Bengtson, called his former coach, "the kindest man I've ever known, he's the kind of man the world needs more of ... when you need Gene, he is always there."

The erstwhile "Gray Ghost of Gonzaga" presented a plaque, which was inscribed to a "fine gentleman and a Loyal Packer fan," and a portable television set on behalf of the Packers, along with a card from himself and fellow Production Steel Co. Associates. Both Canadeo and Ronzani are employed in the company's sales department.

The massive Stydahar, a Bear teammate of Ronzani along with the immortal Red Grange, Sid Luckman and Bronco Nagurski, thanked him for "taking me by the hand when I was a lonesome boy from the hills of West Virginia as a rookie and making me feel at home."

U.S. Investment Fund Grows at Fantastic Rate

Payments Balance Helped by Selling Only to Foreigners

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Just a little more than two years old, the foreign-based U.S. Investment Fund now controls more than $250 million of American real estate. Its goal is to own $1 billion worth by this time next year.

All money for its investments comes from abroad, for the fund, sells only to foreigners. When it comes to buying, it buys nothing but American real estate.

"We're buying huge chunks of skyline," said Keith Barish, a young Miami, Fla., native who founded the fund and who now heads its management offices in London and in Nassau, The Bahamas. He wasn't exaggerating.

The fund's diverse properties include buildings such as the 28-story Harbor House apartments in Chicago, the LTV tower in Dallas, a garden apartment in Mill Valley, Calif., a shopping plaza in Rockford, Ill. ...

Among its holdings are 71 established, income-producing properties in 25 metropolitan areas, 20 states and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico. Some day, fund spokesmen say, they hope to own property in every state.

Balance of Payments

To assure a welcome, they remind Americans in the towns they visit that each purchase helps improve the U.S. balance of payments position.

Shortly after Barish founded the fund as a vehicle for foreign investments in the American economy, he was joined by Rafael Navarro, a pre-Castro Cuban diplomat, and today they are partners in Gramco Ltd., the fund's manager.

As their fledgling enterprise sold its story to Latin Americans and then to Europeans, other associates were beginning to lend assistance, among them several former associates of President John Kennedy.

The growth was phenomenally swift. The fund seemed to sponge up idle holdings of professionals, businessmen and other foreigners interested in American real estate. The fund had to find properties equally fast.

Need Salesmen

"Our ability to sell the fund is limited now only by our ability to attract more sales people," said Barish recently as he stopped briefly on his way to Europe. Already 700 associates sell the fund in 55 nations.

Last month, he said, this sales force sold $15 million worth of shares, a figure double the amount collected in the entire year of 1967.

This puts a pleasant type of pressure on Amprop, formerly American Properties Management, a Miami-based subsidiary. Amprop finds and manages property for the fund, and in so doing is modernizing some ancient methods.

"Most of the properties we buy are not usually for sale on the open market," said Barish. "Signs just don't go up in the windows of quality office buildings and shopping centers. These places must be sought out."

Search for Buys

Last week Amprop sent a caravan of experts to Cincinnati—"a city on the move," as one member said—where they spent three days with building owners and real estate executives.

Similar trips are planned to Minneapolis, San Francisco, Philadelphia and other cities. Last year, to give an idea of the distances traveled, eight staffers logged more than 100,000 miles each in search of buys.

When they find a likely property a team of analysts, accountants, leasing experts, structural engineers and attorneys swarm over the property.

With an assist from computers, the Amprop men often can transact business within two weeks. Such fast action in a business where deals are notoriously slow, Barish believes,

K-C Sets Date To Subscribe for Stock Purchases

NEENAH — The executive committee of the board of directors of Kimberly-Clark Corporation today set June 13, 1969 — or such later date as registration under the securities act of 1933 shall become effective — as the record date for a previously announced proposed offering of rights to subscribe for additional shares of common stock.

This also is the company's quarterly dividend record date.

In a letter to stockholders the company also said it anticipates the subscription period for the stock offering will extend for approximately 14 days, expiring on or about June 27.

The proposals calls for issuance to the company's stockholders rights to purchase one additional share of common stock for approximately each 10 shares held. The exact number of shares and the price per share will be determined just prior to the offering date and will depend on stock market conditions at the time.

The Elks Face a Test

Normally the doings of organizations such as the Appleton Elks Lodge are completely private matters, of little or no interest to others in the community. It is perhaps a sign of the times, and of conditions within Elksdom itself, that such is not the case with respect to the vote to be taken at Tuesday's lodge meeting regarding the "Whites Only" clause in the national Elks constitution.

Last month the Appleton Elks, to their credit, voted to take a stand for repeal of the archaic restriction. But for technical reasons the vote must be taken again, and this time a two-thirds majority is needed, which will be difficult to attain.

We are sure many Elks were shaken to find that language openly espousing racial discrimination existed in the laws of their lodge. Belief in "superior" and "inferior" races held sway for so long in this country, and was so all-pervading in the fabric of our society, that only recently have we come to realize what a sickness it was. Thus there could exist the irony of an organization awarding prizes to high school students for essays on "Americanism" and at the same time refusing membership to Americans whose skins happen to be black. It is a page right out of Sinclair Lewis.

Thus when the Elks vote Tuesday night, it will be more than simply a private action taken within the walls of a private lodge. The reputation of their community, to say nothing of the lodge itself, will be riding on their actions.

Another Credibility Gap on ABM?

Supporters of President Nixon's proposed Safeguard ABM system were not helped by the news that the estimated cost of the system did not include a rather important item — the nuclear warheads for the anti-ballistic missiles.

Undersecretary David Packard had told the Senate foreign relations disarmament subcommittee that a "fully equipped" Safeguard system on all 12 proposed sites "would come to an investment cost of about $6.6 billion" over six to seven years. But those "fully equipped" missiles would not have warheads, or at least the cost of them were not added into the proffered figures. The explanation by the Department of Defense is that the warheads come under the Atomic Energy Commission and are listed and provided for in the A.E.C. appropriations.

The A. E. C. estimates the development of production of warheads for Safeguard at about $1.2 billion which would make the total bill for Safeguard in the neighborhood of $7.8 billion to over $8 billion.

Certainly, if this were not planned deception, it was a careful oversight, and does nothing to encourage confidence in the figures of the Pentagon, almost always underestimated in any case, or the determination of the Department of Defense to give the whole picture to Congress and the American public.

It further raises questions about Secretary Melvin Laird's assurance to the American Society of Newspaper Editors that all systems had been tested except one minor one. Actually the warheads to be developed for the long-range Spartan missiles and the short-range Sprint interceptor missiles that would be used in Safeguard have not had underground testing and the tests of the thermonuclear warhead for Spartan are not expected until 1973.

And there continues to be criticism from scientists about the reliability of the Minuteman missiles themselves which Safeguard is supposed to protect from outside attack. The costs of production of the warheads is also in doubt, as estimates range between $500,000 to $1 million per warhead. The number planned of course is classified information.

If there is anything that the American people and Congress inherited from the Johnson Administration, it is resentment of double talk and something less than full information on military costs and programs. Are we in for another communications gap?

Hickel's Right on Micronesia

Secretary of the Interior Walter Hickel is touring the Pacific Trust Territory of Micronesia. For some time there has been criticism of American failure to improve living conditions in the islands.

After World War II the United Nations designated Micronesia a "strategic trust" under American authority. The President appointed a governor for the islands.

A plebiscite of the islanders has been scheduled for 1972 on whether the Micronesians want to keep their ties to the United States on a permanent basis. Secretary Hickel apparently would like to have the plebiscite earlier and encourage the Micronesians to prefer to have a greater voice in their government.

It is a vast and varied territory. There are some 2,141 small islands spread over more than 3 million miles of the Western Pacific. Only about 100 of the islands are large enough to have a population and the total number of Micronesians in the territory numbers about 91,000. Japan was given a mandate over the islands by the League of Nations in 1922 and it also did very little to improve conditions.

If political conditions in Japan make it necessary within the next few years for the American air base on Okinawa to be abandoned or considerably reduced in size with no nuclear carrying planes based there, the Trust Territory could become significantly important. The United Nations trust permits the United States to establish military bases in the area.

Secretary Hickel is on sound ground in preferring that the Micronesians have a greater voice in their government. Relations with the Micronesians would be much better if we do establish bases on the islands if they have given their own clear approval.

Hair Splitting on Segregation

A most notable case of hair splitting is the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's decision about black studies program at Antioch College.

The college will lose federal aid, the department pointed out, if students in any program are excluded because of race, color or national origin. But the director may exclude any student for whom the black studies program might not be "relevant" because of his background.

Actually Antioch has had for years a program of "inner colleges" in specialized fields and the directors have had the authority to evaluate applicants and determine whether or not to accept them. Practically all colleges and universities have prerequisites of an academic nature for upper level courses.

But it seems that "relevance" of background to the black studies courses may be that of growing up in a Negro neighborhood, which is pretty much the same thing as deciding upon applicants because of race or color.

The basic problems remain. Completely separate black studies departments and facilities will only serve to promote segregation and maintain a double standard as to requirements for a degree.

New York's 'Blip Blip' Campaign

One of the brighter campaigns of recent years was the unsuccessful one of William F. Buckley for the office of mayor of New York. This year's contest may be just as colorful.

Norman Mailer, the novelist, is running for mayor and his running mate for the office of city council president is Jimmy Breslin, former columnist for New York newspapers. Their staff includes a couple more authors and newspapermen.

Unfortunately their "simple slogan"

includes one of the eyebrow raising four letter words that is not likely to be printed except in the Village Voice and underground student newspapers. And Mr. Miller concedes that on television it will come out as "No More Blip-Blip."

The number of candidates has forced one aspirant out of the race for an office because he said "politics this year at least is not a gentleman's game."

Which should be news to no one.

Nixon Must Look Beyond Political Cohorts for Truly Great Justices

BY JOSEPH KRAFT

WASHINGTON — The painful case of Justice Abe Fortas is important chiefly because of its bearing on future appointments to the Supreme Court. For now more than ever the moral authority of the court is in question and requires enhancement.

But the qualities that can

redeem the court are qualities rare and fine — qualities that are in the true and little-used sense of the word, religious. And these unworried qualities do not find conspicuous expression in any of the men long close to the President who are now widely touted for appointment as justices.

Behind the present low estate of the Supreme Court there are manifold reasons that go well beyond anything Justice Fortas has done or not done. Most important of all, there was for two decades, at the federal, state and local levels and in both the executive and legislative branches, people's club at Memorial Presbyterian Church, Appleton. Other officers were Robert Favez, vice president; Miss Dorothy Farnum, treasurer; Miss Daisy Holtz, pianist; and Miss Lois Mielke, social chairman.

10 YEARS AGO
Monday, May 11, 1959.

Miss Sarah Brenzel, senior at Layton School of Art in Milwaukee, was to be the guest speaker at the Kaukauna Woman's Club program. Miss Brenzel was from Kaukauna.

Richard Sroda, formerly of Amherst Junction, shared first place honors with another photographer in a photography contest of the Illinois Press Photographers Association. He was a press photographer for the Moline, Ill., Dispatch and the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Sroda, Amherst Junction.

Planning the 15-year reunion of the class of 1944 of Menasha High School were Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. Sylvia Van Asten, Mrs. Robert Wieseler, Edward Moon and Frank Heckrodt.

a stalemate on fundamental social and political questions.

Given that enormous backlog of inaction, it fell to the Supreme Court to break long-standing deadlocks on such highly enflamed issues as racial segregation, legislative apportionment and criminal justice. In all of these difficult matters, the court came down basically on the right side. It is very hard to imagine — indeed for me it is impossible — how any group of educated men could have endorsed manifest inequities for Negroes, urban voters and prisoners.

WHIMS BRING REACTION

Decisions on these vexed questions of public policy inevitably aroused hostility to the court among certain groups — notably Southerners, rural politicians and law enforcement officials. Moreover, if these enemies were made by the matter thrust upon the court, still other enemies were made by the manner in which the court did its business.

For the fact is that, during recent years, opinions often seemed to flow more from the social and political preferences of the justices than from the impersonal authority of precedent and the Constitution. In one reapportionment case, for example, Justice William Douglas wrote: "The conception of political equality from the Declaration of Independence to Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, to the 15th, 16th and 19th Amendments can mean only one thing — one person, one vote."

Thanks to AHS-West For Concert

Editor, Post-Crescent:

We would like to take this opportunity to express our thanks to Appleton High-West, to Mr. Spangenberg and to the entire band for their performance last week in the annual guest artist concert.

It was a most enjoyable evening, and they have continued to put out excellent performances time after time. We know these concerts do not just happen without effort, and we owe the music director, Mr. Spangenberg, and the students our appreciation for their time and dedication in a job well done.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Manlove Appleton

Such indiscriminate assertions of sentiment, not to say whim, offended many thoughtful persons normally sympathetic to the court. Particularly in the law schools the court's lack of judicial restraint has made it an object of feelings verging on intellectual contempt.

LOOK BEYOND POLITICS

Comes now, on top of all this, the revelation of financial dealings between Justice Fortas and a foundation set up by the stock market operator, Louis Wolfson. It is a seedy business that can only damage the court — the more so as Justice Fortas was nominated by President Johnson to be chief justice and was ardently backed by many people pleased to consider themselves apostles of the court.

Already the know-nothings are seizing the occasion to launch murderous attacks on the court and the principle of judicial supremacy. Defending the court against these attacks is now a central responsibility. And it is against that background that the President must select replacements for Chief Justice Warren, who has resigned as of this summer, and other justices sure to step down in the near future.

The requirement in these circumstances plainly goes beyond mere honesty. Many of the worst of the know-nothings — for instance Sen Strom Thurmond of South Carolina — would pass that basic test.

The requirement is for persons of noble character, high-minded and philosophic, with feelings of reverence for the role of the Supreme Court and a deep sensitivity to the best qualities in our national life. That standard can hardly be said to be met by the worldly business and political lawyers long associated with the President and now widely noised about as possible appointments — Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, Secretary of State William Rogers, former Gov Thomas Dewey, former Atty Gen. Herbert Brownell, or the former president of the American Bar Association, Charles Rhyne.

The President can best help the Court, and add luster to his own record, by going outside the world of politics and business. His best bet is to look to the bench and such judges as Warren Burger, Carl McGowan and Henry Friendly or to the universities and such professors as Paul Freund of Harvard or Phil Neal of Chicago.

Legislative Machinery Stymies Action During Early Part of Session

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Those who have the feeling that the 1969 Legislature is operating at a leisurely pace are quite right.

The average member is spending two nights a week in the capital city, arriving on Tuesday mornings for a typically brief session in each house, having morning sessions on Wednesday with committee hearings on the afternoon of that day, attending another house session on Thursday morning, and departing for home in the afternoon. Typically he reaches home in time to return to his private business or profession on Friday.

There are exceptions. Some committees have greater work loads than others and may require two or more meetings a week. The leadership corps in each house and in each party is required to spend somewhat more time in Madison. And the legislative Joint Finance Committee has spent many full weeks, and more, in the difficult struggle to pare about the politics of the times in the fact that non-fiscal bills are comparatively few, so few that both houses can maintain their calendars in fair condition in mid-May, with a time investment of about two and one-half days a week per member.

Typically, a new bill will involve a plan for spending some money. Typically, therefore, it cannot be considered at once, with the result that many of the members of average rank and seniority find the early months of the session as tiresome for lack of something to do, as they find the last weeks hectic and enervating because they will be in their chambers for eight to 10 to 12 hours daily, and perhaps five or more days a week.

CHANGE COMING?

It is such irregularity of the legislators' work load, and the conflict with his private concerns in business or employment, that is more likely to push the state into an annual budget program than any academic arguments about the virtues or lack thereof.

Budget-making is likely to become more difficult as time passes, and it will become an ever greater inconvenience in the smooth scheduling of legislative deliberations and decisions.

The conservative critics of the annual budget idea are probably quite right when they worry out loud that it will bring a tendency to spend more of the people's tax dollars in that respect it is like insurance rating. The higher the exposure, the higher the cost.

With the annual budget is likely also to come the full-time legislature, in name if not in literal fact. There is no more reason to suppose that the legislative machinery that was adequate a quarter of a century ago, when the state government was spending a tenth of what it spends today, will be adequate for today's circumstances than to assume that Congress, as an example, can handle its work in the short annual sitting of a generation ago.

Opposite Names Used To Label Our Problems

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It can hardly be a verbal accident that most of our major "problems" are called by exactly their opposite names.

We have the so-called "youth" problem — which is not a problem of youth at all, but a problem of older age; they are asking us to become, and quickly, more rational, more flexible and more humane. For there is little youth can do about the world until we change.

The same is largely true of the "Negro" problem — which, as every open-minded person knows, is a "white" problem. All it takes to solve it is a 45-degree turn in the attitude of most white people. If that could happen, 90 per cent of racial conflict would disappear overnight.

The "poverty" problem falls in the same category. It is not a problem of the poor, for most of them did not willingly put themselves there and cannot do much about their plight. It is a problem of the more affluent finding room in our society for the less fortunate who are virtually powerless to help themselves.

Then we have the universal "war" problem, which is really a "peace" problem. As Hannah Arendt said recently, large-scale war has now become inconceivable, because it can no longer effect political change.

But nations have not found — because they have not looked for — any genuine substitute for force in international affairs, and so the concept (and the threat) of war persists in the world, hanging over us like a cloud that can deluge the entire globe, rendering "victors" and "victims" equally devastated.

We call diseases by their symptoms. Youth rebellion is a symptom of adult apathy. Black militancy is a symptom of white bigotry. Poverty is a symptom of maldistribution of income and opportunities. War is a symptom of power-driven anarchy among nations. And many people merely want to suppress the symptoms, falsely imagining that thereby they are getting rid of the disease, when they are only making it worse.

Confucius said that the good

state must begin with the right use of words — because if we call things by the wrong word, then we are blinded by our verbal delusions and cannot take realistic steps to correct the evils in society. Justice must end in deeds, but it must start with the proper use of words.

And even the word "problem" is not the right one to describe the troubles in each of these areas. They are "deficiencies," like the deficiency diseases, and must be nourished by our loving concern, or any systematic "solution" is bound to fail.

'Pink' Drink Gets Nod

SARATOGA, Calif. (AP) — Credit for picking a name for a new American wine goes to — all people — President Charles de Gaulle of France.

De Gaulle refused to allow a rose wine from California wine maker Paul Masson to be sold in France under the French-sounding name "rose," insisting that the label read just plain "Vin Pink." So recently, in searching for a catchy name for a new rose wine to be marketed in the United States, the winery decided to call it just plain "Pink."

LU Senior Looks Ahead to Study Abroad After Winning Fellowship

BY DON VORPAHL
Of Lawrence University

Recipient of a coveted fellowship in American academic circles is Howard Sell, Appleton, senior at Lawrence University. The fellowship is bestowed by the Thomas J. Watson Foundation and will enable Sell to spend a year in Europe and particularly Spain studying contemporary theater.

Another Lawrence senior, Ronald Broomell, Minocqua, is also a recipient of a Watson grant. He is a music major.

A relaxed, unsophisticated type, Sell is realistic about why he was chosen and what he expects to accomplish. He says, "I don't plan on going to Spain and publishing something after a year. Anyone who plans to do significant work in literature the year after his B.A. at Lawrence or anyplace else is silly."

Happened Just Right

But, he reflects, his proposal to the Watson Foundation was the "new kind." It had some open ends and some alternatives, and "besides, I'm 25, married and have had service experience. I was what they wanted. A year more or less and it probably wouldn't have worked out, for lots of reasons."

A relatively new organization, the Thomas J. Watson Foundation typifies the new breed of philanthropic agency which is concerned with the especially "exciting" scholar and the "imaginative" program of post-graduate independent study and travel.

Begun as a charitable trust in 1961 by Mrs. Thomas J. Watson, Sr. in memory of her husband, the founder of International Business Machines Corp., the foundation has devoted itself to a variety of educational and charitable purposes.

Travel Emphasis

Its, 1968-69 emphasis was focused on a program of foreign travel fellowships for "persons of unusual potential" whose academic records, "while certainly not irrelevant, (were not) the principal criterion" for their selection.

A Lawrence freshman in 1961, Sell had left the university early in his sophomore year. It was "one of those things," he says, where "I wanted to find myself — does that sound corny?" And he went about it, living in Queens, N.Y., and thinking about the Peace Corps "until a cockroach chased me around my apartment for about two hours. Then I decided the corps was not for me."

But the Army was for him, and after a six-month stint, Sell says he realized "how much school really meant to me." He enrolled at Brooklyn College, found it not to his liking and, in February, 1965, joined a janitorial service at the New York World's Fair.

From then through the summer of 1967, Sell's life was a series of almost superfluous incidents, with the exception of his marriage to his high school sweetheart, whom he "sort of met again" at the fair. There was a six-month sortie with a rock-and-roll band whose fees went mostly to the leader, who probably needed the money more than the rest of us. There was a return to the maintenance company, a job with a finance company, then back to the rock band.

Need for School

But, always, there was an overriding need to return to school and "eventually, it got to me I always wanted to teach. And through a set of little circumstances — a card from Prof. (John) Altieri at Christmas with a note asking when I was coming back to school, and a promise of help from Dean Kenneth Venderbush — well, in the fall of '67, I was back."

Sell calls his work at Lawrence "a pretty nice two years, considering how busy I was." He carried 10 or 11 courses per year, compared to the normal nine. "But if you want to teach, you've got to go to school, got to read I was very lucky," he adds, noting the availability of reading materials on Spanish contemporary theater, if not in the Lawrence library, then at least through teletype and other library-exchange systems.

Bought Sell's Plan

Nevertheless, he said, "You run out of gas very early here. You need to get to Spain, and the theater angle in my proposal pulled it all together — with the three-term contemporary theater independent study project I did with Altieri, it just turned out to be a neat proposal, that's all."

Obviously, it was "neat" in the mind of Robert O. Schulze, foundation executive of whom Sell said earlier, "He's like a super-intellectual interrogator — he opens you up in a minute." The Watson Foundation bought — almost literally, it seems — Sell's plan with the stipulation that "if you accept the award, you will be expected to confirm your fellowship plans with us before leaving the United States, to keep us at the foundation reasonably posted as to your whereabouts during the fellowship year, and to send us, at its conclusion, a report or analysis of your fellowship year."

To add a further dimension, the foundation noted that "at the mutual agreement of an individual fellow and the foundation, a fellowship may be renewed for a second year within a period of approximately six years after the initial

K-C Engineer Named To Fire Protection Body

Special to The Post-Crescent
NEW YORK — Gene J. Birchler, fire protection engineer for Kimberly-Clark Corp.,

Neenah, was elected to the executive committee of the Industrial Fire Protection Section of the National Fire Protection Association today at the group's annual conference here.

Organized four years ago, the industrial section is comprised of plant fire protection and prevention officers from industrial, institutional and commercial operations.

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The forceful statement of the University of Wisconsin regents in backing the continuance of voluntary military training programs in the system tied the refusal to bow to protester demands directly to state law.

"We could not drop Reserve Officer Training Corps programs if we wanted to, not only because of the Morrill Land Grant Act, but also because of the Wisconsin statutes," UW President Fred H. Harrington told his regents as they passed the resolution backing the program.

State law, as interpreted by past attorneys general, is plain in its requirement that the UW offer such a military science program, on a required or elective basis, said Harrington.

The Morrill Act of 1862 gave to states then loyal to the union land for agricultural schools, but required the teaching of such programs as one of its conditions.

Some student leaders, including the student body head of the Madison campus and the editor of The Daily Cardinal, the student newspaper, have joined in the calls arising from student activists throughout the nation for an end to the military programs.

Now Voluntary

Several years ago they ended the requirement for a compulsory two years of such training for most male undergraduates, and adopted a voluntary program with a required six weeks orientation lecture program totaling six hours for freshmen.

Student protests over the mandatory nature of that program led to its abandonment, and the decision to switch to voluntary orientation lectures during summer months as a part of the process entering freshmen follow to enroll.

Student activists are maintaining that the university campus cannot maintain any connection with the military.

you...and your First Wisconsin Charge Card.

Six major benefits. Four are free.

The other two can give you a lot of budgeting flexibility (if you want it).

The basic purpose of your First Wisconsin Charge Card is to provide you with extra shopping convenience at no extra cost.

First of all, your Charge Card is exactly what it says it is. It helps you get what you want, now, just by saying "charge it." It costs you nothing to get a Charge Card and it needn't cost you anything to use it. When you do use it, it gives you 25 days of free credit beyond your billing date. (There are circumstances when you could have as much as eight weeks before your payment is due on a purchase.)

Secondly, your card is honored at more than 13,000 Wisconsin retailers. It gives you charging convenience at many places where you wouldn't ordinarily have a charge account. You can be low on funds, but still take advantage of special bargains that you'd otherwise have to pass up.

Thirdly, your card is welcome not only in the area in which you live, but wherever you travel in Wisconsin—at a great variety of places, including gift shops, gasoline stations, restaurants, clothiers, sporting goods stores, and dry cleaners, to name a few. (And now you can apply for "Interbank" privileges, too, so your card can be used nationally.)

Fourthly, no matter how many places you use your card, you get just one monthly bill. You make out just one check for all your Charge Card purchases. It saves you a lot of time and work in keeping track of bills and payments.

Now—two valuable features that are not free, but are very useful.

One is the convenience of being able to budget your payments over the months. But even then, your cost is less than that of most "revolving" charge plans. You pay only 1% per month of your average daily balance, plus a 25¢ service fee. Your payments can be as low as $10.00 per month, or 1/20 of the amount billed, whichever is greater.

Then there's the "instant cash" feature that lets you borrow up to $250 or more on your Charge Card at over 160 Wisconsin banks. You simply let the teller know your needs, sign a receipt and walk out with money in your pocket. There's no faster way of getting money when you need it in a hurry. An initial charge of $1.00 is made for each cash advance. Then your cost is just 1% per month on the unpaid balance plus a 25¢ service fee.

Start enjoying Charge Card benefits, now. Altogether, your Charge Card brings you a lot of convenience and choice and budgeting flexibility that you can't get any other way.

If you're not already a Charge Card holder, apply now. Fill out the coupon and send it to us, or pick up an application form at any participating merchant or sponsoring bank.
